

Church classes set for Methodist students

Classes under the school district's released-time plan will begin at the United Methodist Church on Monday afternoon, Sept. 25, at 2:30 for students from the first through the eighth grades who have parental permission slips filed at their school.

This year's program is entitled "Exploring the Bible". The staff will include Shirley Connor as musician, Sharon Harrison with the lower grades, Joy Krein with the middle grades and Pastor Tollefson with the older youngsters.

Several special seasonal programs will be planned during the year.

Music program set for Ione church service

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell James and sons Jeff and Joel, of Turner, Ore., will present special music at the regular worship service of the Ione United Church of Christ Sunday, Sept. 24.

Mr. and Mrs. James are former teachers in the Ione

Two weekly religious education programs are underway at the Heppner United Methodist Church. Each Sunday morning at 9:45 there are Sunday School classes for all ages; a nursery class for the youngest of the children with young mothers in charge; Shirley Connor is teaching the four-year-olds and kindergarten children; Cindy Wright is leading the first through third graders; Alma Green will teach the fourth, fifth and sixth graders; Barbara Watkins will teach the high school class.

The adult study group is learning more about the forgiveness of God.

Monday, Sept. 25 at 2:30 p.m. Teachers involved with this program will be Mrs. Claudia Hughes, Mrs. Kathy Clark, Mrs. Elaine Miller and the rector Fr. Kenneth Miller. The Old Testament will be the text and study for the first six weeks at which time the program will be evaluated for the next six weeks. All young people of the parish are urged to attend and friends and neighbors are more than welcome. A note to the school is necessary for the student to be permitted to attend these classes.

The mid week service of Holy Communion is celebrated at 10 a.m. A Bible Study covering the Gospel of St. Mark follows till 11:30 a.m. All persons interested in the Bible Study are welcome.

Local EMTs plan Sept. 29 bake sale

Heppner EMTs met at Pioneer Memorial Hospital on Sept. 12 to discuss plans for a Sept. 29 bake sale to raise funds for ambulance equipment.

The Heppner EMT organization won first place honors for its booth at the Morrow County Fair. The local EMTs were invited to participate with a Boardman emergency medical technician group in a mock accident training session.

Also discussed during the Sept. 12 meeting were plans attending a regional EMT conference Sept. 23 in La Grande. Heppner EMTs will next meet on Oct. 10. Anyone interested in joining the organization should contact Ruby Munkers at 676-5028.

Caribbean presentation given Methodist women

Ex-Peace Corpsman Jerry Healy, who is now associated with Morrow County Abstract and Title Co. Inc., presented a program on the Dominican Republic to the Heppner United Methodist Women at the group's first fall meeting held on Sept. 13.

Healy gave a review of the historic and political development of the republic that occupies the eastern two-thirds of the island of Hispaniola and recounted incidents during his experience there. He answered a variety of questions about the country and its people.

He told of their pride in the fact that Columbus first landed there, that their University of Santo Domingo, established in 1538, is the oldest university in the western Hemisphere, and that their Catholic Cathedral is so ancient.

Healy said the little Spanish he could remember from being in Inez Meador's class was not too much help and that he needed quite a few months to be able to work with the language of the Dominicans which varies in different sectors and is most difficult near the border with Haiti.

His description of the transportation available, many bus-like taxis of various sizes and ages, was amusing. The slides, still pictures and arti-

Episcopal delegates elected for Diocesan Convention

The All Saints' Episcopal Church parish at a special meeting of the congregation on Sunday, Sept. 17, elected delegates and alternatives to the Diocesan Convention to be held in Ontario in November.

Elected were Ned Clark and Sue Jones as delegates and cles he showed contributed much to his talk. Many of the questions asked concerned his romance and marriage to his wife Carmen and about her family who are coffee growers there.

UMW President Faye Pierce was assisted by Vern Batty in arranging the well-attended, regular second-Wednesday, monthly meeting in the church basement.

Robert Jones and Elaine Miller as alternatives. The convention will be held for three days to do the business and budget for the Diocese and also to pass resolutions to be sent to the national convention of the Episcopal Church to be held in Denver, Colo., next year.
