Plans advance for processing plant

BOARDMAN—The Port of Morrow Thursday was presented with "articles of an agreement to lease" by two firms who plan building a potato processing plant at Boardman.

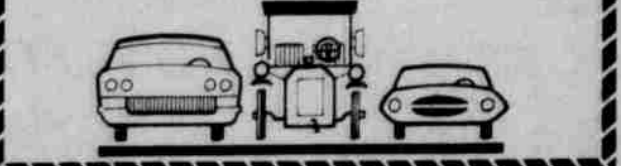

The two firms are Gourmet Food Products, Inc., of Metolius, Wn., and Techbuilt Corp. of Bellevue, Wn. The agreements were presented by the two firms on an informal basis, and for the purpose of bonding. The State of Oregon allows bonding up to $5 million, so both firms are involved because the estimated cost will be $5.4 million. The agreement, which met some opposition by Port directors, is necessary for the issuance of revenue bonds to build the facility. One of the six members voted against the agreement, one abstained and four voted aye.

Gourmet Foods and Techbuilt plan a joint venture to process potatoes next year. According to reports, some potato crops are already being contracted by the firms. The agreement is not binding until Port officials and the two companies agree on the cost and exact location of the plant. Should the agreement and the plans meet with approval of Port authorities, the plant could be ready for operation by Aug. 1, 1974.
