Cuttings honored by Garden Clubs

The Rev. and Mrs. Edwin Cutting were honored by members of the Heppner and lone Garden Clubs at a surprise dinner last Monday evening at Beecher's Cafe, lone.

It was the Heppner Club's May meeting; delegates to the state convention were selected and new officers were installed. Doris Cutting, Heppner Club president, conducted her final meeting of the growing club. Edwin Cutting installed the new officers, presenting each with a different plant-start after reviewing the responsibilities of the office.

The evening program "At Your Feet" was given by Rev. Cutting. He spoke about the past, present and future beauty of the earth and warned if humans are not thoughtful it is possible they may return to the earth to its original condition "without form and void" through their pollution and waste.

The Cuttings were presented with a decorated cake and with a spring flower money-bouquet. In presenting the bouquet, Jane Rawlins stated how much the Garden Clubs and the South Morrow area will miss the Cuttings.

Delegates to the June State Garden Club convention are the newly-installed President Adelle LaTrace, Vice-president Jane Rawlins and Treasurer Barbara James. Justine Weatherford was installed as recording secretary.

The Cuttings will be leaving Heppner early in June after the Oregon-Idaho Conference of the United Methodist Church announces its new appointments.

Bicentennial Lawn Sale

Heppner's only Bicentennial Methodist Lawn Sale "ever" will begin this Saturday, May 15, at 9:30 a.m. on the lawns of the United Methodist Church and parsonage (unless rain should drive the event into the church basement).

Advance sale of artificial-flower cemetery pieces has gone very well. The church women are preparing assorted sustenance to be sold as take-home food or to be consumed (as lunch) on the premises. The committees at work on the event are getting their pioneer-type costumes out of mothballs to dazzle modern city folk.

Several botanists are ready to guarantee their well-rooted house plants. An amazing assortment of sundry articles have been contributed to the sale.

The luncheon and baked goods sale will begin at 11 a.m. and probably end soon after 1 p.m.

No used clothing will be sold, but several new, novelty accessories will be offered.

Committee to meet

The Carl Troedson Scholarship Committee will meet in Lexington Friday, May 14, to review applications of graduating seniors and college students from Morrow County who are seeking grants from the Troedson Educational Fund. The committee will review applications in relation to academic ability, the likelihood of success in post high school education and financial need.

Committee members are Morrow County Judge Paul Jones, Valby Lutheran Church Pastor Mark Johnson and Morrow County School Superintendent Matt Doherty. The committee's selection of grant recipients will be announced at the commencement exercises of Morrow County's three high schools, present college students whose grants are renewed will receive direct notification by the committee.

IONE STUDENTS PLAN MUSICAL

The lone Elementary School will celebrate the Bicentennial with a special musical salute, May 25. The program which is just for elementary students will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Girls are asked to wear long dresses with perhaps an apron. Each girl will need to wear a bonnet and is asked to furnish her own bonnet to keep as a memento of the Bicentennial.
