

Celebrators gather on United Methodist Church steps after services Sunday.

Methodist Church 100th anniversary held here

People came from Gooding, ID, Vancouver, WA, the Portland area, Salem, Milton-Freewater, Pendleton, and Arlington to join in the 100th Anniversary Celebration at the Heppner United Methodist Church last weekend. Several groups from other Heppner churches also joined in the festivities.

More than 100 partook of the potluck dinner on Saturday night. Pastor Tollefson introduced the visiting clergymen and other guests. Rev. Mel Dixon and his wife Nancy, who served the Heppner church from 1962 into 1969, presented a vocal duet. There was group singing, too, with Pauline Miller, the church organist, accompanying the singers on the piano.

Bishop Jack M. Tuell told about his recent trip to Ireland. His informal remarks were amusing, timely, interesting and inspirational.

Rev. Grace Drake, whose birthday fell that day, was cheered. She spoke the evening's benediction.

Mrs. Herman Green supervised the serving of the dinner assisted by her daughter Margaret, her daughter-in-law, a niece and many of the church ladies. Barbara James decorated the tables and Fay Pierce planned the program.

The Centennial Worship Program on Sunday morning was written by the minister, Steve Tollefson, who led the congregation in the responsive selections and opened and closed the service.

Bishop Tuell's sermon, entitled "Now Thank We All Our God" dealt with the past, present and future of the world church. Mike Howell was liturgist and Pauline Miller offered several special organ selections, "Adagio in D" and "Praise Ye The Triune God." Tom James was candle lighter.

After the worship service, further visiting took place around the refreshment table, arranged by Mrs. Kenneth Batty and Mrs. Howard Bryant in the dining room.

On both Saturday and Sunday, many enjoyed the exhibit arranged by Louise Moyer Wood and others. Especially interesting were displays from the Alec and Mattie Green family and the old Bible and album of pictures loaned by the descendants of Albert Wright.

Several men and women wore remarkable historic clothing for the weekend events. Frances Mitchell came in a 50-year-old dress and Ella Smith and Louise Wood wore dresses much older than that, which they had preserved. Herman Green wore a very fancy vest.

Each person who attended the Centennial was given a souvenir booklet about the Heppner church.

Measure 8 sets increase

If ballot measure 8, the gas tax, passes, Morrow County's estimated apportionment will be $44,056.02. According to the state highway division, the county's total estimated apportionment will jump to $312,412.60 with the increased revenue from the one cent gas tax and the 26 per cent increase to trucks and buses on the weight-mile tax.

In Heppner, the estimated increase will be $7,090.79; in Boardman, $3,080.06; in Ione, $1,794.86; in Irrigon, $1,639.75; and in Lexington, $1,085.78. The estimated apportionment without the revenue in the county is $337,223.83. With the increase of $58,747.26 in the county and cities, the total for the county and cities will be $415,971.19.

This increase would be over the biennium from 1977-79.
