BY JUSTINE WEATHERFORD AND DOROTHY ZITA

Confused on what day it should be? The paper office was open on Monday, but we also worked Saturday too. It seems as though it should be Monday again. All week is going to be a state of confusion.

But, let's not forget the Sidewalk Bazaar that will be tomorrow (Friday). Bargains Galore!

Up for the 4th of July weekend, relaxing in the coolness of the mountains at Cutsforth Park were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Munkers, Woodburn; Mrs. Della Matlock and daughter Betty, Portland; and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Ingnowski, The Dalles.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Padberg attended the Tucker reunion held in Sunnyside, WA, on June 26. Of the 70 people present, 45 were direct descendants of Dandridge and Fatama Jana Tucker who were the paternal grandparents of Huldah Mortimore, Eugene; Irene, Atherton, Ontario; Elsie Tucker, Lincoln City; Edith Castle, Yuba City, CA; Woodrow Tucker, Stanfield and Wilma Wallace, Lewiston, ID.

Visiting the Jerry McAuliffe's, Cecil was Cecilia Robinson, Pendleton.

Craig Cutsforth, Hines, is working for Terry Thompson this summer and visiting his relatives in his spare time.

Russell Kilkenny and friends were up for the weekend visiting his parents and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kilkenny, Lexington.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ertz over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Persohn and daughter, Susan from Wellsville, Ohio. Mr. Persohn is Mrs. Ertz's cousin.

REFLECTIONS

All of the local Legion Post deserves stars for their day's efforts... the flags along Main Street; the great breakfast in the park; the two flag raisings and their leading of the parade.

Did you hear School Superintendent Matt Doherty introduce Barbara Heliker and her husband Orville Cutsforth? Both of them had so much to do with the restoration of the little school.

Democrat Gulch graduate Bob Scrivner, who came up from Portland, said, "This building looks so tiny to me today, but when I entered it as a first-grader it looked awfully big." Wasn't the antique gramophone cute? It's circular recording was a little weak with age.

Bob Scrivner also said, "This was never spoke of as an 'educational facility'—it was always the 'school house'—it had two important facilities out back.

Many folks remarked that Marguerite Glavey and Della Scrivner were such excellent teachers that they wished the twosome could have kept teaching forever.

The Methodists celebrated doubly, as this is their centennial year here. Two sunbonneted ladies reviewed the church history as part of the service. All the congregation, especially the children, enjoyed pulling the rope to ring out the old church bell after the service ended.

Gene Rietmann, Ione, surely added class to the courthouse flag pole dedication with his beautiful blowing of the Star Spangled Banner. Glen Ward and the Boy Scouts conducted a great flag ceremony. County Commissioner Warren McCoy has a dandy speaking voice and worthwhile things to say. Judge Paul W. Jones accepted the Elk's gift most graciously.

Morrow County's favorite "little drummer boy" Bob Lowe added a traditional, necessary sound to the parade with his rat-a-tat-tat. The Everett Keithley-Bob Harrison bicentennial covered wagon moved nicely pulled along by John McClain's choice team from out on Little Butter Creek.

At the Hager Park site it was Mayor Sweeney who officially accepted the gift. It was great to have so many of the J.O. Hager family introduced. How Emma Hager would have been pleased.

W.W. Weatherford didn't say much in public all day, except "thank you" when Terry Hughes presented him with an appreciation plaque from the Bicentennial Committee members. Bill did take moving pictures and managed to tape-record all the speeches.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Conner, Richland, WA, are the parents of a new baby girl, Michelle TaiRay, born June 21.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Crowell, Ione; Donie Conner of Richland, Ben Conner, Spray; great grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Steagall, Lexington. Michelle joins a sister, Heather.

Did you hear the many lips smacking over Jim Roger's excellent barbecue-beef dinner? Gene Rietmann plays the piano as well, or maybe better than he blows a horn... again his talent really added much to the occasion.

Seems like the afternoon's jackpot team roping didn't attract too many spectators—mostly families and really old-time rodeo lovers. Cornett Green and Howard Bryant seem to keep plenty young with this sporting event.

The fairground baseball game attracted young athletes, including Heppner High's Navajo flash, Robert Henry.

The day's finale, the fireworks and dancing, really brought a great 200th Birthday Party to a colorful close in Heppner, Oregon.
