

MR. AND MRS. STEVE PARTLOW

Partlow-Cutsforth vows are exchanged

In a candlelight ceremony, Diana Lynn Cutsforth, daughter of Mrs. Gene Cutsforth, Lexington, became the bride of Stephen Ray Partlow, son of John Partlow, Portland, and Mrs. LaVerne Partlow, Boardman, on Nov. 24, at 4 p.m.

The ceremony was performed by Pastor Mark Johnson at Hope Lutheran Church.

The altar was decorated with cascading bouquets of deep pink and rose carnations centered in silver candelabra. Two stands of carnation bouquets and two standards with white candles and pink bows adorned the altar area. An oblong bouquet of carnations with white candles was on the organ. White candles in hurricane chimneys and sprays of rose carnations on every other pew illuminated the aisle.

The bride, escorted by her grandfather, Orville Cutsforth Sr., wore a white floor-length satin gown with an overblouse of lace and full-length lace sleeves accented with satin cuffs and rounded satin collar. Her full-length lace train attached at the empire waist, fashioned with a small satin bow. Her fingertip veil was held in place at the crown by a lace headpiece which framed her face.

The bridal bouquet was a large white orchid nestled in a background of stephanotis which rested on a white Bible, a gift from the bride's father. Her great-grandmother's handkerchief was pressed inside the Bible.

Maid of honor, Gwen Drake, wore an antique rose floor-length, sleeveless, velvet gown featuring an empire waist. Her headpiece was a rose velvet bow. She wore full-length white gloves, white shoes and carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

Bridesmaids were Valerie Boyer and Suzanne and Michele Cutsforth, cousins of the bride. Susan Martin was flower girl. The bride's attendants wore gowns of blue velvet, the same style as the maid of honor's matching accessories and bouquets.

Mike Partlow, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer. Candle lighters were Mike Orwick and Pat Baker.

John Partlow, Walla Walla, Wn., served as his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Jim, Mike and Rick Partlow, all cousins of the bridegroom. The bride's brothers, Tom, Jim and Curtis Cutsforth, were ushers.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. Paul Tews. Sandy Matheny sang "Wedding Song, There Is Love" and accompanied herself on the guitar.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Cutsforth chose a floor-length turquoise dress with silver and turquoise accessories. Mrs. Partlow, mother of the bridegroom, wore a floor-length wine dress and gold accessories. Both mothers were presented with pink orchid corsages.

The wedding reception followed at the church. The bride's table featured a four-tiered white wedding cake with pink daisies topped with wedding bells and candies at each side.

Vesta Kilkenny, aunt of the bride, poured punch and Fay Uhler, aunt of the bride, served coffee. Serving the cake were Sharon Gorman, aunt of the bride, and Susan Stanhope, sister of the bridegroom.

Attending the gift table were Kathy Bartlett, Tana Rauch and Dee Stanhope, niece of the bridegroom. Becky Doherty was at the guest table.

For her going-away ensemble, the bride chose a two-piece blue pants suit.

Upon their return from a short wedding trip, the couple will reside in the Lexington area.

lone women end a 30-day bus tour

Mrs. Van Hubbard and Mrs. Victor Rietmann returned Nov. 16 from a 30-day bus tour of Florida and the southern states.

They visited and traveled through 19 states, covering a total of 7,904 miles. There were 36 people, the bus driver, and an escort on the tour.

The two women left from Portland on Oct. 17 and traveled eastward to Boise, Little America, Denver, Dodge City, and on to St. Augustine, Fla. They spent two days in St. Augustine, three days in Miami, and two days in Nassau in the Bahamas.

A tropical rainstorm struck while they were in Nassau. It happened they were on a glass bottom tour boat and were just heading for shore, when it started to rain. Mrs. Rietmann reported that in the very short distance of about eight feet from the dock to a waiting taxi, the group was absolutely drenched.

Other areas visited in Florida were Kennedy Space Center, Key West, Treasure Island and St. Petersburg. Ringling Bros. Circus maintains a museum, Art Gallery, and the Ringling home in St. Petersburg, which proved to be a popular sight-seeing attraction to the lone women.

Mobile, Ala., was the site chosen for a bus city tour of southern homes. Some had the decorative iron lacework, and some had the stately white pillars.

New Orleans offered both daytime and evening entertainment. The tour visited four different types of variety shows. The fun and gaiety was overshadowed, however, when the tour buses were robbed. Two buses had been parked with the storage areas protected but the thieves crawled under the buses for entry. They were stripped clean of everything left in them. Mrs. Rietmann lost all the gifts and souvenirs she had accumulated from the other places visited on her trip. Fortunately, she had luggage insurance to cover the financial loss.

Near New Orleans, the tour visited a garden that featured over 2,000 varieties of camillias.

In Dallas, they drove by the place where President Kennedy was killed and viewed the memorial.

It was also in Texas, a cotton gin was observed. Mrs.

Rietmann brought back samples of cotton seeds, raw cotton, and refined cotton. Abilene, Tex., was an overnight stop for the travelers before they reached Carlsbad Caverns, N.M. The women were impressed with the size of the caves. They rode elevators down 800 feet to the floor of the caverns.

The tour backtracked to El Paso, Tex., and Juarez, Mexico, and then proceeded to Phoenix, Ariz. The next stop was Las Vegas, Nev. The group took the opportunity to see two stage shows, Jack Benny and Pearl Bailey.

A dinner was held for their escort in Carson City. It was in Carson City the travelers experienced the first snowfall of the trip. About three inches fell from the time they arrived, about 6 p.m., and the time the dinner started.

Then it was Reno, Klamath Falls and Portland. Bob Hubbard and Bill Rietmann met their mothers in Portland and brought them to Ione.

Arts and crafts event Saturday

From 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Saturday, demonstrations by county artists and crafts experts are free to those who come to the second AAUW Artefactory in the Degree of Honor Building on Main Street.

Nancy Cox Holden, a professional artist and teacher from Goldendale, Wn., will demonstrate painting from 1 until 2 p.m. She is the daughter of Mrs. Claude Cox and sister of Bill Cox.

Mrs. Holden is a graduate of Heppner High School and Oregon State University. She and her husband operate Holden's Art School and Gallery at Goldendale, Wn., and teach painting through portraiture. They expect their students to learn the basics of painting in the first four lessons.

Students at the art school come from all continents, including Africa. A unique feature of the school is there are no classes; all instruction is individual.

Other demonstrations will be leathercraft at 10:30 a.m. by Donna Peterson and Dode Krebs; Irish Knitting at 11 o'clock by Linda Riley; quilting and tying at 11:30 a.m. by Irene Swanson; candlemaking at 12:30 p.m. by Linda Johnson; and jewelry making at 2 o'clock by Mabel Heath.

These people will help viewers by answering questions about their crafts.

A variety of crafts will be for sale by other artists and organizations. The AAUW will again sell used books. During the sale, branch members will sell coffee, pie and cookies. After 3 p.m. any of the used books that have not been sold will be offered at $1 a bag full.

The first Heppner Artefactory was held last April 14 at the Heppner Hotel. It was well received, and people have asked for a repeat. The AAUW decided that a pre-Christmas date would be more helpful to gift buyers, and think they will have more and better display space this Saturday.

For many weeks the Heppner Neighborhood Center has been creating a variety of handmade gift items for this sale. The money realized from these articles will go back to the center to be used to buy materials for the continuing center program directed by Pat Brindle.

'DAWN' COMES TO THE ERLENBUSCHES

Mr. and Mrs. William Erlenbusch, Ione, are the parents of a daughter, Dawn Mabelle, born at Good Shepherd Hospital, Hermiston, Nov. 11.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Aldrich, Ione, Mr. and Mrs. John Erlenbusch, Gaston, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sorenson, Pendleton.

Great-grandparents are Mrs. Shirley Wallace, Hillsboro, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Prummer, Coos Bay.

Visitors at the home of Emma Drake during Thanksgiving weekend were Mrs. Grace Drake, Berkeley, Ca.; Tom and Susan Ferguson, Corvallis; Gwen and Rick Drake, LaGrande; and Stan Ashbrook, Dufur.

Padbergs meet for reunion

On Thanksgiving day 17 members of the Archie Padberg clan met in Hermiston to attend the annual Allistott reunion.

After spending the day visiting with friends and family, they traveled to Heppner to the Padberg residence for the weekend.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Archie Padberg Jr. and two of their children, Boring, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. John Padberg and son, Jeremy, Troutdale, Ore.; Mrs. Lary Proffitt and son, Cobel, Rapid City, S.D.;

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moore and children, Kathy and Frankie, Boring; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Springer and children, Georgia and Jeff, Hood River, Ore. Another guest was Mrs. Jeanette Padberg's mother, Mrs. E.R. Settles, Ridgefield, Wn.

Golden Age Club will meet for a potluck dinner at the Elks Club, at 6:30 p.m. on Dec. 4.

MRS. DUVALL HONORED AT THANKSGIVING LUNCHEON

Each year the Soroptimist Club has chosen to honor a woman who they feel has given much to her community.

At a pre-Thanksgiving luncheon meeting Nov. 15, Mrs. Amanda Duvall was made an honorary member of the club. She modestly asked that her many gifts to the community not be reviewed, and said that she was thankful that she was able to help in a variety of ways. The members expressed their appreciation to her for her contributions to the city.

Mrs. Alice Soward had decorated the luncheon table and had arranged an appropriate Thanksgiving program which she offered with the help of several members of the group.

Ida Farr, a charter member of the club, was a special guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Warren had as guests for Thanksgiving dinner Mrs. Grace Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ferguson, Gwen and Rick Drake, Mrs. Emma Drake, Joan and Steve Warren and Frances Hayes.

Club elects new officers

Members of the Carnation Club of the Degree of Honor recently met at the home of Mrs. Clara Gertson.

Final plans for the bazaar and food sale, Nov. 30, 10 a.m., and the silver tea were discussed. All will be held at the Degree of Honor hall.

Elected officers for 1974 are Mrs. Wilbur Steagall, president; Mrs. Ed Hunt, vice president; and Mrs. Carl King, secretary-treasurer.

The annual Christmas party, to include the revealing of secret pals and a gift exchange, will be at the hall on Dec. 18. Hostesses will be Mrs. Mary Bryant, Mrs. Oma Cox and Mrs. Ed Hunt.

CHEESE 'N' TOMATO BEEF PIE Serves 4-6

A single pound of fresh ground chuck can be stretched into a satisfying meal for six in this good pie topped with fresh tomatoes and cheese.

1/2 cup chopped green pepper	1 beaten egg
1 Tbsp. cooking oil	1/2 tsp. salt
1 lb. ground beef chuck	1/2 tsp. basil
1 (10 1/2 oz.) can cond. tomato soup	1/4 tsp. pepper
1/2 cup bread crumbs	1 unbaked 9-in. pastry shell
2 Tbsp. instant minced onion	1 large tomato
1 cup grated cheddar cheese

Cook green pepper in oil until tender. Add meat, cooking until browned. Combine with undiluted soup, bread crumbs, onion, 1/2 cup cheese, egg and seasonings. Turn into pastry shell. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 30 minutes. Remove from oven and arrange tomato, cut in wedges over top. Sprinkle with remaining 1/2 cup cheese. Return to oven and bake 3 minutes longer until cheese melts.
