

Karl Urban to lecture here

"Eastern Oregon Wildflower Heritage," a slide presentation by Karl Urban, will be offered to the public Monday, March 11, at the Heppner High School Cafetorium at 7:30 p.m.

The Heppner Garden Club is sponsoring the program, for which there is no charge.

Urban, a native of Idaho, migrated to Eastern Oregon six years ago. He received a bachelor of science degree from the University of Idaho in 1965 and continued graduate studies at the same institution, receiving a master of science degree in 1968. He has been employed as an instructor of biology and botany at Blue Mountain Community College since that time.

After spending six seasons of employment with the National Park Service among the lava flows and cinder cones of the high desert of Southern Idaho, Urban authored a book, "Common Plants of Craters of the Moon National Monument."

A second book, which he co-authored with Elizabeth Millier, "Spring Wildflowers of the Blue Mountains," was published in 1973. This book will be available at his lecture. Urban is interested in environmental problems and conservation issues. He is a backpacking enthusiast, avid jogger, amateur photographer and a skier.

He is presently spending his summer months on native plant inventories of the Wal-lowa, Blue, and Steens Moun-tains of Eastern Oregon.

Autograph party, open house set

The Book Worms Club has announced that it will sponsor a no-host luncheon at the Wagon Wheel Cafe, Saturday, March 16, for author Mildred Searcey.

Mrs. Searcey, author of a new book, "We Remember When," will be in Heppner to autograph her new book at the library open house that Satur-day. The Book Worms are holding the luncheon so that interested persons may have the opportunity to visit with Mrs. Searcey.

The luncheon will begin at noon. Anyone interested in attending is asked to make reservations with Mrs. Harold Becket no later than March 13, 676-9935.

The Heppner Branch of the Associated University Women is sponsoring the open house at the library to encourage local citizens to drop in and see what's happening at the library. Mrs. Searcey will be featured during the afternoon event.

IONE STUDENTS TO SYMPOSIUM

Four representatives from Ione High School will be attending the 5th Annual Junior Science and Humanities Symposium at Oregon State University.

The symposium will be host to more than 125 students from 35 Oregon high schools. Ione science teacher Mary C. Langston will be accompanying students Michael L. Buse, Charles B. Rosenquist and Janet R. Snowberger.

Jeanne Daly to be married here April 6

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Daly, Heppner, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jeanne Marie, Pendleton, to Michael Walter Grant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Grant, Richland, Ore.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Heppner High School, and attended Oregon State University and Blue Mountain Community College.

Grant is a graduate of Eagle Valley High, Richland, and BMCC.

The couple will be married April 6, 1974, at St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Heppner, at 2 p.m.

Diane McLachlan is engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Darrel McLachlan, Heppner, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Glenna Diane, to PFC Gordon Wayne Walsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walsh, Arlington.

Miss McLachlan is a senior at Heppner High School.

Walsh is a 1972 graduate of Arlington High School and is currently stationed at Fort Lewis, Wn.

The couple is planning a June 8 wedding at Hope Lutheran Church, Heppner.

CowBelles launch "Eat Beef" drive

The Morrow County Cow-Belles have launched a cam-paign for new members, and to educate women on good, economical use of beef this month.

Membership Chairman Mrs. Allen Hughes has issued an invitation to women on the county to join forces with the CowBelles and promote the local industry. Members are welcome who are "friends of the beef industry" as well as those who are directly asso-ciated with production.

CowBelles membership requires a limited amount of time and effort. Main event of the local group is sponsoring the Father of the Year Contest and a family barbecue honoring the winner. An annual meeting is held each fall in conjunction with the Morrow Livestock Growers, and a spring luncheon complete the year's activities.

This year a special education program, a Mini-Beef-a-Rama, is to be presented in Morrow County March 27 at the Heppner Elks Lodge at 1:30 p.m. All women of the county are invited to attend. The program will spotlight good eating and economy meals with beef. Valuable door prizes will be awarded, including a smokeless broiler, meat cuis, cook books, beef dinners for two at a restaurant, and a host of other prizes relating to the beef industry.

Mrs. Gary Grieb, CowBelle president, said, "This is the biggest event we have ever attempted, and we especially want to invite those women who are new in the area to attend."

CowBelles would like more local business women and wives of business people to become involved in the group's public relations work by joining the organization and promoting one of Morrow County's industries.

Anyone interested in more information may call Mrs. Hughes, Heppner, or Mrs. Grieb, Lexington.

COUNTRY CLUB NEEDS WOMEN!

Lady golfers of Willow Creek Country Club will organize plans for the coming year during a coffee hour Friday, March 8, 10 a.m., at the Dee Gribble home at the end of N. Main, Heppner.

"We would like to extend a special invitation to women new to our area or residents who are interested in becoming members," said Mrs. Gribble.

Candlemaking techniques demonstrated

Methods of candlemaking were explained to Mothers Club members by Linda Johnson at her home during the March 4 meeting.

Mrs. Johnson outlined techniques used in making a basic solid color candle. She gave cautions and tips for a successful product, which included careful control of wax temperature. Methods of making chunk, occasion and decorative candles were covered.

During the business meeting, members finalized plans for volunteer work at Pioneer Memorial Nursing Home. Each week four members are scheduled to do the women patients' hair during the month of March.

The club's money-making project, a bake sale prior to Mother's Day, was discussed. Details will be published at a later date.

Guests for the evening were Cathy Terney and Jean Ann Turner.

The next meeting will be April 1 and the program will be on cake decorating. Mem-bers will be notified of the details.

A Mini-Beef-a-Rama, a special educational program sponsored by the Morrow County CowBelles, will be presented March 27 at the Heppner Elks Lodge, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Art Carney for Easter Seals:

As an actor, I try to make people laugh. Easter Seal therapists make people's lives brighter in a more permanent way. They teach crippled children and adults to walk and those with speech problems to talk. Won't you help Easter Seals to help them?
