

Fires blazed last week but the one at Kinzua Corporation was under control from the initial first match.

Russ Stienhauer, Western Propane sales manager and Monte Stookey, Kinzua Corp. plywood plant manager, held a two day seminar for employees at Kinzua on how to contain propane fires.

Seriousness up

Juvenile crime decreases

In Ione for high school students on alcohol and drugs. Two days worth of films, drugs on display and answers were given to Heppner's classes from fifth through eighth grades.

"We've made a breakthrough," Ms. Davis said. Plans are for an adulthood workshop in Heppner for juniors and seniors this fall to learn more about their future lives in family living.

The chamber members raised some questions on a new law that phases out a juveniles record after two years after the crime or when he or she turns 18.

The law says a juvenile has the right to petition the court when he or she has turned 18 or since two years after a violation. If the court does not contest the petition, all records will be destroyed, including police reports, court reports, virtually everything. And that includes all cases, except traffic or game oriented violations.

Even a juvenile that has committed murder can have his hands cleaned of the crime, according to the law and Ms. Davis.

Ms. Davis said the juvenile department is even "obligated" to notify that juvenile and start expurgation procedures for juveniles that reach 18 or that two-year period.

If a court contests, then a hearing is set and the juvenile goes through that procedure.

Kinzua woman citizenized

Irene Samples is a citizen of the United States now. In a ceremony held July 15, at the Portland Court House, Mrs. Samples became a citizen of the United States of America.

There to witness her big day was her husband, Jerry, her mother-in-law, Mrs. Camilla Samples, Heppner, and Irene's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Karl, Germany.

Mrs. Samples, Kinzua, had taken her examination on June 8 in Portland and passed with flying colors—a test most natural citizens would have trouble passing.

Following the swearing in, the new citizen was taken to enjoy a meal of foreign food at the Rhinelander.

FARM SAFETY WEEK

JULY 25-31

YOU MAY EXPOSE YOURSELF TO OVERHEAD DANGER IN MANY WAYS . . .

REACT AND LIVE

- Consider any overhead line dangerous. Keep objects at least 10 feet away from powerlines.
- In areas where your equipment will be operating, inspect for possible interference with overhead lines.
- Don't attempt to raise or move electric lines . . . call your power supplier.
- If powerlines are buried . . . let your electric service representative locate them before digging.
- Report any potential powerline hazard to your electric power supplier.

IF AN ACCIDENT HAPPENS . . .

- Never touch a person or equipment in contact with a high voltage.
- Cut off power if you can.
- Use a rope or dry board to pull or push victim away from contact.
- Send for help and give artificial respiration until it comes.

We are interested in your safety. You need to be concerned about overhead and underground lines.

No services

There will be no services, July 25, at All Saints Episcopal Church, because of the Annual Deanery Blue Mountain Mass, held at Emigrant Springs park at 12 noon. Parishioners are invited to attend and bring their own picnic lunch.

Deadline

August 15 is the deadline date for applying for this year's IRS Special Enrollment Examination.

The examination, given each year to qualify persons who are neither CPAs nor attorneys to represent clients before the IRS, will be given in Portland on Sept. 27 and 28, 8:30 a.m. for all Oregon applicants.

For information on applications, write Taxpayer Service Division, IRS, P.O. Box 2709, Portland or call toll-free, Portland 221-3960 or 1-800-452-1980.

Camp planned

A "Mini Youth Camp" is being planned at the Irrigon Assembly of God, according to Pastor Robert Schmoll, this Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 23-25. The Rev. Wayman Steele of Portland is the speaker.

Rally and Rap will be 7 p.m., Friday and Saturday. A waffle feed is planned for 9 a.m. Saturday and "fun in the sun" at 1 p.m.

On Sunday, Sunday School at 9:45, morning worship at 11:00, evening service at 7 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

Class combined

Due to the small number of students in each class, grades two and three will be combined this fall at Ione Elementary School.

Matt Doherty, superintendent of Morrow County Schools, made the recommendation at the June 21 board meeting. The school board unanimously approved the hiring of a teacher aide to assist with the newly formed combination.
