

Party Line

D: Zita & J Weatherford

About two weeks ago, most of us received a $200.00 check to be used towards the purchase for a set of stainless cookware. All we had to do was add $69.95. The cookware is manufactured by Regal Ware, Inc., Kewaskum, WI.

The price is reasonable, however, the manufacturer says it never sells for anywhere near the price quoted by the International Mail Order Co.

The engagement of Blanche Wise and Judge Paul Jones was announced last week. A spring wedding is planned.

Last Saturday evening was a happy event for the Hisler family. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hisler were celebrating their 48th wedding anniversary. Francine and Tom Bristow, Portland, Joanne and Jim Summers, The Dalles, and Susan and Paul Hisler, Jr., were also present. She was celebrating her 21st birthday.

This Saturday evening will be the first crab feed of this season at the Elks Lodge.

Nancy Parent and daughters, Lisa, Alison and Shelly were weekend visitors at Nancy's parents' home, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Anderson.

We took a ride to The Dalles last Sunday to pick up my daughter, Elizabeth Zita, who had been visiting in Beaverton, and stopped in to say hello to Doris and Art Watkins. Doris is able to get around with the aid of a walker for a little while each day. Art is doing a lot of the housekeeping chores, including the cooking. He makes a good cup of coffee.

The big event of this weekend is the Heppner High play "Charley's Aunt." This is a modern, humorous classic drama. We expect to see everybody at the play on either Friday or Saturday night.

Isn't the "everybody-is-invited" Thanksgiving Day potluck dinner at the Episcopal Parish Hall a nice thing? It has become known as one of Heppner's good Christian gestures these last several years.

How we loved our big shade trees during the summer—but right now, the leaf raking chore is a bit of a nuisance.

When I hear TV weather reporters telling of sleet, snow and ice in the eastern states, I again feel thankful to live here. Haven't we had a splendid fall?

Have you marked your calendar for the Dec. 4 Artifactory and the Dec. 13 Garden Club Christmas Greens Workshop? You better put those down.

Another reminder, the A.A.U.W. hopes you are bringing your surplus books to the Heppner Laundromat or the Ione Post Office.

We hear that the O.W. Cutsforth are such good hunters that they brought in "lots of elk meat." Pretty soon the hunters will all leave our mountains—to return again next fall.

Thanksgiving invitation

Everyone is invited to join in a special service of Thanksgiving at the Heppner United Methodist Church next Wednesday evening, Nov. 24.

The service will be conducted by Rev. Steven Tollefson. It will begin at 7 p.m. A child sitter will be provided so that the small children can be taken to the basement and cared for and the parents can relax and enjoy the service.

Each Sunday morning child care is also provided at the Methodist Church. Parents with young children will find that they are carefully tended.
