

State Hospital chaplain is guest minister for Methodist service

This Sunday, September 17, Rev. Ed Springman, chaplain of the Eastern Oregon State Hospital, Pendleton, will be the guest minister at the United Methodist Church. He will deliver the sermon during the 11 a.m. morning worship and will be assisted by Rev.

Tollefson as liturgist. After the service there will be a coffee hour in the basement honoring a congregational member, Elsie McDaniel Leathers, who recently moved from Heppner to Hermiton. This will afford everyone a chance to visit with

Elsie, with Rev. Springman and with a special guest, Ava Wilson, the president of the Oregon-Idaho Conference United Methodist Women. Mrs. Wilson, a long-time friend of the Tollefsons will be in their home over Saturday night after attending the Central District UMW meeting at The Dalles. On the following Sunday, September 24, the regular pastor will be away at a special retreat, and Roy Margraves of Pendleton, who is well known here will fill the Methodist pulpit.

Vesta Kilkenny joins $1 million sales club

Vesta Kilkenny, a sales associate at the Portland Center branch office of Stan Wiley, Inc., Realtors in Portland, has earned membership in the firm's President Million Dollar Club.

To earn the honor, sales associates must complete more than $1 million in closed transactions on one calendar year. Since January, she closed $1,071,400.

Kilkenny, daughter of Orval and Elton Cutsforth of Heppner, attended Heppner High School.

Before joining the company in February, 1975, she was in life insurance sales.

Senior Citizen News

Seniors, remember that your free blood pressure clinics next week are at Irrigon on Monday, Sept. 18 and in Heppner on Tuesday, Sept. 19.

Also remember that the absolute deadline for obtaining free forest service firewood is approaching very quickly. If you want some of this wood delivered to your home call the Neighborhood Center right away.

The Heppner Mealsite, in the dining room of the Elks Club, needs volunteer helpers before and during mealtimes on Tuesday and Wednesday. Also, anyone interested in working eight hours each Tuesday and Wednesday should talk to Pat Brindle at the Neighborhood Center about the qualifications for the position of cook's assistant.

Nineteen seniors gathered in the basement of the Heppner Christian Church from 9 a.m. until noon on Monday for CPR instruction from Linda Connor and her assistant Suzanne Jepsen. All 19 felt the instruction was valuable and that it was about time they learned the facts and techniques which were so well presented.

Ms. Connor stressed that more than 50 per cent of the deaths in the nation are due to heart attacks. She is qualified, licensed instructor for the CIM (Crash Injury Management) and CPR (Cardio-Pulmonary-Resuscitation) programs. She has had 300 of her pupils certified.

The 19 senior pupils tried to learn their ABC's (Airway, Breathing, Circulation) fundamentals this week. Next week during the same three hours at the same place they will complete their six hours of instruction, turn in their test papers and most of them will graduate and become certified.

Ms. Connor gave careful instruction on the use of the Heimlich Maneuver for the relief of choking before she and assistant Jepsen and the instructional dummies got into the fine points of CPR.

Several ex-teachers in attendance spoke out in favor of having this instruction included in the curriculum of all Oregon high schools.

It was pointed out that the large, complete, electrified dummy being used was purchased with funds given in memory of the late Bernard Doherty. Instructor Connor hopes that more funds can be found to buy more equipment for use in these valuable, life-saving classes.

Seniors who wish to come to next week's class to see a review of the instruction and to get acquainted with CPR are cordially invited, but will not qualify for their certification now as they need six hours of instruction.
