

School district hires six to fill vacancies

The Morrow County School Board got right to work Monday night at 8:15 p.m. By about 1 a.m., the board had hired six new people, bought a car, sold a truck and accepted a budget for $2,659,540.

The board members filled six positions, vacated by resignations.

Chuck Starr, a former Heppner High School math teacher and football coach, was hired as lone schools principal.

Other positions included Linda Murray, University of Oregon grad, hired as Heppner Junior High language arts teacher; George Russell, Eastern Oregon State College grad, hired as band and vocational music instructor in lone; Rebekah Randle, Oregon College of Education grad, hired as Heppner high school physical education instructor; Nancy Myklebust, Montana State grad, hired as Riverside Junior and Senior High School physical education instructor; and Doug Howell, Portland State grad, hired as a fifth grade teacher at A.C. Houghton Elementary in Irigon.

The board also accepted three resignations. Bill Buckendorf and Cathy Peck both resigned from Heppner schools. Buckendorf was a music instructor at Heppner Elementary and Peck, an English teacher at Heppner elementary.

John Weiddle, a music teacher at Riverside junior and senior high, also resigned.

In other business, the board: —sold a truck that had been in the district many years. —heard from district architect, Bob Smith, Ontario. Smith told the board of progress in the district's work. At the Heppner shop, foundations are in and a back wall of poured cement is going up; the lone shop is in the block wall stage; Riverside's four class rooms are in the process of receiving floors and walls should go up soon; and A.C. Houghton Elementary is surviving the Department of Environmental Equality's ruling.

The DEQ ruled against the Iron school and delayed an eight classroom construction by three to four weeks. The DEQ would not approve the school's septic tank proposal. —adopted the year's calendar.

—accepted bids on replacement windows for Heppner Elementary school. The present windows have been in the building since it was built around 1915. The windows have shrunk away from the panes and water and wind is not kept out.

Bids from DeVac and Chamberlain of Seattle and Windows Industries of Portland were entertained. The base bid from DeVac was $42,175 and the low alternate bid was $26,800. From Windows, Ind., the base bid was $33,780 and the low alternate, $28,780.

The board will decide which bid is the best dollar value.

—accepted a bid from Farley Motor Co. on a four-door, Pontiac sedan for district use, mainly by the superintendent. The bid was $5126. Of five bids received, Farley's was not the lowest but the board found it was the best dollar value.

—accepted the first reading of a policy revision.

—told the superintendent to call for bids on school supplies, materials, a bus run in the Lexington area, gas oil, and fuel for the district.

—and adopted the district budget of $2,659,540.

Good news — enough canning lids this year

Good news for home canners! This year there are enough canning lids. So if your garden cooperates or if you get a good buy on fresh produce, your home canned fruits and vegetables can be on your table all winter long. Somehow, they always seem to taste better.

If you're going to can vegetables other than tomatoes, you'll need a steam-pressure canner. This is because it takes a temperature higher than that of boiling water to process low acid foods safely in a reasonable length of time. For fruits, tomatoes, and pickled vegetables, you can use a boiling-water-bath canner. But make sure the water is an inch or two above the tops of containers.

For best quality in the canned product, use only perfect fruits and vegetables at their peak of freshness. Sort them for size and ripeness so they'll cook more evenly. And wash them thoroughly under running water or through several changes of water.

Canning jars have to be perfect, washed in hot soapy water, and rinsed well. The same is true for the jar lids.

You can pack fruits and vegetables into containers either raw or at or near boiling temperature. Most raw fruits and vegetables shrink during processing so should be packed tightly. Some exceptions are corn, lima beans, and peas—they expand. Hot foods should be packed fairly loosely.

Use enough syrup, or juice to fill around and cover the solid food. Otherwise, food at the top tends to darken.

With only a few exceptions, some space should be left between the packed food and the closure.

Duane Yunker on Sunday, June 20, at the Al Partlow home. The former Sharon Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Stewart was married to Duane Yunker on June 11. He is formerly of Umatilla and is now in the Air Force. He has been stationed in Germany and will return when his furlough is over.

Hostesses for the reception were Debbie McCoy and Sherry Partlow, cousins of the bride and their mothers, Mrs. Warren McCoy and Mrs. Al Partlow. Many friends and relatives attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Partlow have returned from a successful fishing trip to the Oxbow reservoir. They caught a good catch of Bullheads, Croppies and Bass.

IRRIGON NEWS

Frances Rose Wilson

By Frances Rose Wilson

The Rev. Ben Taylor of Bible Temple, Portland, will minister at the Irrigon Assembly of God on Sunday, June 27 and each evening Monday through Wednesday at 7 p.m. Pastor Robert Schmol extends a welcome to all.

The church completed a vacation Bible School last week with approximately 50 youngsters enrolled.

The installation of a sprinkler system covering the entire lawn of the church was recently completed and a new pump was installed. This will eliminate the need for flood irrigation which often had to be done at night.

A wedding reception party was given for Mr. and Mrs.
