July 4 was a quiet day in Irrigon with many families gathering at the Park on the Columbia River to picnic. The cool water was appreciated when temperatures soared to 100 degrees. Water skiing, boating and swimming was enjoyed by many.

Ernest Stephens celebrated his 86th birthday on June 24. His sons and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Stephens of Umatilla and Mr. and Mrs. Curtiss Stephens of Conney Lane, Hermiston, were here to share the birthday cake.

The Stephens garden is beautiful most any time of the year, and is always well kept. It produces flowers, fruits and vegetables that are often shared with the neighbors.

Cecil Rock Sr. 88 years old, lives in Irrigon with his son and family Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Rock. The family came to Irrigon about a year ago to live next door to a brother Cecil Rock Jr. Since that time the family has developed a beautiful old English type garden, designed by Mr. Rock Sr. He once gardened for wealthy people in old England before coming to the United States.

Flowers in the garden include lobelia, sweet william, roses, snapdragon, begonias and many others.

Drug claim checks now being mailed

Attorney General Lee Johnson announced that checks totaling $1,038,428 have been mailed to 58,198 Oregonians who filed refund claim forms in the recent antitrust settlement with five major drug manufacturers. These payments amount to the claimants proportionate share of the entire settlement.

Johnson stated: "The checks to almost 60,000 Oregonians represent the conclusion of a landmark antitrust case. This is the first time that damage payments have been made to an immense consumer class. The case stands as a precedent that large class actions are manageable and that a successful program can be implemented for repaying consumers for damages suffered.

"Some claimants may have anticipated recovering the entire purchase price. This was never contemplated. The case involved the alleged overcharge for broad spectrum antibiotics that was imposed on the consumer as a result of a price fixing conspiracy. Damages were based on the amount of the overcharge rather than the entire purchase price."

Settlement and payment of the claims has been handled through the office of Judge Miles Lord, District Court in Minneapolis.

There were 61,683 claims filed by Oregonians, and 3,485 were rejected. There were six refunds paid to individuals in Oregon that exceeded $500. The largest single refund was for $1,125.

In the six states that were a party to the settlement, California, Washington, Utah, Kansas, Hawaii and Oregon, 885,000 refunds were made totaling $20,046,225.

Collins building sold to Woodworkers Union

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Collins announced the sale of their building to the International Woodworkers of America, local 3-312.

The Collins' built the building occupied by the cleaning business in 1949-50. In 1952 they added the portion now used by the Woodworkers and Mr. Abrams.

The cleaning business will be closed and the Collins plan to retire after being in the business here since May of 1947. They purchased the cleaning business in 1947 which was located in a frame building located where Central Market now has a parking lot. They will continue to make their home here in Heppner.

The Woodworkers Union will use the area now occupied by the cleaning establishment. This will give more area for their meetings. The area they presently use will be leased. The law office of Mr. Abrams will remain where it is.
