

Hair styling

Ione grad ranks among experts

Les Madden, a 1963 graduate of Ione High School, has made a name for himself in the hair styling world.

Madden, who owns and operates Magnum Opus, "Hair cutting with thought," in Portland, was in Hermiston Sunday, giving a show and clinic at The Hair Stall.

Gary Ostrum, Hermiston, owner of The Hair Stall, invited Madden to give the clinic to Hermiston and Pendleton barbers and hair stylists.

Madden did two styles on models for the barbering audience in the morning, then supervised cutting and styling in the afternoon.

After attending school and graduating at Ione, Madden attended Columbia Basin College in Pasco. He then worked in a styling shop in Portland for two and a half years.

He opened his own shop in Portland and operated it for six years, but gave it up. He went to Europe for four months, studying hair styling, precision cutting and even competed in the European championships.

He came back to Portland and organized his progressive salon, Magnum Opus, where he has operated on South West Taylor for the last three years. The salon employs nine persons.

Madden's occupation doesn't keep him at home in Portland. He is constantly on the road during weekends, he said, giving clinics, teaching and going to shows.

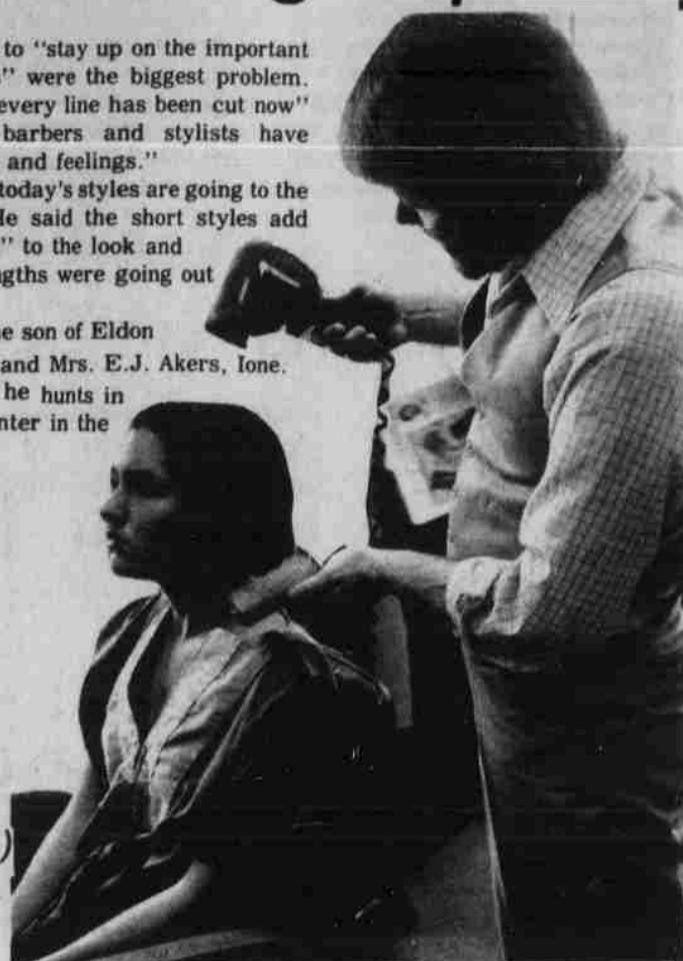

He recently attended the world championships in New York, where 90,000 people attended.

Madden said to "stay up on the important things, feelings" were the biggest problem. Madden said "every line has been cut now" but different barbers and stylists have different "flair and feelings."

Madden said today's styles are going to the shorter look. He said the short styles add "more softness" to the look and that longer lengths were going out of style.

Madden is the son of Eldon Madden, Ione, and Mrs. E.J. Akers, Ione.

Madden said he hunts in the fall and winter in the area.

Four Heppner mill teams win

Kinzua safety winners named

The eleventh month of the Kinzua Corporation safety contest ended on Jan. 1. Four Kinzua and Eastern Oregon Logging teams and four teams from Kinzua's Heppner Mill ended the eleventh month with no lost time accidents, Barbara Pike reports.

As an award for working safely, each man on the eight winning teams received fifty dollars cash. In addition, each team held a drawing among their members, with the winner given a choice between a twenty-five inch color TV and a 30-06 rifle with scope sight.

Eastern Oregon Logging's winning teams were E Team with John McCulloch the winner of a 25 inch color TV; Team C's winner, Mike Todd, picked the 30-06 rifle; Team D's winner was Ronald Prindle, who also took the TV. The powerhouse and bull gang team at Kinzua winner was Ralph Wilson, who also picked the TV set.

Winning teams from the company's Heppner mill were

Plywood, Millwright and Janitors, with the winner, North Diggins, taking a TV; Garry Ball was the winner from the Swingshift Log Yard. He chose the 30-06; the Dayshift Sawmills' lucky winner, Bob Shuman, opted for the TV; Carston Brandhagen, the winner from the Swingshift Sawmill, took the TV set, too.

There is one more two month period left before the safety contest ends. The men on these teams have found that safety really pays.

Education grant forms available at library

Application forms for 1977-78 basic educational opportunity grants have arrived at the public library in Heppner. Persons interested in a grant award should understand that unlike a loan, it does not have to be repaid. It is estimated that during the 1977-78 academic year, the awards will probably range between $200 and $1,400.

To qualify, a student must not have received a Bachelor's degree, must show financial need, must enroll on at least a half-time basis in an eligible program at one of the over 5,000 colleges, universities, vocational, technical, or career training schools which have been determined eligible for the program.
