

Information inventory underway at Heppner Public Library

Jerry and Lyn Brewster who are working on an information inventory under a $23,000 grant from the State Library Services and Construction Act made their first visit to Heppner on Wednesday, August 23.

They looked through the Heppner Library and the Morrow County Museum and its schoolhouse annex. They took a copy of the history of the local library with them, noting that "this is the only one of the libraries we have visited that has had a written history."

Their research encompasses libraries in 32 communities in the five counties of the East Central Oregon Association of Counties. They are talking with citizens and officials about the public's needs for information and about the variety of resources available in each community.

The grant under which the couple is employed was written by BMCC Librarian Mary Bates and former Umatilla County Librarian John Switzer. ECOAC is a test area and this Brewster research may set a pattern for future dealings with libraries throughout the state.

The Brewsters found that both the older printed state library catalog and the new microfiche listings are in use here. They also saw the rare, old books and the collection of state and area books and pamphlets held by the Heppner Library.

The researchers left citizen response sheets at the circulation desk which should be completed and mailed post-free ECOAC to assist in determining the types of information and the services most desired by the residents of this area.

Bernard and Carol Dyer and sons left after Bernard's shift ended at midnight Tuesday for Banks where they visited with Bernard's sister and family, Laura and Jim Lyche. Thursday the Dyers went on to Westfir to spend some time with Bernard's father, Bob. They returned home Saturday to end their short vacation.

Rev. and Mrs. Bill Mai were in Kinzua for a very short visit last Thursday. The Mays spent the two nights before their Kinzua stop, staying with former Kinzua families. Wednesday night they were guests at the home of Allen Nistad, Heppner. Tuesday night Red Watts and his family were the Mai's hosts at their home in The Dalles.

Hazel Jackson attended the Wheeler County Fair and Rodeo on Saturday and Sunday with her guests, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Arstad. The John Day couple is Hazel's sister and brother-in-law.

The Paul Muzzys are very busy hosting their granddaughters and their mothers. Daughter Paulette Peterson and her daughter Sheryl arrived for a week's stay on Sunday. Daughter-in-law Elva Muzzy and Paula are also here from their home in Westfir.

Don and Rose Hardwick went to John Day Tuesday on business. Rose was in Pendleton Friday, also on business. Saturday the couple was again in John Day—this time to attend a meeting of the AOL (Associated Oregon Loggers.) Linda Vorres, who is working this summer at the Hardwick Company office, went to The Dalles Wednesday to take Les Gienger to The Dalles General Hospital for treatment of an injured thumb. Les was hurt while working on a log truck. He stayed in the hospital overnight. He should be back at work by the time you read this, barring any complications.

Sixteen members of the Kinzua Community Church attended outdoor church services at Bear Hollow Park last Sunday. Tom Tasto, Fossil, was the lay leader for the services. The Kinzua group was joined by members of the Fossil Assembly of God Church for a picnic in the park.

Barbara and LuAnn Pike went to The Dalles Wednesday to pick up Gaylene (Sue). On Friday, Sue and Barbara went to Parma, Idaho to pick up the Pike's young grandson, Clay Van Meter. Clay will stay with us until after the birth of his new sister or brother. Don and I took Clay with us to Portland for the weekend to visit with our daughter and son-in-law, Patti and Chuck Constantin.

Senior Citizen News

The afternoon AAA discussions concluded with mention of the Red Dot mail box alert system which is being arranged in each area through the post offices. Seniors who want to be enrolled in this protective system need to consult their postal workers about it.

Martha King and Doris Gollyhorn attended the Project Council Nutrition Program meeting. There the representatives from most of the 17 mealsites considered budgeting. Rogena Marks explained how the meals are financed. Some of the food is donated by the community, some comes from the commodity food program, but at least 50 per cent of the cost of the meals is expected to be donated by those who partake of them. Donations are also needed to help with the cost of escort service, of bringing persons from hospitals or nursing homes or who have no transportation.

The State Nutrition Advisory Task Force usually meets in Salem once each quarter. Mrs. Grace Grant, Arlington, was elected to represent District 12 at the next meeting, with Frieda Wood of Condon named as alternate representative. Margaret Graham, Milton-Freewater, the Project Council chairman, was in charge of this monthly meeting.

Those who attended these meetings from this county were: Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Jones, Ardith Hunt, Florence McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Messenger, Beulah Bloodsworth, John Canady, Martha King, Iva Booker, Doris Gollyhorn, Sue Jepsen and Justine Weatherford.

Kansans trace 'roots' during local visit

Mr. and Mrs. Linn Peterson of McPherson, Kansas, were visitors in Heppner last Saturday. Some of the members of the Lundell family gathered at the City park for a picnic and to visit with them.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pettyjohn Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lindstrom, Stephen and Christina, Mr. and Mrs. Adon Hamlett, Mrs. Scharlene Arends, Mrs. Irene Swanson and Mrs. Jean Ann Turner, Lorie, Sandy and Missy. Other guests were Nancy Tuor of Tigard, John Orland of Tacoma, Wash., Mrs. Henrietta Arends, and Mrs. Janice Morgan and sons of The Dalles.

Linn and Mary Peterson are ardent genealogists, and have traced the Hilding family back five generations. On this trip they are trying to find descendants of the incomplete families.

Nils Nilsson Hilding and Fredrika Carolina Moller Hilding of Sweden had six children: three sons and three daughters. Two sons were in the army, of which one Frank A. Lundell came to America along with his sister, Anna Lovisa Hilding Peterson. The Petersons settled in Kansas, and Frank A. Lundell with his family settled near Ione, Oregon. Another son Fred Nelson, settled in California. The oldest son Carl Ogrim, never came to America, nor did his sisters Charolotta Anderson and Fredrika Ekfelt, but most of their children did.

The Petersons were staying Saturday evening in Irrigon, then on to Seattle, Wash., back to Portland, Tillamook, down to the Stockton, Calif. area and to Arizona, where they have leads on the Nelson and Anderson family descendants. Mary will also be checking on leads in her side of the family.

Parade results...

Ted Schwarz. Jason Hanna won the tricycle division, and Heather Eckman won the youngest cowgirl award. Ryan Schiller of Echo was the youngest cowboy participant ing in the parade.

The best girl's costume was displayed by Jackie Bozarth, with Mark Dollarhide winning first place in the boy's costume category, followed by Mike Gorman.

Pfeiffer resigns Cemetery board

After more than 20 years of volunteer service, John A. Pfeiffer has resigned from the Heppner Cemetery District board of directors. For the past several years he has been chairman of the board.

Beverly Gunderson will replace Pfeiffer on the board until the next election. She has been serving on the district's budget committee.

Clarence Baker and Elaine George are the other members of the board. Mrs. George said, "The entire district is indebted to Mr. Pfeiffer for his many hours devoted to the administration of the district."

Speech clinics to be offered students

The Umatilla Education Service District will provide speech and language screening clinics at schools in Morrow County on Sept. 13.

The clinics are held each Fall, to identify students who may have problems with language or speaking skills. Screening sessions are scheduled to start at 8:30 a.m. at AC. Houghton Elementary; at 9 a.m. at Heppner Elementary and Junior High schools; 1 p.m. at Riverside Junior High, and 1 p.m. at Lone Elementary and Junior High. All Morrow County screening sessions will be held on Sept. 13.

King Tut book now at library

Treasures of Tutankhamen is now available at the Heppner Public Library.

The book includes color pictures of the 55 works of art included in the King Tut exhibition, plus a description of each object. The book is suggested reading for anyone planning to attend the King Tut exhibit in Seattle.

Brochures on the Seattle exhibition are also available at the library.

Heppner Adventists bid farewell to Perrins

The Heppner Adventist church held a farewell salad supper-watermelon feed Monday evening at the home of Chuck and Carolyn Holt.

Guests of honor were Pastor Lloyd Perrin, wife Jana, and small sons David and Daniel, who planned to leave Tuesday for Berrien Springs, Michigan.

The family will be there for the next two years while Perrin completes requirements for his Master of Divinity degree at Andrews University.

As they left, the Perrins took with them the good wishes of the community that has been home to them since 1976.
