

Exhibitors get ready for Morrow County Fair opening

With the Morrow County Fair less than a month away it is time for exhibitors to begin thinking about what they would like to show off this year. Premium books have been out for some time but for those who may have been missed, additional books are available at the post offices in Lexington, Ione, Boardman and Irrigon and at the Coast to Coast Store in Heppner. Or books will be sent by calling fair secretary, Liz Curtis, at 676-9454.

Wheat ranchers are encouraged to show grain this year, as the crop now being harvested looks markedly improved over last year's crop. Morrow County Fair always boasts one of the finest grain exhibits of any county fair in the state.

Another fine show is the poultry and rabbit section of the fair. Jerry Rood and Irene Anhorn are making plans to enlarge the exhibit area for this year. A division for Guinea Pigs has been added to this year's list in the premium book.

Artists take note that a new idea has been added to the painting section of the fair. Not only will the official judge select the painting she thinks is the best, but the public will have the opportunity to select their favorite painting. A special ribbon will be awarded both selections. The "Viewer's Choice" ribbon will be awarded at 6:30 p.m. Sunday evening of the fair.

Last year the Children's Corner was the largest section of the fair. It promises to be even better this year. It is now divided into two age groups. Kid's Corner is for all kids through the age of six. Super Kids Corner is for kids ages 7 through 12.

Father Ken Miller has made many improvements in the flower section. He has also added a list of hints for the flower exhibitor on page 38 of the premium book.

In the food's section, a new class has been added called "fancy party desserts". It is for edible type party favors. The Wheatheart's Fudge-Mal-low Cake looks tempting in the Wheat League Cake baking competition. Will Cheryl Ammons of Boardman, take the prize again this year, or can she be beaten?

Last year's new display area for arts and crafts set off that section to great advantage. It would be nice to see a lot more crafts on exhibit this year. It is hoped that the fine display of paintings brought in last year will be even better this year.

Although harvest appears to be running late this year all Morrow County is encouraged to take a rest August 19 and 20, Saturday and Sunday and enjoy the 1978 Morrow County Fair.

Emergency Medical Techs set classes for August

The Heppner Chapter of Emergency Medical Technicians met last week to plan EMT I classes scheduled to begin next month. The group also received instruction on the use of the short backboard, utilized in moving patients with possible back or neck injuries.

Persons interested in taking the EMT I course are urged to contact Betty Curnutt at 676-5589, Ruby Munkers at 676-5028, or Scott Mason at 676-5129. Any local emergency medical technician who does not belong to the Heppner chapter and wishes to join is also urged to contact the persons mentioned above.

The local EMTs handle ambulance calls on a volunteer basis.

Alpha Theta chapter plans calendar sale fund raiser

At a cookout on the courthouse lawn, Alpha Theta chapter of E.S.A International launched its 1978 Community Calendar fund raising program.

Ramona Marshall, Calendar Chairman, explained that during the following two-week period members were to sell calendars. These calendars are unique and of special interest due to the fact that they contain birthdates and anniversary dates of participating families.

Although Alpha Theta's cost for the calendars has risen, the membership voted to sell them at the same price as usual. That is one dollar for the calendar and 25c for each listing.

Advertisements on the calendars will be handled by Rita Harris, Barbara James and Barbara Anotequi.

Funds will be used for the club's philanthropic projects which this year will include Pioneer Memorial Hospital, St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital, World Hunger, The Easter Seal Hospital, The Kidney Association of Oregon, Camp Meadowood Speech Camp, The Doctors Search Committee of Morrow County and other local, state and national charities.

Last year Alpha Theta won third place at E.S.A State Convention for monies raised for philanthropic projects.

Immunization clinics set for students

Oregon's compulsory school immunization law states that prior to initial enrollment in school, every child in the 5-14 year old age group must be immunized against polio, measles, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and rubella.

Morrow County School District also requires a completed Oregon Pupil Medical Record (Goldenrod) on all students starting either kindergarten or first grade for the first time, and on all ninth graders.

In an attempt to make these requirements easier to comply with, Morrow County Health Department has planned the following clinics:

PRESCHOOL Physical Assessment and Immunizations for Boardman-Irrigon students—August 17—A. C. Houghton Grade School, call 922-3321 for appointments.

PRESCHOOL Physical Assessment and Immunizations for Heppner, Lexington and Ione students—August 18—Heppner Grade School, call 989-8256 for appointments.

Heppner Swim Team trounces Enterprise

The Heppner Swim Team logged an impressive 100 point victory over Enterprise during a weekend road trip, despite three days without practice due to last week's water outage.

placed first in the breast stroke and butterfly events for his age group; and Shelly Biddle, who came in first in the freestyle, backstroke and individual medley.

On Saturday, Heppner swimmers will travel to Prineville, then host a home meet on Monday against "B" teams from The Dalles and Hermiston.
