

Local board meets with Umatilla Co. librarian

Six of the seven-member Heppner Library Board were present Thursday when Umatilla County Librarian John Switzer, Pendleton, met with them.

Discussion centered about library operation and growth. He clarified several matters such as the cost of affiliation with the state library.

Switzer affirmed that there is no cost for state library service except that each borrower from the state library is expected to pay the return postage on books. The state library is a tax-supported institution and county and city libraries may help their patrons avail themselves of its service.

The matter of library service for the growing population in the north county is a real concern. The libraries at Umatilla and at Hermiston charge out-of-county residents fees when they ask for service. It is expected that when the population requests service in Morrow County, definite planning must take place. Morrow County now has a professional planner, David Moon and a functioning planning commission headed by Dorris Graves.

Michael Anderson, a representative of the Lions Club, sat in for part of the board meeting. The Lions Club and the Heppner Branch of American Association of University Women are soon to cooperate in preparing the Children's Room at the library.

The library board meets regularly the fourth Thursday evening of the school-year months. These meetings are open to the public.
