

County Court taking glory while advertising MC fair

A few dances, a parade or two, maybe a luncheon along the way?

Forget it. Morrow County's fair and rodeo court, headed by Queen Patricia Van Schoiack is busy really busy. And they'll be that way for the rest of the summer.

The last couple of weeks, particularly the fourth of July week, have been active.

A second place, red, ribbon at Prineville in the mounted court division was this year's low. Last week at the Crooked River Round-Up, in Prineville called "Oregon's Cowboy Capital", the girls performed superbly but ended up second. That's the only second this year and that competition was stiff.

At Milton-Freewater, at the Twin City Jamboree, the girls placed first in the mounted court division and were able to wave the coveted blue ribbon high as they advertised the Morrow County Fair and Rodeo.

Following the parade, the court attended the Queen's luncheon, a chicken barbecue in Lante's Park as guests of Twin City Queen Lisa Ringer and princesses Ann McDevitt and Kelly Sloan.

About 200 people attended the luncheon with each court introduced and Queen Patricia was honored to announce her Morrow County court as first place winners in the riding courts.

Along with Queen Patricia, the court is Princesses Kate Evans, Jan Spaulding, Kimee Haguewood and Bonnie Schiller.

The girls enjoyed the parade, that included many floats and more than 20 mounted riding groups and a variety of miscellaneous entries.

After the tough judging at the Milton-Freewater Twin City parade, the girls jumped out of the skillet and into the fire again at Condon on fourth of July morning.

The girls captured another and were royally welcomed by Gilliam County.

first place award for mounted courts.

"The response in Condon was terrific," Queen Patricia said, noting her appreciation of her court and the pennant bearers, Debra Palmer, Donna Palmer, Shawna Seitz and Kathleen Van Schoiack.

The girls received many compliments on their outfits and appearance along the parade route as the court displayed their first place ribbon.

At the Condon rodeo, the girls rode in the grand entry ed in smartly tailored burgandy suits with hats with shades of pink accessories. Queen Patricia appears regal in white, complimented by the pink accessories.

The serapes are an eye-catching splash of pink with burgandy tones. After the bicentennial celebration at Condon, the court packed their bags and headed to Prineville where they enjoyed the riding competition as well as pari-mutual horse races.

They returned Saturday for Kate Evans' dance in Hepp-ville. Court chaperone and her husband, Darlene and Bob Hoskins, along with assistant court director, Lee Palmer headed up the party of more than 30 persons.

And they are far from through. The girls future appearances and activities include: a trip to Elgin's Stampede, July 17-18; a dance honoring Jan Spaulding, July 24; a dance honoring Kimee Haguewood, July 31; the Umatilla County Fair parade, Aug. 7; a dance honoring the entire court, Aug. 14;
