Happiness is a.... ...a warm puppy, a ribbon and a silver dollar for competing in the Pet Show at the Morrow County Fair.

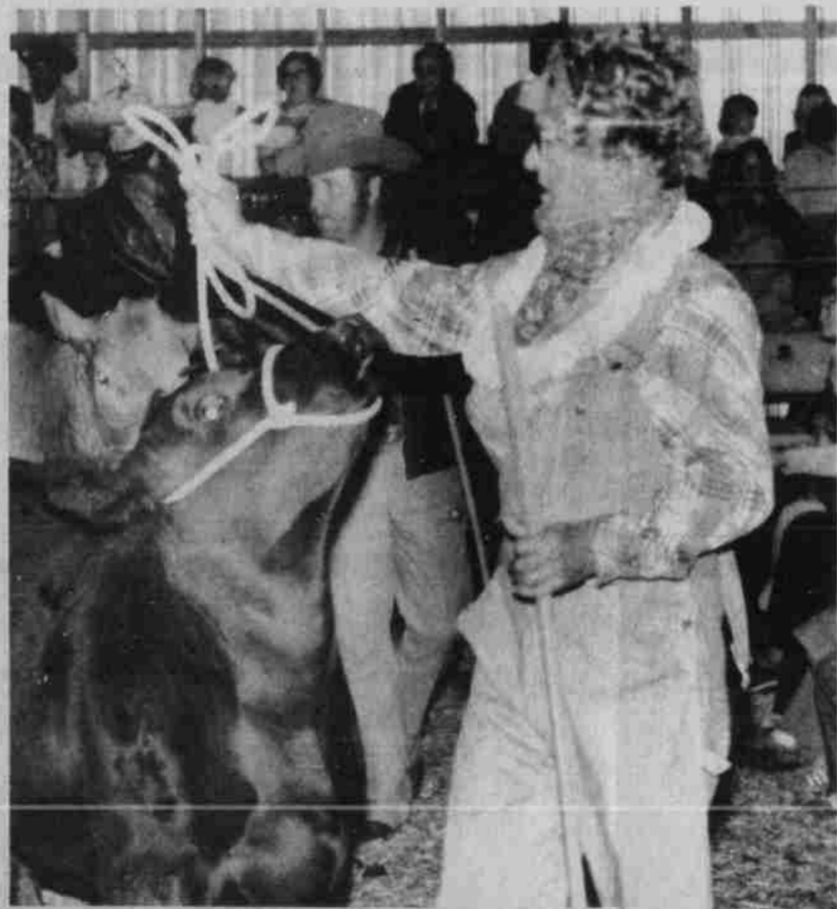

What-am-I-bid for this tuber?

Gary Grieb scans the crowd for a bid on some of Morrow County's finest at the potato auction. Proceeds from the auction go towards a covered exhibit building fund. Holding the spuds is D.O. Nelson, the first man to raise potatoes commercially in Morrow County.

You really moo-o-ve me!

Who wouldn't be moved by a get-up like that. This competitor in the adult showmanship contest would only give her stage name of D.O.-D.O.

The farmer's daughter

Phyllis Kroll played the part of the farmer's daughter during the adult livestock showmanship contest at the fair...and took top honors.

Just my size.....

Don Robinson looked the part and did a fine job of showing his favorite cow pony.

Letting fly....

Rod Cole worked up a good spittle and really let go to take top honors in the distance event during the tobacco spitting contest. He put the juice 18 feet-10 inches.
