BY JUSTINE WEATHERFORD AND DOROTHY ZITA

Mrs. Edda Mae Lovgren returned home Tuesday from St. Anthony's Hospital, Pendleton, where she underwent gall bladder surgery last week.

The Morrow County Picnic will be held at Laurelhurst Park, Portland, Sunday, August 8. Everyone is invited. Sounds like a fun day meeting M.C. residents, who have moved away from here and a good day for old fashion gossip.

Jim and Bobbe Driscoll have returned from an eight-month tour covering 11 states in their travel trailer. After spending their winter in sunny Arizona, square dancing and meeting people from all over the states, they then took off to visit their new friends who had headed for their home states. It was then as far as Wisconsin, seeing cows up to their bellies in deep grass in Iowa, and Nebraska. In June everything looked green and beautiful. In New Mexico, they stayed with Len and Maxine Gilman, who are retired now, and operate a cattle ranch. Jim was put to work helping Len and his crew brand some 1500 head of cattle. Jim and Bobbe are staying here long enough to have dental work and then it's back to the maps and the traveling.

Mr. and Mrs. Verl Coehern, Hubbard and granddaughter Debbie Smith, New Orleans were visitors at the Orville Cutsforth home.

Karla Weatherford completed her degree requirements in occupational therapy at the University of Puget Sound, Tacoma, in June 1975. Since then she has worked in Seattle and Bremerton area hospitals under a temporary permit. This week she telephoned the good news that she has taken and passed the Washington State examination in her field and is now a registered O.T.

She is supervising therapy aides in four convalescent hospitals in and near Bremerton. She is at Shelton and Port Orchard on one day each and in two different Bremerton hospitals two other days. On the fifth day she completes records in her Bremerton office.

Sad news from The Dalles is that Mrs. Effie Johnson, who left many friends here when she moved beside her son Bill's family several years ago is hospitalized. Effie suffered a broken hip and now has a plastic ball joint. Her friends can write to her at The Dalles General Hospital.

The Bill Weatherfords have just looked at vast acreages of wheat being harvested, mostly in eastern Washington. They drove to Dayton to visit with Weatherford relatives, including another Bill Weatherford. Then they continued to Spokane to spend the night with Justine's daughter Ann and her husband, Ray Chenhall. Coming home they stopped at the Snell Weatherford home in Ritzville.

The Montreal Olympics had real competition here this last Sunday as a large crowd cheered the local swim team in its victory over Baker, Enterprise and John Day.

As a result of two Vickis and their children meeting at the story hour at the library, the Steve Wagenblasts, Lexington and Steve Tollefsons, Heppner are planning to get a Vicki and Steve versus Vicki and Steve tennis match set up soon. Probably Ben and Greg Tollefson and Amy and David Wagenblast will be their cheering section.

Albert Connor spent part of last Monday morning in the old schoolhouse privy in the park—he diligently repainted the inside of the structure that he and Bill Weatherford re-roofed last week.

It is sad to have so many nice ladies hospitalized, such as Martha Van Schoiack and Edda Mae Lovgren.

Youthful dancers are still saying that the rodeo dance of July 10 which featured music by CobWeb and Strange was outstanding.

Scientist John Rawlins has returned after field trips to California and various Oregon locations. He leaves soon to drive back to New York where he reports on Aug. 3, at Cornell University for further study and teaching.

Two C.E.T.A. HHS students who have been helping with the children at the Heppner Child Development Center are Paul Carlson and Vicki Marlon.

Kenny and Glenda Rogers with Marti, Heidi and Todd are leaving Heppner this Saturday to make their home in Irrigon. They have been living in the Gazette-Times apartment.
