ALFRED B. CLOUGH

Public relations man hired by PGE

Alfred B. (Bus) Clough, Arlington, has been employed as a public affairs representative for Portland General Electric Co. He will represent the company in the Gilliam and Morrow counties.

His assignments will be oriented toward solutions to growth situations occurring in connection with PGE's plans to construct up to six nuclear plants and a possible coal generating facility in the two counties.

It is expected that Clough will work with cities, counties, planning groups and the port districts in coordinating efforts in areas of housing, water and sewer services and other community needs stemming from the impact of the construction effort.

Clough is currently an Arlington City councilman. To avoid apparent or real conflicts of interest, he will not be a candidate for reelection. His term expires at the end of this year.

Employed as of Oct. 1, Clough will set up an office in Arlington. The Standard Oil Distributor in Arlington for the past 25 years, until joining PGE, Clough graduated from Arlington High and Oregon State University. A U.S. Air Force veteran of World War II he is Commander of the American Legion Post, a Mason, an ex-Scoutmaster and City Planning Commissioner. He has credits toward a masters degree from Eastern Oregon College and has been a substitute teacher in junior and senior high school. Clough and his wife Carol Anne have two sons and a daughter.

FirstLoan. It's a great housewarming idea.

There's an energy shortage. That's a fact. And that means higher heating bills in the coming months, especially if your house isn't properly winterized.

Things like proper insulation, a new roof, a modern, efficient furnace, and storm doors and windows can make a substantial difference in your heating costs.

In fact, they'll more than pay for themselves over the years with the energy they save.

And, a great way to finance all your housewarming needs is FirstLoan. FirstLoan is a simple interest consumer loan. That means you save on interest every time you make an early payment. In fact, you can pay off the entire loan ahead of schedule and really save money.

On the other hand, if you make a late payment, there's no penalty charge. You simply pay a little more interest for holding the money longer. And we'll always make sure you know exactly where you stand, with detailed monthly statements.

FirstLoan. It's a better way to borrow money. And it's available at every branch of First National Bank of Oregon.
