

Davis will highlight Family Fun Night

This year marks the first year that Morrow County Fair has brought in big name entertainment.

Marty Davis, a country western, down home style recording artist, will highlight the fair's entertainment on the family fun night, Wednesday.

Davis will appear with The Murphys at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday night in the arena. His performance will last about 45 minutes. After that, he will entertain during a dance from 8:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m.

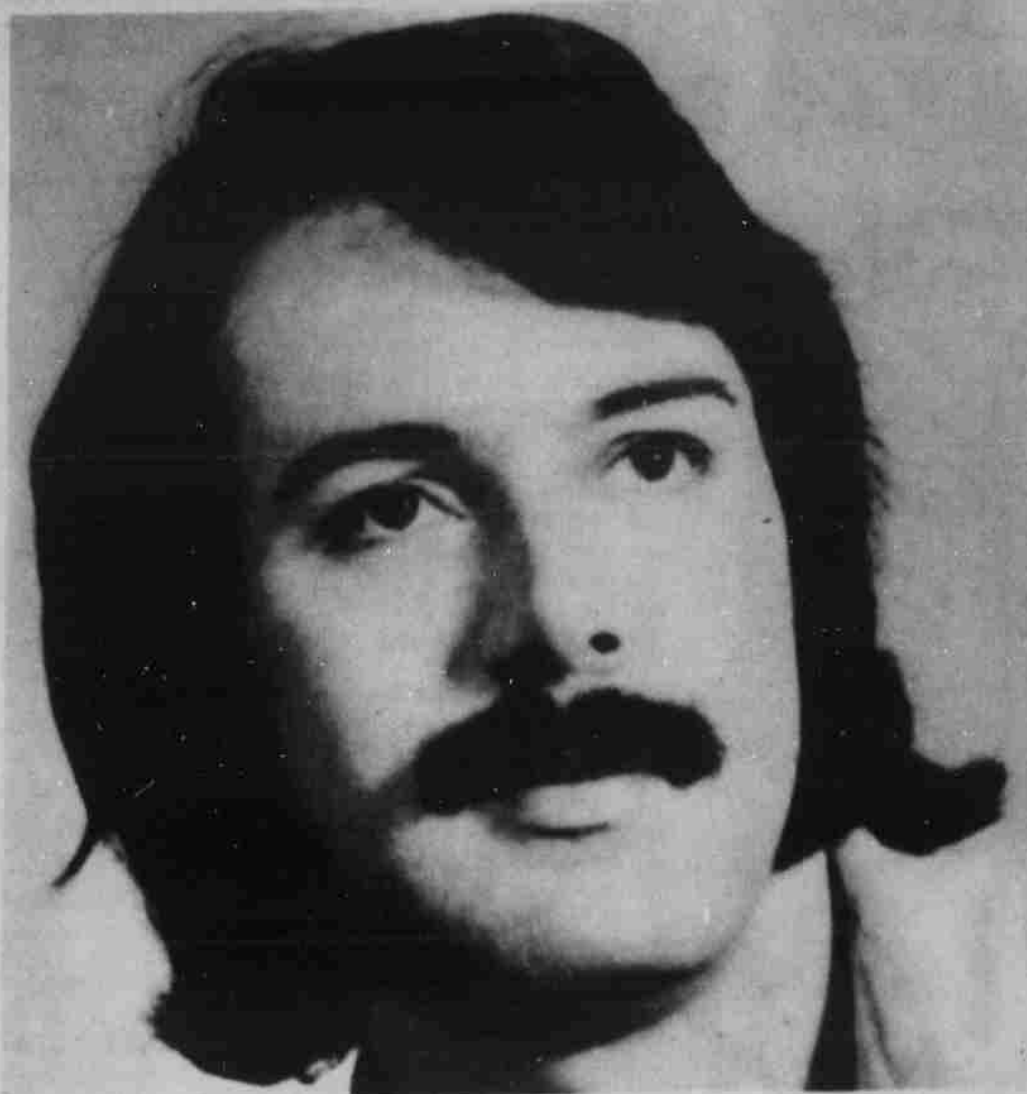

Davis began his musical career as a disc jockey in 1964. After flipping records day in and day out, he finally decided that the flip-flop business wasn't for him . . . making others flip was.

He and a few friends jumped in head first in the musical industry, working various weekend gigs in Southern Oregon and Northern California.

Their popularity among country western enthusiasts ballooned. They decided to take that fateful step and in 1969, five years after his start in a radio station, the Marty Davis show hit the road.

Since those beginnings in 1969, Marty has worked with several groups from Alaska, Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho, Washington, California and Oregon, to Nevada . . . in Elks Clubs, and casinos, including the Golden Nugget in Las Vegas . . . doing country music, country rock, shows, dances . . . and always doing well.

See Marty Davis for $1.50 Wednesday night, Family Fun night at the fair, and enjoy a dinner of Kentucky Fried Chicken for $2.

Marty Davis

By area businesses, people

Special awards

Eleven new special awards are being offered this year at the county fair from special sponsors. Besides these special awards, a large group of other awards will be presented.

The 11 are for the following: beef, from Sabre Farms; sheep from Western Empire; poultry and rabbits from Sabre Farms; potatoes from the Blue Mountain Potato Council; other commercial crops from Sabre Farms;

Fruits and vegetables from John and Ann Prag; flowers from the Heppner Garden Club; home economics from Eastern Oregon Farms; arts, crafts and collections from Oregon Potato Incorporated; children's corner from Lindsay Ranch; and teen corner from J-S Ranch.

Along with those, the fair is also offering these awards: 4-H presentations: Country Critters, Irrigon to the outstanding agriculture presentation; D.O. and Delpha Nelson to the outstanding presentation $15; Oregon Beekeepers Assn. to the best intermediate and senior presentation using honey; Rhea Creek Study group to the best individual and best team foods presentation.

In the 4-H beef competition, these special awards will be offered: from the American Polled Hereford Assn., to the champ polled hereford female; Chris Rauch, Lexington to the champ shorthorn steer; C.W. Acock and Son, Boardman to the grand champ steer and horned hereford heifer; from Oregon Poll-ettes, a trophy to best individual polled hereford breeding or market animal; Western States Angus Auxiliary, a silver trophy to outstanding 4-H Angus exhibitor.

In 4-H swine, Country Critters of Irrigon sponsor an award to the champ market hog. To 4-H Livestock contestants, Blackhorse 4-H Club offers an award for the top herdsman club. And Cal's Arco offers one to the highest scoring livestock judge.

Other livestock awards are champ swine showman from Country Critters, champ beef showman and champ dairy showman from Hermiston Veterinary clinic; Champ beef, dairy, sheep and swine junior showman from Jordan Elevator, Ione; Champ beef, dairy, sheep and swine senior showman from Morrow Co. Grain Growers; Grand champ all-around showman from N.C. Anderson, Dallas; Champ sheep showman from Norden Stefanides, DVM Hermiston; Champ beef, dairy, sheep and swine intermediate showman from Peterson's Jewelers; and Champ dairy goat showman from Scott Acock, Irrigon.

In 4-H horse, working hunter hack division special awards from Central Market to the senior and junior horsemanship and horse showmanship champs; Paul Pettyjohn, Ione to grand champ horse showman; and Turner, Van Marter and Bryant to grand champ horsemanship and horse showmanship champs.

In 4-H knitting, Greenfield Grange, Boardman offers an award to the champ inter-

HEPPNER ELKS

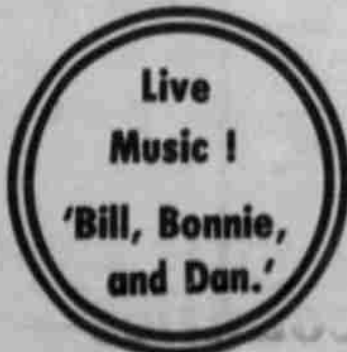

B.P.O.E. No. 358

Meet With Your Friends At The

Morrow County Fair & Rodeo

Dinner By Jim Friday

Aug. 20 6:30 - 8:30 p.m.

DANCE

Friday 9-2 Sat. 8-2

Sun 5:30 - ??

Elk's Lodge

Heppner