Leadership for Morrow 4-H

We salute the new officers of the north and south Morrow leaders councils, as they assume the leadership of the 4-H program for the coming year. Recently selected officers for the south council are: Jim Hayes, Heppner, chairman; Phyl Piper, Lexington, secretary; and Judy Laughlin, Heppner, treasurer. Officers for the north council are Lois Richards, chairman; Francine Evans, secretary; and Rose Wilson, treasurer; all Irrigon residents.

The above officers will make up the executive committee of the Morrow County 4-H Council, and as such will meet regularly to make recommendations concerning operation of the youth development program, as well as to conduct the regular business. Both councils will meet independently, as well as attend a number of joint meetings of the entire group of leaders throughout the program year.

As the new officers begin their terms of service to the program, we encourage all leaders to step forward and assist with the work of the council, as well as offer their support and encouragement to those they have chosen as their officers. A strong, enthusiastic group of 4-H leaders, sharing in decisions relating to the program offers many pluses to the program. We believe the 4-H youth program in our county is the leader's program...and we welcome the assistance and leadership of the council!

New Leaders...New Leaders!!

We have them! And we are so super excited and delighted! As one by one they come to offer their leadership for clubs in the county, we feel that 4-H is really on the move! We welcome the following new leaders to the 4-H family: Karen Palmer, Heppner, Beginning Clothing; Theta Lowe, Heppner, Patchwork; Jim Hayes, Heppner, Livestock; Jennifer Breeden, Lexington, Livestock; Doug Howell, Irrigon, Ceramics; Lavelle Conboy, Irrigon, Tole; Gladys Hobbs, Irrigon, Beginning Clothing; Arnold Ball, Irrigon, Livestock; Ken Miller, Heppner, Gardening and Flowers; Todd Harrison, Lexington, (Teen leader), Survival; Gail Hughes, Heppner, Clothing; Bunny Lindsey, Heppner, Bachelor Foods and Food Preservation; Carol Adams, Heppner, Bachelor Foods; Linda Schultz, Heppner, Clothing...to name a few...Others who have previously been leaders, but who are changing projects or adding additional clubs are Francine Evans, Irrigon, Foods; Liz Curtis, Heppner, Geology; Mary Lou Daltoso, short term projects for Cake Decorating. There are many opportunities for others interested in leadership...4-H has sixty written projects, and others may be developed to fit our special needs!

Style Show of Fall Fashions
Fall fashions offer many new looks this year, and the lucky gal who can sew her own, or those interested in seeing exciting new fabrics and looking for ideas on wardrobe planning will be happy to hear they have an opportunity to attend a special style show Simplicity Pattern Company has made available a wardrobe of new adult fashions, which will be modeled by local women, Saturday, October 29, 2 p.m., at West of Willow restaurant, Heppner.

We decided to make this special afternoon a double-header. Come, enjoy coffee, see the new fashions modeled by some of the county's loveliest homemakers, and make a small donation to the International Four-H Youth Exchange program. The IFYE program brings many international visitors to our county, as well as offering opportunity for Oregon youth to travel abroad. The program is supported by donations, and recently has had many financial problems.

4-H Family Night Planned for October 30

The special night for recognizing all 4-H members, and having a good old fashioned Halloween family party, is set for Sunday evening, October 30, 6 p.m. at the Fair Pavilion. Plans call for a potluck dinner to start the evening's events, followed by old time games and fun for the Halloween season, recognition of members, presentation of county medal awards, and hopefully, a showing of favorite slides of 4-H activities or members. All attending are asked to bring one or two of their favorite slides to be included in the slide show...they may be oldies or new ones.

Bring the family, your favorite potluck dish, and join the 4-H Family Night. Coffee, rolls, plates, and such miscellaneous items will be furnished by the 4-H Council. Older youth in the 4-H program will be in charge of games and fun!

Leader Teacher Training, October 25

Study group leader teachers are reminded training for "The Natural Look", a skin care lesson, is scheduled for October 25, 10 a.m. at the Civic Recreation Building, Hermiston or October 26, Room 106, BMCC, Pendleton. Morrow teachers may choose the training most convenient for them to attend. Lesson will be given by Molly Saul.
