A pocket-size, visual reference for practical identification of Pacific Northwest gemstones has just been published as an OMSI PRESS Guide by the Oregon Museum of Science and Industry.

The guide, "Oregon Underfoot", contains more than 150 color plates illustrating samples that were selected on the basis of being typical of a given variety. It also reflects the experience of many well known collector who, as a group, represent several hundred years of rockhounding.

A state map shows regions where various types of gemstones are most likely to be found. Some areas are private mineral claims and are open for "pay to dig" purposes; other land is maintained by individuals or organizations and some areas are managed by government agencies with limits on material to be taken.

Sara E. Mc Namer dies at convalescent center

Sara E. Mc Namer passed away in a Portland convalescent center April 14.

Graveside services and burial were in the Mc Namer lot at Forest View Cemetery in Forest Grove, Oregon.

She was the widow of C.W. (Con) Mc Namer, the youngest son of the well known pioneer family who held a 320 acre donation land claim at Greenville, six miles north of Forest Grove.

Sara Elizabeth Rodgers was born in Sonoma County, Ca., January 15, 1887. She was raised on a mountain ranch in Walla Walla County, Wa., where she attended the local schools and was graduated from Washington State College at Pullman.

While teaching at the Reeber school on the Wilson river she met Mr. Mc Namer. They were married at Walla Walla on July 24, 1916. They made their home for six years in Ione, where Mr. Mc Namer owned a meat market and was in the sheep and cattle business. They moved to Heppner in 1922 where he owned and operated the Central Market and Grocery until his death in 1944. Mrs. Mc Namer ran the business until she retired in 1955.

She was a charter member of the Willamette View Manor, a retirement home in Portland. She resided there twenty years until failing health forced her into the Willamette Methodist Convalescence Center.

The burial service was read by Fr. L. Franklin Eversen, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, whom she had known since his birth in Heppner.

Mrs. Mc Namer was always interested in her church, and the educational and civic affairs of her community. She was a past matron of the Locust Chapter, No. 119 of Eastern Star.

She is survived by a brother, Richard Rodgers, Independence, Kansas, and several nephews and nieces.

Alpha Theta Chapter has successful first year

Alpha Theta Chapter of E.S.A. has passed its first year as a new chapter with flying colors. Only six members strong, it has one new pledge.

Epsilon Sigma Alpha was started by Adelia Prichard in 1929, as a philanthropic, educational and social sorority. It now boasts 30,000 members and 1700 chapters world-wide.

Alpha Theta's philanthropic project for the year was a community calendar sale. This was the first time they had been sold here, and it was quite successful. It will be an annual event, so it is hoped to be even more successful in the future. From the sales, $70 was donated to the local 4-H to pay for two partial scholarships for summer school. Donated for Christmas baskets at the Neighborhood Center, were one case of stew, two cases of soup, and two crates of oranges. A $100 check was presented to the hospital for use in the Anesthesiology Department. Also $62.75 was donated on listings on the community calendar.

Members helped with the Red Cross Bike Ride last Spring, the Cancer Drive, and at the Neighborhood Center with crafts. Installation of next year's officers will be combined with Beta Omega Chapter of Ione, at Ione, May 7.

International Convention will be held in Portland, July 9-13.

If you are interested in what you can do for E.S.A. or what E.S.A. can do for you, contact Rita Harris, or any member.

FINISH-IT-YOURSELF PEOPLE, AND THE HOUSES THEY BUILT.

"We saved at least $15,000 on our new home." Mrs. Bernice Yoachum, Ogdon, Utah

"These days you're not likely to find a $50,000 house selling for $35,000. But that's what we've got. This Finish-It-Yourself house idea is the only way we could afford the home we wanted. They sent us the materials, they put it up and then we did all the finishing. Friends helped, and some of the boys from my husband's football team. Now that it's done, I just love it."

"We got twice the house for the money." Mike Lockname, Nampa, Ida.

"We took a Capp plan and revised it to fit the Bucks." Mel Buck, Aberdeen, S. D.

"We opened it up, took out walls in the living and dining area. We like it, and a lot of people comment on it. Though I'm not in the business, as Director of Vocational Education, I'm very familiar with house building—I bought a Capp Home because I could not buy lumber to equal theirs."

"It's fantastic...and the quality's better than anything else around here. We'd never done anything like this before, but we figured the more of the finishing work we did, the more money we'd save. We learned as we went. Sure, we had some problems, but our Capp rep came right over and worked it out. Now I've got a home worth $10,000 more than we paid for it. And I like the reward of doing it yourself."

LIMITED TIME OFFER. NOW SAVE UP TO $1,500 MORE!

Capp Homes announces a major price reduction. Don't miss this double savings opportunity — this special price reduction is for a limited time only. You must act now to save up to $1,500 more.
