aunts, Mrs. Alvin Wagenblast and Mrs. George Kruger, Lexington, Mrs. Steve Wagenblast, Mrs. Bob Stickney, Lexington, Mrs. Pete Cannon and Mrs. Ed Bristow, Ione.

ARCHEOLOGY PICTURES TO BE SHOWN FEB. 17

Lexington Grange will meet Monday evening, Feb. 17, for a potluck dinner at 6:30 p.m.

There will be a program at 7:30 p.m. of archaeology pictures taken of the Owyhee Basin Dig. These will be shown by Mel Boyer.

All interested persons are invited to attend the program.

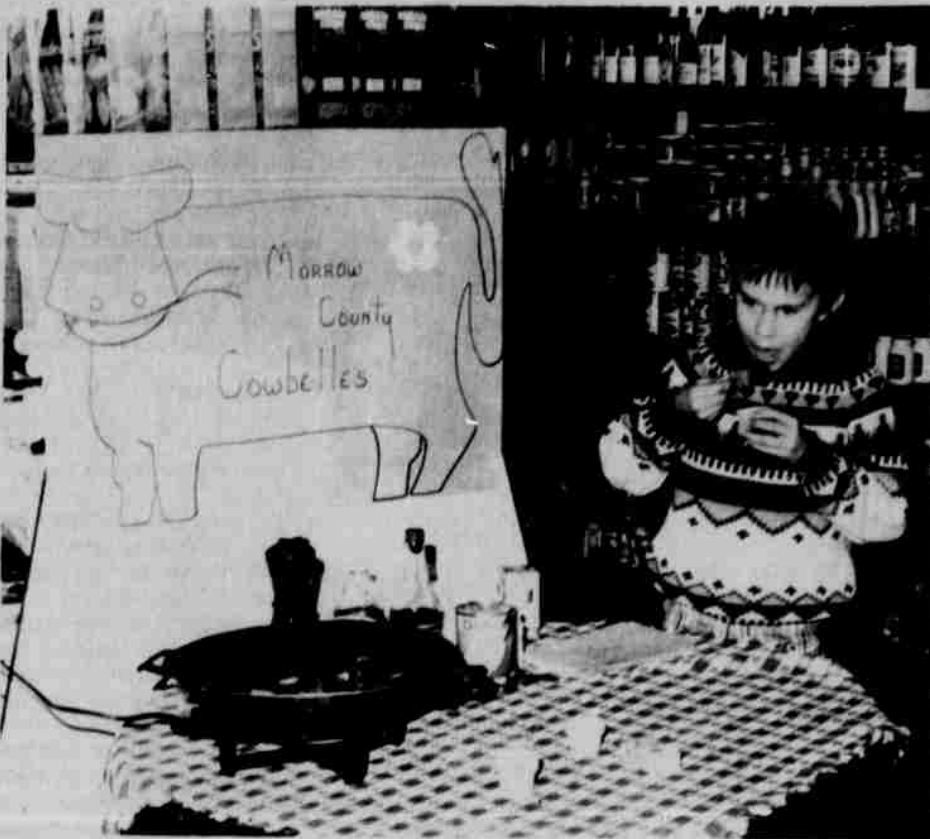

INTER-AGENCY MEETING CANCELLED—WEATHER

There will be no inter-agency meeting this month because of the weather and road conditions.

The next regular meeting will be March 11 at the county office, Irrigon. The agenda for the March meeting will be a senior citizen topic. Those who have a topic to be listed on the March agenda should contact Birdine Tullis, 676-9642.

O'CONNOR FRIENDS ARE INVITED TO RECEPTION

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Connor and children invite their friends to enjoy their 50th wedding anniversary reception to be held Feb. 16, 2 to 4 p.m., at the Elks dining room. The honor guests request no gifts.

KIRBY ROGERS samples some of the CowBelles cooking. This particular dish was meatballs cooked with pineapple. The CowBelles are promoting the sale of beef and will have another food demonstration Friday, Feb. 21, at Central Market.

Meat cookery tips offered again

Those who missed the CowBelles demonstration of economy cookery at the Court Street Market last week will have another chance to sample and learn about economical, good eating with beef when the CowBelles invade Central Market, Feb. 21, to share more ideas and know-how.

They will be serving samples of "finger steak" that day between 3 and 5:30 p.m. Many recipes and other information will be available free at that time. "It's a fact, beef is a better buy today than it was 20 years ago," according to Birdine Tullis. "In 1950 one hour labor or wages would buy 1.8 pounds of beef. In 1974, an hour's wage buys 3.2 pounds of beef. There are many ways of providing families with needed protein by utilizing less costly cuts of meat. Morrow County CowBelles encourage all homemakers to learn more about beef."

What's in handwriting?

Dear Mrs. McNair,
I am a member of a chapter E.S.U. and I would would consider being a guest at our March meeting. E.S.

By MARGARET McNAIR
Graphoanalyst

Warmly demonstrative of your own feelings and cordial toward your fellow man, you like to act as quickly as the thought or mood affects you. Your expressive feelings are controlled by conservatism, caution, self-consciousness, pride and self-criticism coupled with fear of other's criticism.

Forgive or ignore what other people might think of your plans or your person. Almost all of us have to learn to live our lives free from fear of criticism. Do not let your imagination enlarge upon either real or fancied hurts. Go easier on yourself, too. You set high standards for yourself, probably never quite coming up to them, so you measure yourself critically and unfavorably. This causes annoyance directed toward yourself and also explains why you procrastinate or delay action. Further tension results because the urge to be engaged in worthwhile activities is strong within you yet it is being blocked temporarily.

You have the "try, try again" quality of persistence. This helps you to finish what you start because you carry on despite all opposition, until you reach your goal. You like to initiate new methods of doing old routines efficiently, without any waste of time and energy.

Determination reinforces your decision to complete your projects, on time, and to do them well. You will respond and do better with appreciation and approval.

A generous person, you are willing to lend a helping hand to others. You understand people, oftentimes without having to be told anything from them—this is intuition, one of the signs of talent.

Selected questions about handwriting will be answered. Write to Margaret McNair, the Gazette-Times, Box 337, Heppner, Ore., 97836.

Women to visit legislature

Morrow County women may now pre-register for a trip to Salem, March 20, to visit the Oregon Legislature in session, according to Birdine Tullis, Extension program assistant. Plans are well under way, with a bus chartered to take those interested and arrangements made for the women to meet with the governor.

Sen. Ken Jernstedt has made arrangements for the Morrow women to meet with him and have lunch in the Blue Room in the Capitol building, visit both the House of Representatives and Senate in session, sit in on committee hearings, and tour the Capitol building. Gov. Robert Straub's secretary has called to confirm the meeting with the governor.

The bus will leave Heppner and make stops at Lexington, Ione and Arlington to pick up women registered for the tour.

Round trip transportation cost will be $12 per person, with luncheon and dinner costs paid by individuals. It is proposed that a dinner stop be made at Victoria Station, a popular Portland restaurant, on the return trip.

"Two years ago, Morrow County women visited the legislature as an educational event sponsored by Extension Service. They have been talking about this trip and requesting a second look ever since," said Mrs. Tullis. "All women are welcome to come along. If more than one bus is needed, we will charter a second."

Pre-registration may be sent to Morrow County Extension Office, Box 397, Heppner, 97836. The transportation fee may be included with the registration. Final date to register for the trip is March 5.

Old books on sale at library

An assortment of old books, many of them published before 1900, will go on sale Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Heppner Library. These books were gifts to the library from Heppner people, including the Gillian, Cohn and Jones families.

Included are such collector's items as two Horatio Alger "success stories," a group of old Rover Boy books, and quite a few sentimental, old-fashioned gift books. These could be appropriate and timely Valentines.

The old books are valuable because they are rarely found for sale today. Some have unusual illustrations. A selection of aging magazines will also be offered buyers. These are not nearly as old as the books, but are all now out of print.

The books will be sold during library hours Thursday evening, on Saturday and Sunday between 2 and 4 p.m., and next week Wednesday and Thursday, Monday, Feb. 17, the library will not open as city and county departments are observing Presidents Day.

Mark Tullis, Ione, a diesel technology student at Blue Mountain Community College, will be listed in the 1975 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges. He was selected on the basis of scholastic standing, citizenship, participation in campus and community affairs and promise of future usefulness.
