

Around the pot belly stove

By Julie Nelson and Robin Baker

Leo Crabtree, secretary of the Ione Masonic Lodge received word that Robert E. Harbison Jr. died August 7 in Eugene, OR. He was born July 4, 1905 in Hood River, OR. Mr. Harbison was a member of the Ione Masonic Lodge for 46 years. He owned a Myrtlewood shop in Lanlois, OR. Before leaving Morrow County he lived at Morgan where his father, Robert Harbison, Sr. ran a grain warehouse.

Sharon Gelinis of Caldwell, ID was a visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Crabtree from August 7-12. Her two children had been here visiting for several weeks, they returned home Aug. 12.

Michelle LaRue and Kris Pettyjohn returned home Saturday after spending a week at Hiaway Horsemanship Camp, near Ukiah, OR.

Those boys from Ione attending Northwest Basketball Camp this week are: Robin LaRue, Shawn LaRue, John Murray, Kevin McCabe, John Lindstrom and Jerry Rietmann.

The members of Beta Omega Sorority met in the Ione City Park on Friday, Aug. 13. The sorority will again spearhead the Cystic Fibrosis campaign with Sue Proudfoot as chairman. The campaign will be held in September. Our goal for this year is $65.

Much of the meeting time was spent discussing the Levi Ball the sorority will sponsor on Oct. 9. We also discussed the possibility of doing something new and different for the kids on Halloween, more will be decided at our regular September meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Steer

LaFountain-Steers wed in Pendleton

Cheryl Lynn LaFountain and Harry Duane Steers became Mr. and Mrs. Duane Steers in a July 31 ceremony at the Calvary Baptist Church in Pendleton.

The bride is the daughter of Jack LaFountain and Shirley Sellers, Placerville, CA. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Steers, Heppner. The 5 p.m. wedding was officiated by Rev. Kieth B. Fields.

Altared flowers of white and yellow gave way to the bride as she was given away by her father. She wore a sheer organza and lace, long traditional white gown. It had a high neck, empire waist and lace sleeves. The sheer skirt was ringed with wide flounce ending with a chapel length train. She wore a finger tipped veil.

She carried a bouquet of carnations and roses.

Peggy Thornton, a neighbor and friend, served as matron of honor and Delbert Binschus, brother-in-law of the groom served as best man.

The matron of honor wore a floor length cream colored dress. It was a V neck with gathered sleeves, ruffled at the bottom.

A wedding reception was held at the bride and groom's home in Pendleton where they will reside.

The groom, a four-year veteran of the Navy, is now working for the Forest Service and will attend college in Pendleton this fall. The bride is employed by the Pendleton child care center.
