Mayor Chester Wilson and his son John Wilson, Boise, ID, attended the funeral of Mayor Wilson's aunt, Lena Wilson, 85, Portland. She had visited in Irrigon many times.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Griffin and family were called to Shady Cove to attend the funeral of a nephew, Deeno Reed the son of Mr. and Mrs. Coy Reed, former Irrigon residents, who was killed in a motorcycle accident.

Visitors at the E.A. Stephens home included Mr. and Mrs. Guy Parke and family, Portland and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Benson, Salem and their 3 grandchildren of Boise. They were taking their grandchildren home after having them for a visit.

The Baptist Church and the Assembly of God are planning a sunrise service and Easter morning breakfast for the community of Irrigon. This has become an annual event.

RIVERSIDE HAS BICENTENNIAL THEME

"Those Were the Days" was the Bicentennial theme of Riverside Junior High School's annual fund raising dinner last Tuesday. Under the direction of Vic Marchek and the junior high staff, students, parents and teachers worked to give the menu a regional and cultural flavor.

Corn on the cob represented the contribution of the American Indians. Fried chicken from the south, baked beans from New England, tacos from the Spanish-American southwest, cole slaw and salads helped to fill out the menu, and what could be more American than hot dogs and apple pie?

Students in knee britches and tri-cornered hats, long dresses and bonnets served the tables in a colonial section adorned with the 13 starred flag of the original colonies. The Gay 90's era was depicted by a Farrell's Ice Cream Parlor, complete with store front and sundaes. Students in flat-top straw hats, handlebar mustaches, and bow ties, long full skirts and leg o' mutton sleeves cleared tables. Peggy Brandt played tunes reminiscent of the era on the piano.

The nostalgia of the 30's came through with a live band playing rock 'n roll. A large portrait of "The Fonz" smiled over Arnold's Drive-In, where beboppers in slicked back hair and rolled up jeans, pony tails and mid-calf skirts even tried the Twist. Costumes of the 18th century and 1890s were shown and discussed in the social studies classroom. Then the students made up or put together some very authentic looking costumes.

MAGGIE REYNOLDS

Mary Bailey received word Sunday, April 4, of the death of her twin sister, Maggie Reynolds at Gleneden Beach, OR.

The twin sisters celebrated their 88th birthday, Feb. 5, at the Bailey home, Heppner. Several years ago Mrs. Reynolds suffered a stroke and had been confined to a wheel chair.

Survivors besides her twin sister include her eight children, Herbert, Ephrata, WA; Bob Anderson, California; Charles, Oregon City; Tom, Grants Pass; Dick, Seattle, WA; Elsie Freil, Astoria; Kate Stentors, Portland; Margaret Raymond, Champoeg; and numerous grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

NEVA SCHIEF

Neva Schief, 56, died Friday at her home in Gladston. Mrs. Schief was born at Hardman May 19, 1919, the daughter of Bert and Hattie Emery Bleakman. She attended Hardman Grade School and graduated from Heppner High School.

Mrs. Schief and her former husband, Jerry Haddock, were in the grocery business in Hermiston for 25 years before selling out in the early 1960s. They operated the Thrifty Market, which later became Stewart's Market.

Mrs. Schief had lived in the Portland area the past 12 years where she was a bookkeeper for Fred Meyers Stores.

Surviving are brothers, Kenneth Bleakman, Hermiston; Percy Bleakman, Beaverton; and Owen Bleakman, Baker.

Graveside services were held Wednesday, (yesterday), April 7, at 2 p.m., at Heppner Masonic Cemetery. Burns Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.
