New coin used at ball games

There is a new twist to that coin you see being flipped before most college football games this fall. In fact, officials could be asking team captains if they want Paul Revere or the Minutemen, instead of heads or tails.

The coin used is likely to be the official 1975 Bicentennial commemorative medal, thanks to the efforts of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) and a donation from the International Paper Company of New York.

The medal commemorates the famous ride of Paul Revere and depicts the Minuteman Statue on Lexington Common as a tribute to the small band of volunteers who "fired the shot heard round the world."

The NCAA, a member of the National Bicentennial Sports Alliance (NBSA), is encouraging all member schools to use the medal to call attention to its availability. International Paper is picking up the cost of providing the medals to the schools.

The medal is issued by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration (ARBA) and is produced by the United States Mint. The ARBA also sponsors the NBSA as a means of stimulating and encouraging participation in the Bicentennial.

Loan Officer David Dollarhide discussing the cost-saving advantages of storm doors and windows at Pettyjohn's Building Supply.

FirstLoan. It's a great housewarming idea.

Saving energy is something we're all concerned about, especially as colder weather approaches. But, by properly winterizing your home now, you can make the efficient use of energy return a tremendous savings.

Proper insulation, storm doors and windows, caulking, weatherstripping, a new roof and a modern furnace are just several housewarming ideas that can make a substantial difference in your heating costs. In fact, with the energy they save, these improvements will pay for themselves over the years, while adding value and comfort to your home now.

Just as important, First National Bank can show you an efficient way to finance these housewarming needs. It's called FirstLoan. A simple interest consumer loan, FirstLoan can return a savings on interest every time you make an early payment. If you pay off the entire loan ahead of schedule, you can really save money.

Late payments, on the other hand, do not incur a penalty fee with FirstLoan. Instead, you pay only slightly more interest for holding the money longer.

And to make certain your records are always up-to-date, we'll send you detailed monthly statements.

FirstLoan. Anyway you look at it, it's a better way to borrow money. And it's available at every branch of First National Bank of Oregon.

We'd like to get to know you.
