

Party

By Dorothy Zita

Most of you, by now, have heard the whirling sounds of helicopter blades. Some of the residents thought the sounds were big-wig Elks officers arriving for the Heppner Elk's 80th Annual, only to find out that Dr. Carpenter has traded in his plane for a helicopter.

Lucille Gunderson, Wilsonville, and Ray Massey, Heppner, were married in Reno, NV, January 22. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Massey are visiting Eddie and Beverly Gunderson before returning to their home in Wilsonville.

We received through the mail last week a large manila envelope from the Bureau of Internal Revenue. Shutter! except it was addressed to the News Editor. On opening the envelope, it was empty; we shook it, turned it upside down and shook again. Nothing! At this time of year we can all say "No news is good news."

Leonard Munkers, employed by the Morrow County School District is retiring from his positions of district school carpenter, bus driver and custodian to take up farming. This week is supposed to be his last week. After 22 years of continuous employment for the schools and becoming a life-time friend of the students who have grown up while Leonard was a public figure, he will be missed by all.

Weekend visitors at the John Mollabans were John's brother and wife, Bob and Barbara, Milton-Freewater, and their sons, Pat and Lurinda, Cathy and Mike and their daughter Michelle. Pat and Mike were initiated into the Elks Lodge Saturday afternoon.

Sara Adkins called to remind us, the Golden Age Club will hold their potluck dinner Tuesday, March 2, at the Elks Lodge at 6:30.

Line

Let's not forget Frank Hamlin's 80th birthday party to be held at the Elks Lodge Saturday evening, February 28. This will be a potluck dinner with the meat and rolls furnished. All of Frank and Hazel's friends are invited, so will see you there at 7 p.m. to help Frank blow out all those candles.

See... beautifully dressed women Saturday night at the Elks Annual... Judy Wright's new fabric shop... the Tom Hiatts moving from Sand Hollow to Chase St., Heppner... golfers on the links... concerned citizens trying to solve the dog problems. Not many citizens filing for county offices... and you know who is back in town... about 2,000 books titled "Homestead and Heritages" by Giles French at the Bank of Eastern Oregon. Larry Mills is not worried about how to spend the profits. Missed Jim Rogers at the city council Mon. night; no gold star Jim...

VFW National Home

Warren H. McCoy, Irrigon, State Jr. Vice Commander attended the Junior Vice Commanders and Junior Vice Presidents Conference held at the VFW National Home at Eaton Rapids, MI, on Feb. 13-15.

The conference is held annually for the VFW Department Junior Vice Commanders and the Ladies Auxiliary to the VFW Department Junior Vice Presidents throughout the United States. Its purpose is to acquaint the attendees with the VFW National Home and its programs so they might become more familiar with the home's operation. While attending the Conference McCoy received first hand knowledge of the quality of the child care by actually living in one of the homes with the children during the time spent in Eaton Rapids.

The VFW National Home is celebrating its 51st year of providing love, care and education to the children of deceased and disabled members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Ladies Auxiliary. The Home is located on 640 rolling acres of rolling farm and woodlands, 20 miles south of Lansing, the state capital of Michigan. Fifty acres of the site forms a campus on which over 50 buildings are used to provide housing for 180 children, administration, recreation, health care and maintenance facilities.

Over the half century of its existence the VFW National Home has cared for over 1200 children through funds received through the VFW, its Ladies Auxiliary and individual units and members of the VFW organizations.

BMCC Nursing program

The first step toward possible addition of an Associate Degree Nursing program at Blue Mountain Community College was taken when the college board of Education directed President Ron Daniels to continue with detailed plans for the new curriculum.

A feasibility study conducted recently by Dr. Gloria Mayer, Elgin, indicated a strong need and desire for the two-year program by medical agencies throughout Eastern Oregon. The board's action means detailed plans will now be drawn up for further board consideration.

BMCC now has a one-year Licensed Practical Nursing Program, and if final plans for the two-year program are approved by the college and state agencies, the ADN program could get underway as early as September 1977. First class would probably number between 30 and 35 students.

Board members were concerned over the impact of the new program on the college's budget, but concluded the Associate Degree program would be adopted eventually.

John Hansell, board member from Hermiston, suggested the college board approve the concept of the ADN program and prepare for early adoption, explaining that any delay would only cost the taxpayers additional money. There was no opposition to Hansell's move.
