

JVs whip WM with final play

Heppner's junior varsity didn't make much use of the middle of the football game, but they ended up with the long end of the stick last Monday, bouncing Weston-

McEwen, 12-7. The Mustangs scored on the first play from scrimmage and the last play of the game to take the win.

The first play put Heppner on the board when Dennis Peck scampered 72 yards to pay dirt. The extra point failed.

The Tiger-Scots took the lead in the first period on a 32 yard pass. A booted extra point gave them the edge, 7-6.

The game stayed scoreless for the second and third period, and most of the fourth before the Mustangs got untracked.

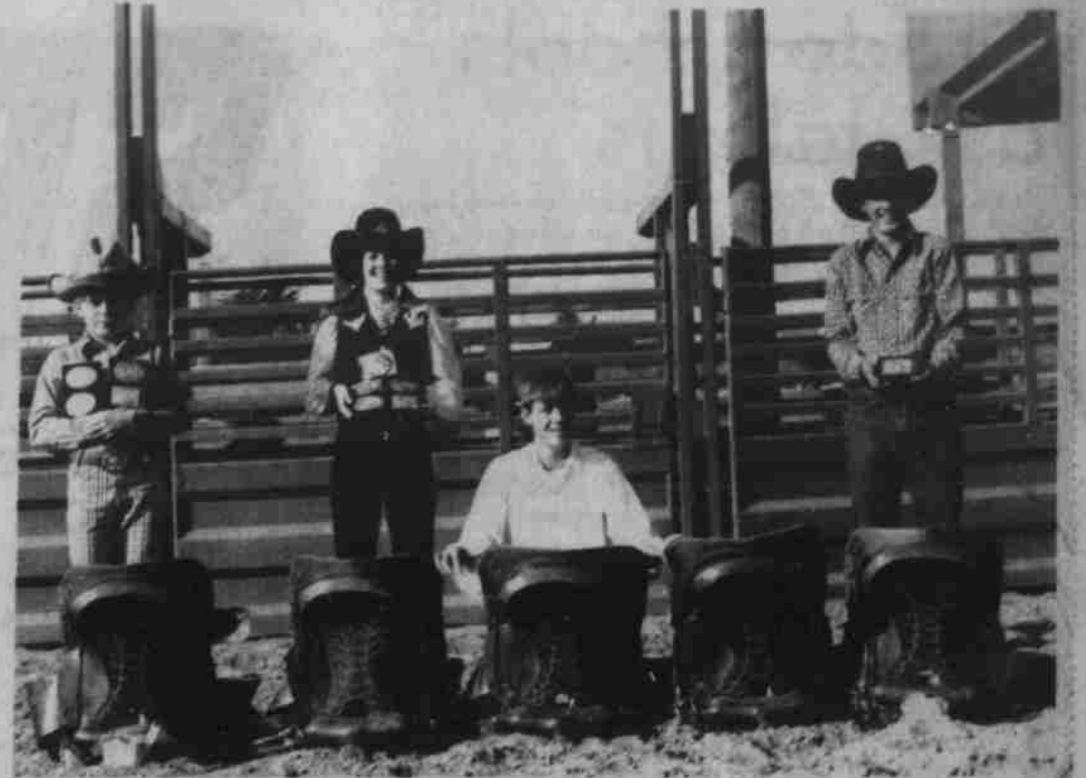

On the last play of the game, Eric Clough, quarterback, sneaked into the end zone with the game winning TD. It was set up by a 15 yard, fourth down run by Peck.

Peck was the Mustang leading ground gainer, churning up 116 yards on 12 carries. His total was the majority of the Mustangs' 159 total yards of offense.

Jack Yocum paced the defensive unit with six unassisted tackles and a fumble recovery. Jerry Baker had two interceptions and Jody Marlatt blocked a WM punt.

The 2-1 Mustangs take on Oregon Trail in Stanfield Monday at 6 p.m.

Police review

Oregon State Police charged Domingo Palamor Matatea with menacing last week following an alleged knife wielding incident in Boardman.

According to police reports, Matatea was arrested at the Hitching Post in Boardman after a bartender refused to serve him because he was too intoxicated.

Police said Matatea left and returned with a knife and annoyed at least one customer and tried to get another to fight.

Milo Mark Gillison of La Grande was charged with trespass after hunting on enclosed land without permission. The land is owned by Horseshoe Hereford Ranch.

Joe Madison was charged with first degree theft by receiving this week, following a June 18 theft at the Green apartments on Willow St.

Madison allegedly obtained possession of a stereo owned by Walt Pilgrim, a resident at the same apartments where Madison, too, lived. Madison told the district attorney's office that a juvenile from Portland was also involved in the theft.

A two car accident on highway 207 resulted in a totaled car and reported broken bones Sunday when a pickup truck "yielded to a coyote" that was crossing the road.

According to reports, a pickup driven by James Aaron Wilson, 22, Hermiston, was stopped for the coyote. David Michael Bruner, 25, Heppner, was traveling in a Javelin coming up on the pickup.

The car reportedly skidded 80 feet before striking the pickup. The car was termed totaled and Bruner and his passenger, James Ray Steelman, were taken to Pioneer Memorial and released by Monday. Bruner was cited for driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

Cards triumph

It took three games, but Ione's Cardinal girls bounced a stubborn Wasco County volleyball squad Tuesday, 15-11, 13-15 and 15-10.

Debra Palmer led the Cards with a 12 point effort.

Ione JVs also won, taking Maupin with wins of 15-4 and 15-6 after falling in the opener, 7-15. Robin Leavitt sparked the winners with 11 points.

Ione gridders win

Ione's junior high gridders continued on the winning trail last Thursday, bouncing a stubborn Oregon Trail 11, 22-6.

Three men split the touchdown glory. Scott Martin scored from one yard, Leslie Thompson scored from five yards and Gregg Rietmann capped a 10 yard run to pay dirt.

Rietmann also ran for both extra point conversions.

4 rodeo'ers bring home hardware

Four North Morrow County cowhands brought home plenty of leather, gold and silver last week, after attending the Northwest Pee Wee Rodeo Association finals in Terrebonne.

The four youngsters, from Irrigon and Boardman, brought home five saddles and more than 10 belt buckles.

Ida Vetter, chosen 1976 Northwest Pee Wee Rodeo Queen, was the fifth Irrigon queen in as many years to have the honor bestowed upon her. She is the 13-year-old daughter of Alvin and Elaine Vetter, Hermiston.

Ida has represented the Irrigon Lions Pee Wee Rodeo at many parades and luncheons throughout the year, as well as winning many honors as a contestant.

She was the 1976 Senior girl All-Around, winning belt buckles for fourth place in barrels; fourth place in calf riding; fourth place in pole bending; and fifth place for goat tying.

Rocky Steagall, an Irrigon cowboy, son of Bill and Carole Steagall, won the Senior boy All-Around title along with the High Point All-Around Calamity award. Rocky, along with a saddle, received an engraved leather plaque. It was the second year in a row that Rocky has been high point.

He was first in pony bucking, earning the saddle; he also was second in goat tying, pole bending, and calf riding, worth three gold buckles. His third in barrel racing garnered a silver buckle.

Ida's brother, Alvin, took home three first places in barrels, poles and goat tying, which earned him three saddles.

Steve Brooks of Boardman won first place in calf riding for a saddle and gold belt buckle and took second in pony bucking. He is the son of Jim and Debbie Brooks.

Don Kenyon, president of the Irrigon Lions, presented Queen Ida with a bouquet of roses when the foursome returned from Terrebonne.

Attending the Crooked River Northwest Pee Wee Rodeo finals as an announcer was Dan Creamer, Irrigon. Creamer has been active in the pee wee rodeo for many years and is also a Lions member.

There were 213 memberships issued to breeders of registered Aberdeen Angus in the United States during the past month.

HHS sets visitation

Heppner High School will host a visitation by representatives from the Oregon State System of Higher Education on Monday, October 11, 1976, at 12:45 p.m.

Unique throughout the United States is a visitation by representatives of the Oregon State System of Higher Education to every high school in the state. The team, Mr. Howard Anderson, director of financial aid at Eastern Oregon State College and Hank Kutale, financial director at Oregon Institute of Technology, impresses upon secondary students the need for some type of education or training beyond high school.

The visitation supplements the guidance program of Heppner High School by giving students first-hand information about course offerings, admission requirements, housing, costs to attend, financial aids and scholarships and other information pertinent to planning for the college experience.

Parents are invited to attend the visitation and are urged to discuss post-high school plans with their sons and daughters before and after the conference.

Obituaries

Curtis Thomson

Curtis Mitchel Thomson, 60, Grand Marais, Minnesota, died Sunday, September 26, from a heart attack.

Mr. Thomson was born May 7, 1916, in Heppner, son of James and Agnes May Swift Thomson. He grew up in Heppner and attended Oregon State College for two years. He was married to Irena McFerrin on April 15, 1940, in Moscow, ID. He was a member for 38 years of the Heppner Elks Club.

After receiving a medical discharge from the Navy (WWII), Mr. Thomson was employed at the Navy Torpedo Station at Keyport, WA. In 1947, he took the Border Patrol exam; entering the service in 1948 at Laredo, TX, and working later in Cotulla and Brownsville, TX. In 1956 he transferred to Minnesota and retired in November, 1973, after 25 years of government service with the Border Patrol.

Funeral services were held Thursday, September 30, at 2 p.m. at Clothier Funeral Chapel, Grand Marais, with the Rev. Benjamin C. Crosby officiating. Soloist was Mr. Dwain Staples, accompanied by Mrs. Joseph Wilkinson at the organ. Concluding services and interment were at Maple Hill Cemetery, Grand Marais, MN.

Mr. Thomson is survived by his widow, Irena; one son, Curtis Richard, Duluth, MN; two daughters, Carole Sue, Ann Arbor, MI, and Joycelyn Kay, Thief River Falls, MN; two brothers, James and Rodrick, both Heppner; three sisters, Mrs. Winnifred Cox, Heppner, Mrs. Mary Gibb, Seattle, and Mrs. Louise Becket, Cottage Grove, OR; and one grandchild.

Kathy Anderson

Word of the death of Kathy Anderson, a former first grade teacher in Heppner, was received this week.

Mrs. Anderson, 23, died of cancer. She taught first grade for two years here while her husband, Mike, taught kindergarten.

Mrs. Anderson is survived, among others, by her father, Harold Cox of Meridian, ID, and husband. Funeral services were held September 28.

THE SPIDER'S STING

"The sting of death is sin; and the strength of sin is the law." I Corinthians 15:56

Even though all of the thousands of kinds of spiders are poisonous to some extent, only a very few are harmful to human beings. Nevertheless, the mere sight of a spider often frightens people who know their fear is groundless. When naturalist Ivan T. Sanderson was attacked by a giant African spider, he reported that he was more afraid of the appearance of the creature than of its deadly poison. That spider, whose leg spread measured eight by twelve inches, was making six-foot leaps at the members of Sanderson's expedition. Its half-inch-long fangs could have injected enough poison to kill any of them. The natives considered this spider an embodiment of the devil.

The largest spider in North America is the tarantula. It may have a leg spread of six or seven inches, but its bite is rarely lethal. In fact, people who would die from a tarantula's poison are probably equally sensitive to a bee sting. Therefore, the tarantula is overrated as a menace.

There are only two dangerous spiders in North America. The black widow is one, which gets its name from the mistaken belief that the female kills and eats the male after mating. This is not true.

Drop for drop, the poison of a black widow is about fifteen times more powerful than that of a rattlesnake. However, because the insect injects such small amounts of venom when it bites, few people have been seriously harmed. In fact, death occurs in only about five of one hundred cases of black widow bites.

The other is the little-known brown recluse spider, which is most famous for the violin-shaped mark on its back. There have been very few deaths caused by its bite, but the strength of its poison should still be respected.

Sin, said Paul, has a deadly sting. The poison of that sting is more powerful than that of any insect, for it has resulted in death for all mankind. But the blood of Jesus is its antidote, and all who receive Him will be saved eternally from the sting of death.

Eucharist set Sun.

On Sunday, October 10th, the service at All Saints' Episcopal Church will be an instructed Eucharist. The word Eucharist comes from the Greek meaning Thanksgiving, which all worship should entail. The sermon will be replaced on Sunday with instruction as to meaning and rationale for the various parts of the Holy Communion Service, which will be given by the rector, Father Miller, at different times during the celebration. All persons who would be interested in learning more about the Episcopal Church and her worship are welcome.

The mid-week services of healing, Eucharist and Bible study continue to take place on Wednesday mornings at 10:00 a.m. Inasmuch as the Episcopal Church has a policy of open Communion, members of the community are welcome to participate and receive at our altar.

No school

There will be no school at Ione, or Heppner Friday due to a statewide in-service day for teachers. Teachers will hold professional meetings all over the state Friday.
