

Morrow County's Jeff Hams, who caught two of the Hermiston American's three District Tournament games collected two singles in the American's 7-4 win over the Hood River Americans and knocked in a key run in the seventh inning.

Morrow players blast homers in Babe Ruth Tourney

The Hermiston Nationals Babe Ruth All Star team, which includes four Morrow County baseball standouts, finished fourth in district Babe Ruth playoff action which ended on Sunday.

Starting the tourney on the right foot the Hermiston Nationals overpowered the Pendleton Americans 8-0 in the first game. Hermiston pitcher Roy Rodriguez took care of the defense during that contest, striking out seven batters. Morrow County's John Bier was the sparkplug of Hermiston's scoring drive. In the fourth inning, Bier slugged a home run, which led off a six run scoring spree.

A 12-13 loss to The Dalles Colilo last Friday came during the Hermiston Nationals' second game of the tournament, which featured Morrow County's John Bier as starting pitcher.

The game proved to be a cliffhanger, with Hermiston rallying for three runs in the last inning, only to have a squeeze bunt play backfire to end the game.

The last inning scoring drive was credited to Morrow County's John Murray, who belted a home run with two men on. Teammate Doug Holland followed Murray's blast with a single, but was left stranded at third. A tie game would have resulted had Holland been batted in.

Holland was hot at the plate during that game, belting out a three-run homer in the sixth.

During the third game of the tournament, the Hermiston Nationals faced the Hermiston Americans in a battle of the bats.

The Nationals eventually won the slugfest 18-14, although the Americans tallied the majority of hits—17 to the Nationals' 14. Errors offset the American's hitting success, with Americans' fielders committing 10 miscues.

Morrow Countians John Bier had three hits, and John Murray two during that contest.

The fourth game of tournament action proved to be the last for the Hermiston Nationals, as they met defeat at the hands of the Hood River Nationals.

During that Saturday night game, Hermiston was held to six hits and only one run, while Hood River tallied eight runs. The game was tied at one run each going in to the third inning, when Hood River put it away by exploding for six runs.

Hood River went on to face the Pendleton Nationals for the championship game, with Pendleton prevailing to win the championship 14-8.

The tournament was held in Pendleton.

Jim Swanson, the Morrow County Babe Ruth manager, served as manager of the Hermiston Nationals All Star team. Morrow County players on the team were John Bier, Rick Cole, Doug Holland, and John Murray. Bier, Murray and Holland all tagged home runs during the playoffs. Cole finished the series with four hits in eight trips to the plate. Morrow County's Jeff Hams played on the Hermiston

Americans squad, but failed to see as much action as his former teammates since the Americans were eliminated from competition earlier in the playoffs.

During the Hermiston Americans lone win of the tourney, a 7-4 trimming of the Hood River Americans, Hams was 2 for 3 at the plate.

Grasshoppers a headache for farmers

Scattered infestations of grasshoppers have been reported in Morrow County, causing headaches for area farmers and gardeners, according to County Extension Agent Harold Kerr.

While the insects are causing problems, damage is not nearly as severe as is being experienced in several other western states such as Colorado.

To curb the grasshoppers activities around yards and gardens, Kerr recommends spraying foliage to the saturation point with a solution of 2 tablespoons Malathion or Sevin per gallon of water.

"Young grasshoppers are easier to kill than adults, so control should be done now if they are a problem," said Kerr.

The county agent noted that repeated spraying will be necessary. The chemicals involved kill only on contact with the insects. When new grasshoppers move into the yard or garden, plants must be sprayed again.

Over The Tee Cup

By Cindy Kerr

Results from this week on the gold course, in men's play, saw Ray Massey win low gross, and Harold Kerr win low net. Jim Doherty won the least putt award and Doherty also won the K.P. contest. Craig Cooley was the long driver.

Bev Gunderson was low gross in Ladies play, while Pat Edmundson took low net.

Sharon Harrison and Roberta Klaus won the special prize.

Ladies Tuesday morning play has gone under some changes. First they broke off into 18-holes and 9-holes. The 18 holes start at 7:30 and the 9-holes start at 8:30.

Saturday July 22, Heppner men and women golfers will travel to Condon.

Cabe, and Dan Mathews and a double by Rowell. Mathews was the only one unable to score.

Erico got on the scoreboard with two runs.

Kinzua triggered back in the fourth as a single by Dave Eckman was brought in by a Jamie Sands home run.

Erico tied the score in the fifth, as they scored six runs.

Kinzua had two runs in the fifth as John McCabe scored and Gary Kemp scored by sacrifices by Mike Rowell and Ron Bowman. George Waterland was left on base.

The last run clinched the victory for Kinzua as Jamie Sands scored on a triple by Jamie Query's sacrifice.

Gribble attends education confab

Lowell Gribble of Ultrasonic Inc., Heppner, is participating in the 56th annual A.A. Cleveland Conference in education July 12-14 at Washington State University.

Gribble is a member of a workshop panel discussing "Establishing Good Maintenance Programs" at the event, which is a highlight of the Summer Session at WSU. It is named for the late Dean of the College of Education, Alfred A. Cleveland, who was at WSU from 1907 to 1948.

This year's conference is featuring a series of five workshops on establishing good maintenance programs, educational program planning, comprehensive educational planning, energy conservation techniques and surplus buildings in school districts. Participants also include Dr. Frank C. Brouillet, state superintendent of public instruction.
