Over The Tee Cup

By R & L.

We're finally convinced that spring has arrived and it's time to get out our golf clubs and the Tee Cup. Many people who are not such "fair-weather" golfers as this reporter have already enjoyed many rounds at the Willow Creek Country Club course. It is beginning to look great, thanks to some hard-working club members and a Boy Scout who is painting some of the benches.

We have a Golden Tee to award already—to Eddie Gunderson, who made a hole-in-one on number 4 last week. What a way to begin a year!

Please get your dues to Conley Lanham, if you haven't done so already. The dues, unchanged from last year, are: $60 for a family membership, $48 for a single adult membership, $24 for a student membership, and $12 for an "out-of-county" membership. For those of you who have never golfed before there is a 30-day trial membership for only $5. That's a bargain!

Ed Hiemstra and his shop class have been hard at work on a new locker building at the course. If you're interested in reserving a locker, contact Dennis Martin or Francis Doherty soon. A double locker rents for $7; a single costs $4.

Committee chairmen have been busy planning events; it promises to be a full summer for the golf lover. Men's Sunday play is underway; tee-off time is 9 a.m. for this weekly 18-hole event. New this year is a men's 9-hole, two-man twilight league on Thursdays at 6 p.m. Schedules for both these events will be sent to all members soon. If you haven't signed up for twilight league yet, be sure to attend tonight, and the schedule-makers will try to find a partner for you.

Ladies' Tuesday play is officially underway, although the weather hasn't been too cooperative. The morning group will start play at 9:30 until school is out, with a sack lunch planned for the first Tuesday of each month. Your working girls might be interested in the evening group with its 4:30 tee-off time. We're all invited to golf with the Echo ladies on May 22, with coffee at 8:30 and golf at 9:00. Do attend if you can. These visitations are fun.

A special event at home this month is the Morrow County Faculty tournament on May 31.

The first barbeque will be June 14. We'll have more details on that later. Keep your June calendar open; there are a number of visitations scheduled, both at home and away. Everyone should be golfing better by the end of this month!

A final and very important, note on a not-so-exciting subject—housekeeping. Our clubhouse is for all of us to use and enjoy, which also means it is for all of us to keep in the best shape possible. The golf team has started us out right by doing a lot of necessary cleaning (and a big thanks to all of you involved in that project), now it's up to us to keep things in order. Grab a broom when you see the need, don't be afraid to empty the garbage or vacuum the rug or scrub a sink, OK? I know the ladies hear me—fellas, do you?

Walkathon at Monument

Grant County residents in the north end of the county are busy making plans and seeking sponsors and participants for their Walkathon to be held May 31.

The Walkathon will start at Long Creek and finish at Monument, a distance of 21 miles, although no one is required to walk any further than they are able.

Sponsors will pay $1 per mile for each contestant they sponsor.

The sheriff will patrol the road and there will be people stationed along the way with refreshments and rest-room facilities.

Following the Walkathon there will be a ham dinner at Monument. To close the day with a musical note the Old Time Fiddlers Association is sponsoring a dance at Hardman that night.

All proceeds from the activities will go to meet matching Federal funds to obtain a new northside ambulance. This will be a four-wheel drive ambulance, fully equipped.

The present ambulance is well equipped but unable to cope with area roads, especially in the winter months. A total of six to eight thousand dollars is needed to match the Federal funds as the total cost of the ambulance will be between twelve and sixteen thousand dollars.

More information may be obtained by calling Alice Kilby, Monument; 932-2655, or the Johnson Grocery, Long Creek; 421-3398.

Paperweight display now at museum

The two small display cases at the library, now hold unusual glass paperweights. These colorful art objects have been collected by Amanda Duvall for years. Many were gifts to her from friends and family. She has let them be displayed so that everyone might enjoy her collection.

Most of the paperweights are heavy glass with bright flowers inclosed in the center. Several are fish shape and several have birds on top of them. A few newer ones are plastic. They have come from many parts of the world.

Bookworms hear Alaskan story

Over 20 years ago Martha Martin spent a winter alone in Alaska in a cabin along the rugged, forested coast. Her husband was missing, or dead. Her right arm was broken, one leg was useless and she was awaiting the birth of a child.

The introductory lines of her diary-type story of her experient state, "I can hardly write, but I must for two reasons. First, I am afraid I may never live to tell my story and second, I must do something to keep my sanity. I must order my mind, make myself think clearly. How can I better do this than by recording all that has happened, and all that may happen until I am released one way or another?"

Madge Thomson selected this story to review for the Bookworms at their second March meeting at the home of Marian Brosnan.

The story begins as the Martins were preparing to leave their isolated cabin for the winter. Don Martin took their outboard on a short errand. Martha hiked up the canyon trail for a final visit to their mine. A sudden storm broke. Martha was caught in a landslide, flung into the canyon and badly injured. Her husband failed to return from the sea.

Valiant Martha tended her injuries and prayed for and despaired of her husband's return and her own rescue.

She prepared for childbirth and delivered her child and sustained the two of them with her determination to live and her deep trust that God would help.

The reader of this account will come to know the desolate white world in which it is set and to appreciate how important the wildlife was to this courageous woman.

Mrs. Thomson pointed out the story is true, although almost unbelievable to most persons today. It is told with simplicity and directness.

Parts of this book first appeared in The Ladies Home Journal. The book is a McMillan Co. publication, copyright 1953. It is available at the Heppner Public Library.
