

Ione -Carty road

Jones also told the chamber audience that the petition was being met with mixed reaction in Ione. Jones said that many businessmen did not particularly want the road, but that they had been "pressured" into signing it.

Some businessmen in Ione did express their approval of the petition and its cause, noting that the city could receive some growth if the idea pans out.

Jones said that Ione is making applications and studies of an improved water and sewer system and if that were to be completed in two to three years, it would give Ione a chance to house some of the personnel from Carty.

"There was no enthusiasm from Ione businessmen," Jones said. "They were pressured into signing it (petition)."

The road would add the three and a half miles to the already present 10 miles of Reitmann Grade, making the trip from Ione to Carty about 13-15 miles, depending on curves, Jones said.

Carty would employ a peak working force of about 800 persons. The average employment force is estimated to be 600 through the construction period. This represents an annual construction payroll of about $9 to $10 million.

The plant is scheduled to be developed between 1975 and 1980.

AAUW sets meeting

The Heppner Branch of the American Association of University Women will meet on Tuesday evening, November 2, at the home of Vicki Tollefson.

Inez Erwin and Chloe Pearson are hostesses for the evening and are reminding members that this will be an important planning meeting.

The group's annual Art-factory is set for Saturday, December 5, and this meeting will be used to discuss arrangements and committee assignments for that event.

Jim Durham FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL

Jim Durham is tough.

Jim Durham is opposed to gun control because he feels it would be expensive and ineffective in deterring crime. He favors severe penalties for criminals who use guns in the commission of crimes.

He advocates that Oregon's criminal justice system should include mandatory sentences of a definite period with no parole.

He would direct rehabilitation dollars only to those who make a commitment to change.

He is for removal of the "cloak of secrecy" from around juvenile courts and lowering the age of criminal responsibility from 18 to 16.

Jim Durham is a strong believer in the free enterprise system and in preserving the freedom of the individual to grow and prosper without being shackled by bureaucratic red tape.

Jim Durham believes an expiration date should be placed on all new legislation that could be extended only when results prove the program to be sound.

During the five years Jim has served as Deputy Attorney General, he has been largely responsible for administration of that office. During that time, the workload has nearly doubled, but the number of attorneys has been kept the same.

Jim Durham's experience as Deputy Attorney General uniquely qualifies him for promotion.

Durham is already on the job. Let's keep him in the Attorney General's office. Jim Durham will be happy to explain his position on any issue. If you have a question, send a letter or postcard to Jim at the following address. He will answer you personally.

Paid for by Jim Durham for Attorney General Committee, P.O. Box 3921, Portland, Oregon 97208, Stephen and Cathy Peck, Morrow County Co-Chairmen.
