

Irrigon

Boy Scouts are honored

Trooper Dick Harp of the Oregon State Police spoke to 70 Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts and their parents at the Blue and Gold Banquet, Feb. 28, at the Lions Club in Irrigon.

Harp warned of the effects of drugs on the habitual user, stating that people who use drugs become irresponsible and usually cannot hold a job. They are not good citizens who live up to the high ideals of the scout.

The Boy Scouts were re-organized in Irrigon last fall with Glen Greer as Scoutmaster and Larry Sinar, assistant. Tony Osborne is Cubmaster, Glenna Greer is den and Webele leader and Ilene Osborne is a den mother.

The scout awards program was under the direction of Scouts Rusty Corriell and Ralph Green, with an occasional assist from Scoutmaster Greer.

Cubs receiving Bobcat badges were: Brett Hastings, Robert Osborne, Elmer McFall, Erick Hixson, Ernest Borne, Joe Parker, Larry Carroll and Junior Garza.

Cubs receiving Wolf badges: Robert Osborne and Brett Hastings. Robert Osborne also received a gold and a silver arrow.

Webeles receiving Bobcat badges: Lonny Renaman and Robby Radabah. Webeles awards went to Lonny Renaman for scholar and athlete. The highest award in Cub Scouts, the Arrow of Light, went to Charles Stacy.

The Boy Scouts merit badges were given to 7 boys for many different types of accomplishments.

Those promoted to Tenderfoot included: Scott Adams, Eugene Stacy and Eldon Reneman: First Class, Darin Coriell; Star, Gene McKee; 1-year perfect attendance pins, Darin Coriell and Gene McKee; 3-year perfect attendance bars, Rusty Corriell and Ralph Greer.

Banquet committee members were: chairman, Glenna Greer; Lloyd Parker, C.A. Denton, Tony Osborne, Ilene Osborne, Glen Greer and Larry Sinar.

The first joint meeting of the city council, planning commission and citizens committee was held Thursday at the county hearing room in the Park Drive Inn.

Morrow County Planner David Moon was present to brief the group on goals and guidelines for land use planning. The Oregon Land Conservation and Development Commission, which established the program, is requiring that these 14 points be incorporated in local comprehensive plans.

Since there were but few copies of the 1964 Irrigon planning study available, it was thought best that all the group be supplied copies before another meeting is called. Mrs. Johnson volunteered to reproduce these.

Only a part of the 10 members for the Citizens Involvement Committee has been named. A time for volunteers is being allowed. Because of pressure for additional housing in the area it is expected that some zone changes will be necessary to meet the need as the planning progresses.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stephens attended a birthday party for Mrs. Stephens' brother, Dewey West Sr. of Woodburn. Six other members of his immediate family were present, whose birthdays occurred recently. They were also honored. The family gathering was held at the home of Dewey West Jr. in Boardman, Saturday evening, March 1. This is an annual event for relatives and friends to get together.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Wilson are at home for a short while from Fairbanks, Alaska.

The Young people of the Assembly of God spent a day in the snow Saturday at Immigrant Springs, accompanied by Pastor Robert Schmoll.

STUDY GROUP MEETS NEXT WEDNESDAY

The Bible study group of the United Methodist Church did not meet this week because most of its participants were involved in the United Methodist Women's meeting last night.

Next Wednesday evening, March 12, the pre-Lenten study will resume in the home of Alma Green on Fairview Way. Rev. Edwin Cutting is leading these Bible students through the examination of the life and times of the prophet Jonah. This year's textbook is a 1974 publication by William M. Pickard, "Rather Die than Live."

Lexington

The by-laws committee of Morrow County Historical Society met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Nelson, March 3. This was a second meeting called to finish the by-laws. They will be presented to the board of directors on March 31.

Plans were made for the annual meeting in October.

At the present time, committees for the society are listed as follows: historical, museum, membership, projects, genealogical and by-laws.

Anyone who pays dues between now and the annual meeting in October will be considered a charter member. Attending the meeting were Dennis Doherty, Don Gilliam, Rachel Harnett, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Becket, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson.

Refreshments were served. Mrs. Venice Hendrickson has returned to her home after a months stay in Portland with relatives.

Past Noble Grands of Holly Rebekah Lodge No. 139 met at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Palmer, March 3, for a luncheon and meeting. Plans were made to entertain neighboring noble grand clubs later in the year. Attending were Ruth Robison, Florence McMillan, Frieda Majeske, Leta Messenger, Catie Padberg, Delpha Jones and the hostess, Leila Palmer. Door prize was won by Delpha Jones.

Bristow contest winner

Don Bristow, Ione, was winner of last week's Mystery Person contest. He correctly identified Gene Rietmann and got the correct number of clues to win $27.50.

Last week's clues: pick a color (he mixes paint); Mack the Knife (he's a musician; one of his favorite tunes); clan (referred to as the Rietmann Clan); music maker (he and his wife are musicians); AB (advisory board, Ione school); Fred MacMurray TV Show (My Three Sons).

This week's Mystery Person winner stands to win $27.50.
