WILLY WONKA AND THE CHOCOLATE FACTORY

Gene Wilder (pictured), currently on theater screens as 'The World's Greatest Lover,' will return to TV as the world's greatest confectioner when NBC-TV rescreens the widely-acclaimed musical fantasy 'Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory' Sunday, Jan. 15. The all-family movie features Peter Ostrum as Charlie Bucket, a poor but honest newsboy, and Jack Albertson as Charlie's grandpa Joe.

Willy Wonka offers to five children holding lucky candy bars a grand prize—a tour of his factory and a lifetime supply of candy. Chaos arises worldwide as anxious children vie for the gold-ticketed bars. When the five winners are announced, Charlie's dreams are shattered but he gains new hope when one winner is exposed as a fraud.

The film is based on the popular children's book 'Charlie and the Chocolate Factory' by British author Roald Dahl, who also wrote the screenplay.

PBS in the spotlight

ERIC HOFFER: The Crowded Life

Eric Hoffer has crowded many roles into his life—migrant farm worker, social philosopher, self-educated scholar, longshoreman, research professor, author—punctuated with achievement, blindness and tragic loss.

That fascinating life will be profiled when PBS airs ERIC HOFFER: THE CROWDED LIFE Tuesday, Jan. 17.

Critics have applauded and chastised Hoffer as a "homegrown guru," "blue-collar Plato," "lowbrow highbrow," "idealist without illusions" and "mid-20th-century descendant of a cracker-barrel philosopher."

To date he has written eight books: 'The True Believer' (1951), 'The Passionate State of Mind' (1955), 'The Ordeal of Change' (1963), 'The Temper of Our Time' (1967), 'Working and Thinking on the Waterfront' (1969), 'First Things, Last Things' (1971), 'Reflections on the Human Condition' (1973) and 'In Our Time' (1976). His ninth will be published this spring.

THE AMERICAN MUSIC AWARDS

David Soul, Natalie Cole (both pictured) and Glen Campbell will co-host the fifth annual presentation of 'The American Music Awards,' live from the Santa Monica (Calif.) Civic Auditorium on ABC-TV Monday, Jan. 16.

Top recording artists highlight the glittering evening of entertainment for the American Music Awards—the only major entertainment award determined by the votes of music fans—presented annually to the artists for their accomplishments in the fields of pop-rock, country and soul music.

Campbell makes his third consecutive appearance as host in the country music category. Miss Cole hosts the soul category of the awards program and Soul hosts the pop-rock category.

Nominations for the awards are compiled from the year-end charts of the leading music industry publications.
