This will be the last time I will be writing the local gossip and social items this year. It has come to the point when someone talks to me, they start with "Please don't put this in the paper," or "I have a social item for you." But those items that have not been printed in the column would have added to the column, and would have been lots of fun to write.

A couple of our local citizens took down an airmail box that is perched high in the air to place a Christmas gift and card. Working with a flashlight and a dog barking, they finally put the pole and with box on attached back up, and then called the rancher's wife to tell her where the gift was...Did she climb the pole to get the gift, or is it still there?

Visiting the Howard Pettyjohns over Christmas were their son and wife, Larry and Kerry Pettyjohn, of Burbank, Wash., and daughter and husband Dee Ann and Archie Washington of Portland, Ore. Dean and Bonnie Graves with son Kenny joined them for Christmas dinner.

Zella Prindle and Hazel Guinn, of Fossil, were in Coeur 'D Alene, Ida., for Christmas dinner at the Alan Guinn home. There were 17 members of the family present for the dinner.

Having Christmas Eve dinner at the O.W. Cutsforth home were Vesta Kilkenny, Portland, also her sons Russell, of Portland, Pat, of San Francisco, Calif., John, who is attending the U of Oregon, and daughter Kellie, of Portland.

On Christmas Day, the Cutsforths and Vesta drove to Kennewick, Wash., to join the Jim Uhlers and their family for Christmas dinner.

Visiting with their parents, the E.E. Gontys, over the Christmas holidays were Doug Gonty, who is stationed with the Missile Sight Security in Grand Forks, N. Dak., also Virginia Blevins and family, of Ukiah, Ore. Doug will return to his base Jan. 3, taking the train from Pasco, Wash.

After the 1st of January, Jerry and Joyce Hollomon will be selling shoes at Gonty's Shoe Store, but the name will be the Shoe Box.

Also, Jerry Samples of Kinzua has taken over the Mobil Station. Cliff Reed will be leaving for Nevada.

John Sumner and Linda Williams were married Dec. 18 at the Trinity Episcopal Church in Portland, Ore.

Attending the wedding from this area were John's mother, Rita Sumner, and children Jaci, Sally and Jeff. Also attending were Charley and Cindy Sumner, of Lexington. Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Sumner and Paul and Jean Hansen.

John and Linda are living in Corvallis, where John is attending Oregon State University and Linda is substitute teaching.

Weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Padberg were her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ross, Canby, Ore.

Christmas dinner guests, besides Mr. and Mrs. Ross, included Mr. and Mrs. Ross, included Mrs. Padberg's son, Eldon Tucker and family, Tammie, David, Teresa White and daughter Sabrina, all of Ione, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Tiege and son, Palouse, Wash.

Home for Christmas at the Mike Salings last weekend were their daughter and family, Sheryl and Don Hevener and Brian, McMinnville.

Christmas dinner guests were Mrs. Lena Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. Creston Robinson, all of Heppner; Mr. and Mrs. Dean Robinson, Jacklyn and Natalie, Arlington; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Magill and Stephanie, Pendleton, and the Heveners.

Happy New Year, everyone...

Library accepts carpet as gift

At its December meeting, the Heppner Library Board accepted the gift of used carpeting for the children's room. Several board members hope to have professional help in fitting the carpeting into the room very soon.

Chairman Ed Struthers presided at the monthly business meeting. Myrna Johnson spoke about the need to adopt a firm policy concerning book selections and the acceptance of gift books. The librarian shared correspondence from the State Library and from the Oregon Library Association. She also gave an update on circulation, fine collections, book accessions and library needs.

Library needs discussed were for better desk arrangements for the circulation of books and for the cataloging and processing of books. Chairman Struthers is working on these matters.

It was also pointed out that the card catalog drawers are filling fast and that more drawers will need to be added soon. The librarian and the board recognize that more shelf footage and floor space is needed and are hopeful that with help from the county and city planning experts that they may get applications for grants off to the proper sources of aid.

Board members will be talking with the planners and with various civic organizations about aid to the library. They are grateful to the individuals who have generously supported the library's growth with the gift of many books and other articles during 1976.

Thank you letter

Editor: Words cannot say thanks enough to our customers we have had during the years of business; children that came with their parents are now bringing their children.

Gifts have been sent to England, Austria, Japan and probably to countries we don't know about. Thanks for the help friends have given us from time to time and above all, thanks to our family for the love, help and patience.

Come see us either in our new shop or at home. Happy New Year.

Politics, 1976

Heppner elected as city councilman Cliff Green, Warren Plocharsky, and Hubert Wilson out of a list of four. Mayor Jerry Sweeney also was reelected, unopposed.

In Ione, Mayor Bob Drake is back, unopposed. And council members are Cleo Childers, Linda LaRue and Dorothy Stefani. Lee Padberg became the new mayor of Lexington. He's joined by Vic Klinger, Pat Wright, both unopposed, with Ed Baker and Bill Smith, out of three candidates.

BMCC offers 400 classes

Almost 400 different classes covering a broad range of subject areas will be offered by Blue Mountain Community College during winter term starting Jan. 4.

Although most of the classes will be held on the campus, 98 are scheduled for Heppner, Hermiston, Milton-Freewater and other cities in the college district through the Evening Division.

Pre-registration for evening classes is encouraged to avoid the rush of registration at the first day of classes. Persons may pre-register on the campus through Dec. 29.

Registration for regular day classes will be held Monday, Jan. 3.

About half of the day classes are regular freshman-sophomore level college transfer classes in the humanities, social sciences, music, mathematics, sciences, English, literature, foreign languages, health and physical education, journalism, business, fine arts, speech and drama.

The remainder are occupational classes in agriculture, business, civil engineering and civil drafting technology, electronic engineering technology, photography, radio broadcasting, automotive maintenance, body and fender, diesel and heavy equipment, welding, human services, law enforcement, practical nursing and dental assisting.

Also available are basic education courses in English, reading, spelling, mathematics, study skills, and other subjects. These are available in Pendleton, Milton-Freewater, Heppner, Hermiston, La Grande and The Dalles. Nine classes will be offered winter term in the Heppner-Ione-Lexington area through BMCC, in addition to the current offerings in adult basic education.

To be available in Heppner will be evening courses in gymnastics, 7:30-10 p.m.

Mondays; typing, 7-10 p.m. Tuesdays; everyday law, 7:30-9:30 p.m. Wednesdays, and interior design, 7:30-9:30 p.m. Thursdays. All will be held in the high school except gymnastics, which will be at the junior high school.

Courses in Lexington, all to be held in the Lexington School, will be private pilot ground school, 7-10 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays; expectant parents class, 7:30-9:30 p.m. Mondays; basic spoken Spanish III, 7:30-9:30 p.m. Tuesdays, and advanced and beginners tile painting, 7-10 p.m. Tuesdays.

Also scheduled is a class in cake decorating, to be held in the Ione High School Home Economics room from 7:30-9:30 p.m. Mondays.

Persons may register at BMCC or at the first class session. For more information persons are asked to call Anne Doherty, 989-8566.

Adult basic education, GED and Adult High School Diploma programs will continue to be available at the Heppner Neighborhood Center from 7-10 p.m. Thursdays and 1-2 p.m. Saturdays.

Elvyn Bell

Kinzua graduate

Elvyn Bell, Heppner, employed by Kinzua Corp., was among a group of eight to be graduated Dec. 17 from the Stetson-Ross Planer's Vocational Training School held at Seattle, Wash.

The course, thought to be the only training program for planers in North America, consists of approximately 100 hours of classroom instruction using a 200-page manual, supplemented by shop practice and field visits to planing mills. Certificates of satisfactory completion are awarded to students at a dinner meeting that concludes each monthly program.

Stetson-Ross is a major manufacturer of planing mill machinery, including high production planer-matchers, automatic trimmers, grade-makers and related equipment in worldwide use.

Corp. awarded $248,268

Western Empire Corporation, Boardman, was awarded $248,268 last week by Morrow County Circuit Court in a jury suit against two firms for damage to a 1974 potato crop. The suit requested the compensation for damages resulting from a chemical residue which raised chlordin levels above allowable limits. The jury took four and a half hours to reach the decision at the conclusion of the five day trial.

The chemical, 72-E-C-F, was marketed in the Northwest in 1974 without adequate testing, the firm charged. The manufacturer, Velsicol Chemical Corporation of Delaware, had recommended mixing 10 pounds to the acre with fertilizer when applied.

Chlordane residue found in potato skins was above the maximum allowed by the Food and Drug Administration and Environmental Protection Agency. Some of the potato skins contained more than twice the allowable residue, the corporation said. Western Empire eventually sold its 1974 crop to a french fried potato processor.

Named as a defendant in the suit along with Velsicol Corp. was Collier Carbon and Chemical Corp. of California, which does business in the Hermiston area as Agri-Chem.

The court's decision placed 70 per cent of the blame on Velsicol and 30 per cent on Collier Carbon and Chemical.
