No school on Monday

The teaching staff of the Morrow County School District will be involved in a one-day curriculum improvement inservice day on Monday, April 15.

Students in all the district schools will therefore, have a one-day vacation.

The elementary teachers will meet at the Heppner Elementary School. The primary topic of the inservice work is "Perceptual Motor Skills." The session will be conducted by Mrs. Evelyn Stuart of the Reynolds School District. Sixth grade teachers will also spend some time planning and coordinating activities for the outdoor education programs to be conducted in May.

High school teachers will meet at Heppner High School to continue development of programs to meet the new graduation requirements. Subject matter area committees will meet to complete the development of program goals and to begin work on specific course goals in all subjects taught in high school.

Scott Dougherty guides his trusty steed to the finish line after completing the barrels. Scott was entered in the 6 and under age group in all four events.
