SC girls blast Card netters

Sherman County girls destroyed lone girls Saturday, en route to a team victory, 7-4. Ione's boys held on for a 3-1 dual meet victory.

In the boys' action, Rick Gilbert beat Rick Stephens, 6-2 and 6-2 in the only singles match. In doubles, Dennis Stefani-Dan McElligott teamed for a split set win.

The duo beat Brett Gray-Collin Kaseberg, 6-4, 5-7 and 7-5. Stuart Keene-Clint Carlson fell in the only lone boys' loss, 7-5 and 6-2. Gilbert teamed with Keene for a pro-set win, 8-1 over George Hattup-Gary Parrish.

Ione's girls lost all but the number four doubles match. Arlene Cannon-Kim Cofenas dumped Krista Anderson-Trina Eaken, 8-1.

In singles, Susan Thompson dropped a 6-3 and 6-2 match to Jill Moreau. Cannon and Cofenas followed with singles losses in pro-sets.

Carol McElligott-Natalie Tews fell, 6-1 and 6-1 in first doubles before Jan Peterson-Tammy Tucker and Michelle McElligott-Martha McElligott each fell in pro-sets.

Ione net squad gets 6-5 PR win

Behind a girls' win, Ione's netters escaped with a 6-5 team victory over the Rockets of Pilot Rock Thursday.

Ione's girls won 4-2 to make up for a 3-2 boys' loss. Susan Thompson led the way with a 6-0, 6-0 blanking of PR first singles, Tammy Corner. Kim Cofenas fell 8-4 in a pro-set to Becky Bense, but Jan Peterson took an 8-4 win from Cathy Parker.

In doubles, Bense-Cathy Ulrich combined to dump Ione's Carol McElligott-Natalie Tews, 6-4 and 6-2. Peterson-Tammy Tucker won an 8-1 pro-set from Laura Weinke-Lisa Kinkad and Michelle and Martha McElligott beat Cyrene Liles-Cher Florey, 8-2.

Rick Gilbert fell in the first singles match to Tim Pilch, 6-7, 6-2 and 6-3 before Dennis Stefani tried it alone and dusted back Warren Wolfgram, 8-3.

In doubles, Stefani-Dan McElligott fell 6-1 and 6-3 to Wes Harrison-Gary Hemenway. Dave Pedro-Bo Liebe took a split set win from Stuart Keene-Clint Carlson, 4-6, 6-0 and 6-3 before Gilbert-Carlson teamed for an 8-0 pro-set win.

CBC West pre-view

Sherman, Wasco, Condon

By WIL PHINNEY
 Sports Editor

During the early pre-season, Heppner's Mustangs have looked pretty promising. But they'll have to be more than promising to emerge from the Columbia Basin West with a play-off spot.

Sherman County, a perennial state leading powerhouse, leads the cast of three CBC foes Heppner will have to work against in their half of the conference. Wasco County and Condon, both with optimistic coaches, are also contending for a play-off berth.

The play-off team from the CBC east is a different story. See it next week. The victor will take the spoils from its foes, consisting of favorite Weston-McEwen and Umatilla, with Oregon Trail, Riverside and Pilot Rock hoping to figure into a race.

In the CBC west, things are starting to take form as the early league season rolls around. Heppner opens the 1977 diamond calendar with Wasco County Tuesday. Two more league games, Condon April 29 and Sherman May 3, follow before a non-counting tilt with Riverside splits things up. Three more straight league contests follow with Wasco, Condon and Sherman in the same order.

SHERMAN COUNTY HUSKIES
 Stats: 7-4 pre-season mark, including wins over Corbett, Stevenson, Wa., Goldendale, Wa., Culver and Wahtonka. Coach Howard Ediger.

Ediger figures the Huskies to "do well." He's rightly optimistic, eyeing an almost full roster of returning lettermen.

All-conference pitcher last season, Paul Fritts, returns as a senior to Ediger's roster. He'll undoubtedly strengthen Sherman as they "go for the number one spot."

Along with Fritts, the Husky roster includes: Larry Melzer, catcher; Craig Colquitt, first base; Jim McNab, second or third (designated hitter last year); Phil Wooderson, shortstop or second; Don Decker, third base veteran; Kevin Caseberg, sophomore center fielder, currently leading team with .526 batting average over 11 games; Craig Lohrey, center fielder, starter last year and number two hurler behind Fritts this year; Bruce Olsen, right field letterman.

Ediger: pitching fairly strong. If consistency comes with second, third pitchers, be ok. Hitting "surprise," above .300 as team. Defense inconsistent, weakest point. Speed average to good, "maybe better." Some knee operations, but so far, healthy.

Fritts, 4-0, leads Husky pitchers Lohrey, Decker, Phil Coleman. Ediger watches Woodside at Wasco and possible transfer Shaffer in Condon to lead those clubs competitively. Knows little of Heppner.

CONDON BLUE DEVILS
 Stats: 2-6 pre-season mark with wins over Riverside and Arlington, only two teams they've played. Coach Jack McIntosh.

McIntosh sees Condon as a "strong" team that should "compete well with the teams in the league." He'll have to rely on somewhat of a young team, sporting four senior starters.

A transfer junior, Brian Shaffer, may see quite a little action on the mound for Condon. Sherman Coach Ediger knows of the Evergreen hurler from Vancouver.

He's listed by McIntosh as the number one peger. The right hander hasn't thrown a complete game this year. Back up will be Les Rovska, a left handed sophomore.

Others: Tom Bare, catcher; Randy Anderson, outfield; Dan Jamison, outfield; Brian Harris, shortstop and pitcher. Between those four seniors, there is more than 10 years varsity experience.

More: John Barnett, junior first baseman with two years exp.; Max McIntosh (same name as the coach), a junior second sacker with a couple years under his belt.

Hitting power is somewhat unknown right now. Bare and Ted Rouska, Les' brother, are leading the Condon stickers. McIntosh had no comment on particular teams he faces this year in the CBC.

WASCO COUNTY REDSIDES

Stats: 6-9 pre-season mark. Wins over White Salmon, Culver twice, Dufur twice, Wahtonka freshmen. Coach James Rogers.

It may be appropriate that Redside and Woodside go together. The names have been synonymous since Jeff Woodside began high school sports in Wasco County.

Woodside is a threat to any CBC team in the conference from his attacking position on the mound. Every CBC coach who doesn't know the name, will before the season is over.

All-Conference last year, Woodside and Alan McCorkle, a base hitting first sacker and relief pitcher are the only two seniors on the Wasco County team.

Despite their youngness, Rogers thinks that with "good play in the field, we can beat a lot of teams." White Salmon's 4-3 win sticks in Rogers' mind.

"No mistakes in the field," he said, "and that's been our problem all year." Rogers optimistically said Wasco County "could beat any team on a given day."

The big pivot point is Woodside. "If we can play ball behind Woodside," Rogers noted, Wasco County can win.

Woodside is 4-4 right now. It's been fielding errors that account for the four losses. His ERA is almost too low to figure. He's given up four runs in 40 innings of baseball.

Along with Woodside, Charlie Henry, a 2-5 junior, will see mound duty. But Henry, Rogers said, must rely on defensive triumphs in order to make things work on the mound. While Henry forces batters to fly out and ground out, Woodside blows it by them.

Not a bad combo. McCorkle is currently hitting about .290 with Woodside at .278. Larry Peterson, catcher, is at .268. Quickness isn't overabounding, but Henry and Woodside have nine stolen bases between them. Wasco County will enjoy a bunt with Henry on base.

"We're working things to improve our defense," Rogers said. "We played Bend frosh and I wasn't unhappy with the loss." Wasco fell in extra innings on a third strike-out by Woodside where Peterson dropped the third strike. The runner reached first on the knuckle ball get-away and an ensuing basehit took its toll.

"We could be tough to beat," Rogers prophesies.

Mustangs stomp Umatilla, 11-4

Heppner's Mustang diamond nine added Umatilla to their list of pre-season favorite victims last week, bouncing the Vikings, 11-4.

Heppner has split with Weston-McEwen, who, along with Umatilla, have been tagged by league coaches as the two favorites this year.

Umatilla was little problem for Heppner Friday. The Mustangs pounded out eight hits while Dennis Peck, going all seven innings, threw a seven hitter at the Vikings and struck out seven.

The Mustangs continued their rallying flurries, burying Umatilla's Mike Brown on the mound in the first inning. Heppner crowned Brown with three hits, four walks and eight runs in the first stanza.

After one inning, Heppner held a commanding 8-1 lead and had ridged itself of Brown. Guy Journot came on to relieve and finished the contest for the Viks, giving up four more hits in five innings.

Umatilla's only try at a comeback failed in the third inning. Jeff Watson, who scored in the first inning after singling, doubled to start the third. Brown singled, Journot used an error, then Fisher and Bledsoe singled, back-to-back, to produce three runs.

Just for a cushion, Heppner stung Coach Jim McGraw's Vikings again in the fourth with three more runs and the game ending, 11-4 tally. Dave Allstott walked and Randy Worden was hit by a pitch following two straight balls.

Mike Stookey singled before Kindall Thomas singled to left for three of his game high four runs-batted-in.

Jim Kenny was the Mustang leading sticker, smacking two singles in three trips to the plate. Ironically, Kenny scored
