Explosion injures three

Three Kinzua Corporation employees were injured just before noon Thursday when a vaporizer burner exploded.

Taken to Pioneer Memorial Hospital were Jerry Jones, Cecil Kostman and Allen Crane. The three men were suffering from second degree burns on the exposed parts of their arms, hands and face.

According to reports the men were working on the gas regulator for the plywood dryer. They had turned off the gas but accumulated fumes exploded.

The shift of workers in the veneer drying plant were sent home and the second shift of workers were notified not to report to work.

Operations resumed Friday morning after repairs were completed late Thursday.

As of Tuesday, Allen Crane had been released from the hospital.

94 county businesses, official survey shows

Morrow County appears to be a good place to have a business, judging from the number of them in operation in the local area.

According to the latest government figures, just released, there are more business establishments locally than in many communities of similar size.

The facts and figures are contained in a report issued by the U.S. Census Bureau covering every county in the country. It gives details on local industries, on the number of people they employ and on the size of their payrolls.

The data was compiled principally from tax reports submitted by employers last year to the Social Security Administration.

For Morrow County, the survey shows a total of 94 businesses that employ one or more people. This is exclusive of self-operated enterprises that have no employees.

Of this total, 53 have from 1 to 3 persons on their payrolls, 25 have from 4 to 7 and 12 from 8 to 19.

As in most sections of the nation, small and moderate size firms predominate in the local area. For the most part, they have been holding their own despite the competition from big business.

Some 96 per cent of them have fewer than 20 employees, the figures show. Elsewhere throughout the country, the average is 84 per cent.

The report shows that Morrow County's commercial establishments provided gainful employment in the year for 605 men and women in jobs covered by Social Security.

Not included were self-employed people, farm workers, government employees, domestic workers and members of the armed forces.

Wages and salaries for the local work force have been rising steadily, bringing payrolls to a total of $3,916,000.

Two years earlier, when a similar study was made, it was $2,386,000.

Nationwide, many businesses are under a strain these days. They are caught between inflation on the one hand and recession on the other. Mounting unemployment and a general uneasiness over the state of the economy have cut deeply into their sales volume.

It has resulted in a number of shutdowns. Some 17,000 retail outlets closed their doors in the past year, according to Audits and Surveys, a marketing research organization.
