The Oregon Public Library Statistical Report from the Heppner Public Library has been compiled and sent to the State Library, and copies are also filed in the city office and the library's files.

This report covers the year which ended June 30, 1974. It lists members of the library board: Randall Peterson, chairman; Pauline Winter, secretary; Rita Wolff, Aloha DeSpain, all Heppner, and Ed Struthers, Lexington. It indicates the exact hours the library is open.

are uncatalogued paperback books.

Transactions during the year included 2,905 books circulated to adults and 1,832 circulated to juvenile readers, for a total circulation of 4,737. An increasing number of books have been obtained from the State Library for local borrowers.

Special events before June 30 included the autograph party for Mildred Searcy and the series of story hours for children held during the 1973 summer months. The report also gives a financial statement showing that the total operating expenditure of the library was $2,900 in 1973-74.

Irrigon council action

Plans for a 23-space addition to the Riverview Trailer Court were submitted to the Irrigon City Council, Sept. 10. They will go to the planning commission's next meeting, then will be returned to the council for action at a later date.

Donald Eppenbach was appointed to the planning commission to replace Perry Pummel, who resigned a month ago. Barbara Byrd, recorder, was instructed to set up a meeting date for the planning commission at which a chairman would be selected and current business conducted.

HERMAN ROBERSON DIES IN IRRIGON

Herman Roberson, 72, was found dead Tuesday morning by a neighbor at his home in Irrigon.

Mr. Roberson had been reported in poor health.

Oregon State Police and the County Medical Examiner are investigating the case.

Survivors include a son, William B. Roberson, Bothell, Wa.

The body was taken to Sweeney Mortuary.

Dorothy Irish was appointed to represent the city at both the Land Use Planning meeting at Pendleton, Sept. 18, and the Roundtable meeting in Boardman, Sept. 19.

A letter was read from the highway traffic division indicating the 50-mile speed zone from the west city limits to 13th St. would be reduced to 40 MPH except for 500 feet each side of 8th St., which would be a 20-mile zone during school hours. The city had asked for a 35-mile zone through the area.

Mayor Chester Wilson reminded the council that it's less than two months until election, when three vacancies will be filled. The terms of Mayor Wilson, Felix Friend and Dorothy Irish are expiring. Wilson and Friend will not seek re-election.

Irrigon residents who wish to be on the ballot for election to the city council will need to sign an affidavit with the city recorder, Barbara Byrd, stating that they are willing to run. A petition should then be circulated for signatures and returned 15 days prior to election, in early November.

A liquor license application renewal was approved for Clark's Tavern.
