New procedures set for fair entries

Persons wishing to enter animals or items in the 1978 Umatilla County Fair will find a new entry procedure to follow. Unlike in previous years, there is now no pre-entry required. However livestock exhibitors must still indicate by July 21 the kinds and numbers of animals (includes poultry and rabbits) they wish to enter. This is to be done by completing the appropriate form in the premium book or by obtaining one from the Fair or Extension offices. Open class livestock exhibitors should also make their entry fee payment when returning this form.

A three-sectional exhibit card must be filled out for each item entered

These should accompany item or animal on entry day; Monday, August 7 for most items and poultry and rabbits (some floriculture on Thursday), and Tuesday, August 8 for livestock.

In addition to the exhibit card an exhibitor number will be assigned each person or club entering this year. This may be picked up (in person) at the fairgrounds beginning August 1 or on entry day.

Premium Books, livestock "kind and number" forms and exhibit cards are available at the Fair office and at the Extension offices in Pendleton, Milton-Freewater and Hermiston. For further details phone the Fair office at 567-6121.

Kinzua news

• Barbara Pike

The Jack Williamson family is back at its home in Camp Five following a two-week trip to Sacramento, Calif. Jack and Sandy and their two children, Annette and Justin, left June 29 to visit friends and check out the employment picture in the area.

Bob and Laurie Hire and children were in Kinzua Monday. Bob was here working while Laurie and the children spent the day with Bob's sister, Sue Mattison, and family.

Jiggs and Rita Bowman enjoyed a long weekend visit from their daughter-in-law, Robin, and their two granddaughters, Erika and Nathalie. The young Bowman's were without husband and father Joe, who is in California attending the National X-Ray Convention. Robin and her children returned home to Portland Monday to prepare for a trip to Boise, Idaho. Don't think that Rita and Jiggs are at home without company...they are babysitting...or dog-sitting Joe and Robin's dog Toby. Maybe Toby will help them stay busy while their Cindy is at the Cascade Basketball Camp this week.
