Boardman development progressing

Development on the 23 space addition to the River-view Trailer Court in Irrigon is progressing with completion anticipated for early fall. Installation of underground electrical services are near completion with water and sewer hookups scheduled to follow in the next few weeks.

Owners Dale Gaylord and Matt Doherty expect the facility to contribute to relief of the areas critical housing shortage.

Development of 15 additional spaces in Ted Wilson's Mobile Home Park will also be completed and ready for occupancy within the next month.

Improvements are also underway within the west city limits where equipment started leveling the commercial area along the highway, north of Idaho Ave.

Willie Osterkamp who owns the property also has had pavement placed around his adjacent M. and B. Gas Station, and on 3rd Street within his 24 lot subdivision.

Rod Collins who expects to relocate his C&H Market west of First St. in a new building to be constructed, has expressed a desire to have the area annexed to the city, according to Mayor Chester Wilson. He has been instructed to bring his petition for annexation to the Planning Commission.

Presentation

A new code traffic school will be held Aug. 16 at the court room of the Morrow County Court house.

The presentation by the Oregon State Police, will explain the state's new traffic code that went into effect, July 1. It will be a slide presentation, prepared by the Dept. of Motor Vehicles.

The presentation will be followed by a question and answer period. It is expected to last one and one-half to two hours long. It is slated for 7:30 p.m. on Monday evening.

Senior Citizens asked for stories

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program of Umatilla and Morrow Counties is sponsoring a Memory Book to include short stories of incidents taken from the lives of senior citizens. We are inviting anyone who has an interesting story to tell to let us print it in our book. We know that many stories of the early days in Morrow County will be forgotten with the death of the participants so we are making an effort to collect some of these for future generations.

A prize is being offered for the story with the most interesting content. Grammar or spelling will not be judged. This booklet will be sold as a fund-raising project for the Retired Senior Volunteer Program.

We are not looking for a historical account of a family—rather we would like to find stories of memorable experiences such as you would tell your grandchildren.

If you would rather not write it out yourself, call your Neighborhood Center and leave your name and the RSVP Director will call on you to get the facts and write it out for you. It will be brought back to you for your approval before duplicating.

The titles of some stories already received might give others ideas of stories they know: When the Indians Attacked, My Day as a Mail Clerk, The First Laundromat in Umatilla County, The First Electric Light Plant in the Northwest was at Milton-Freewater, etc.

Second quarter certificates and pins for Volunteer Service in Morrow County are awarded to the following persons:

100 hr. (Pins): Alena Anderson, Heppner and Della Scrivner, Heppner.

50 Hr. certificates: Hazel Hamlin, Heppner, Camilla Samples, Heppner and Elva Sanders, Irrigon.

30 hr. certificates: Rachel Harnett, Marion Hayden, Elsa Leathers and Freda Majesko, Heppner; Geraldine Laws, Frances McCoy, Grace Stahl and Earl Sanders, all Irrigon; Ola Ruggles, Heppner.
