

Top cowboys to compete in rodeo

More than 100 of the top collegiate cowboys and cowgirls from throughout the Pacific Northwest will be in Pendleton May 28, 29 and 30 to compete in the Northwest Regional Rodeo Finals.

To be staged at the Mustang Grounds just east of Pendleton, the rodeo has attracted Bob Chambers, one of the world's top rodeo announcers and a native of Pendleton, and some of the top stock from three Northwest rodeo stock contractors.

Competitors from 18 colleges and universities in Oregon, Washington and Idaho will compete in six men's events and three women's events in this, the final National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association meet prior to the national finals.

"The whole season is going to be wrapped up in the rodeo here in Pendleton," Longgood said. "With such outstanding cowboys, cowgirls, stock, and Bob Chambers, it should be a whale of a show." Longgood added.

Competition between individual cowboys is almost as close as the team race. BMCC's Larry Patterson, from Gooding, ID, is currently leading in the all-around cowboy competition. His teammates, Gary Millin, Prosser, WA, and Jim Ward, Athena, are leading in saddle bronc and team roping respectively.

BMCC's Randy Warnock, Baker, is within a few points of Millin for the saddle bronc title, while teammate Dan Roeser, Caldwell, ID, and Patterson are still in contention for the team roping trophy.

Roeser and Patterson are also still in the running for the calf roping and steer wrestling titles.

Leading the cowgirls in the breakaway roping is BMCC's Mary Healy, Heppner.

In addition to BMCC and Walla Walla, strong competition for men's team trophies is expected from Oregon State University, Eastern Oregon State College and Spokane Community College.

The rodeo will start at 4 p.m., Friday, May 28, in the Mustang Grounds. Saturday and Sunday events will start at 11:30 p.m. Tickets will be available at the gate. Admission charge is $2 adults, $1 for students.
