

Classified

Save money . . . Pay cash!

Billing for small classified ads is expensive. Effective Nov. 1, therefore, classified ads will be on a cash in advance basis, unless customer has a regular commercial account with the Gazette-Times. If so, classifieds will be billed monthly. The alternative is to raise the rates to cover rising costs. Rates remain $1 for the first three lines of ad copy; 50¢ per line for each line thereafter. Display classified advertising, $1.35 per column inch. Cards of Thanks, classified rate, min. $1.50. Deadline, Tuesday noon. Not responsible for errors not reported within 7 days.

Business good

better than in 1973. One item went especially well. "We sold more micro-wave ovens in December '74 than we have sold in all our previous years."

A sampling of auto-related business found Cal Sherman of Cal's Arco saying his business was about the same. At Heppner Auto Parts, Aloha DeSpain, pointed out that people tend to repair autos quite regularly. Christmas season doesn't particularly affect their business, which they know has been better this year than in previous years. She wonders if it will be as good in 1975. At Farley Motor Co., Jim Farley finds "Things are about the same as last year."

Two food services found business holding well. Wayne Harris of the R. and W. Drive-In notes that his customers seem younger this year, and he believes that the population includes more younger families than it did last year. Olivia Palmer at the Wagon Wheel says business there is good. She points out that they are staying closed on Sundays except during hunting and rodeo weekends so that their help can spend the day with their families.

At Heppner's biggest employer, Kinzua Corporation, Office Manager Nona Sowell said, "The least said about comparisons the better." She pointed out that the mill was not in the plywood business in 1973. When asked about the possibility of the plant going to three shifts she quoted from Allen Nistad's article in the December issue of the Kinzua Log, a company house organ, in which he states that Kinzua would like to return to three shifts "as soon as market conditions permit and employees are available."

The office staff will be moving into the enlarged new office soon—only some telephone installation work and final sewer work remains to be completed.
Cattle producers and feeders, by contrast with other businesses, are losing more than $100 per head on every market ready animal they

DR. RANDY LORENZE

Doctor looks over the area

The third doctor to be interested in serving in the National Health Service Corps visited Morrow, Gilliam and Wheeler counties Thursday and Friday.

Dr. Randy Lorenze, now serving his internship in the Los Angeles area, has expressed interest in returning to his native state of Oregon to begin practicing medicine on July 1, 1975. He told members of the Doctors' Search Committee that he was looking at the tri-county medical set-up which is to be centered in Heppner and at Elgin. He expressed interest in the tri-county set-up as a challenging situation in which to work.

Dr. Lorenze studied at the University of Oregon Medical School, along with Dr. Chris Eidal, another doctor who has visited this area. Dr. Lorenze grew up in the Eugene area. Because of his interest in hunting, fishing and winter sports, he is quite familiar with Eastern Oregon. He is unmarried.
Dr. Lorenze told members of the committee that he felt certain that two doctors would be coming to the Heppner area under the Corps. In late November, Dr. Stan Bezek, studying in Denver, visited here. A fourth doctor will be coming in early January. He is also interested in the National Health Service Corps.
A nurse practitioner, Anne Laborde, studying at the University of Washington in Seattle, visited the tri-county area in mid-December.

sell. The industry needs at least 52 cents per pound on a market ready 1,000 pound steer to break even. As of Dec. 27 they were receiving 39 cents per pound for a dollar loss of $130 per animal.

"By simple arithmetic it is obvious that the beef cattle industry cannot continue in business with these type of losses. During the past 12 months, cattle producers and feeders in the United States have lost more than $20 billion," said Ernie Davis, president of the 3500-member Oregon Cattlemen's Association.

While beef prices have been cut in half to the producers, there has been little of that reduced cost passed on to the consumer in the markets. This
