

Ragtime musician Robert Johnson to perform Friday at BMCC Student Union

"One-Man" band Robert Johnson will sing ragtime and country-blues tunes at Blue Mountain Community College Student Union from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. October 13. Admission is free.

The musician accompanies his vocals with 6-string, 12-string and bottleneck National steel guitars, harmonica, kazoo, hi-hat cymbal and a unique handcrafted foot piano.

The tunes are country, blues and ragtime classics from the 1920's through 1950's.

Johnson recently performed in New York's Museum of Modern Art and Chicago's Earl of Old Town. He has opened concerts for Leon Redbone, Mose Allison, Corky Siegel and Wendy Waldman. He also conceived and performed the soundtrack for an educational TV documentary of The Rock Island Railroad Line.

He has produced two albums including "Sweet Mama, Don't Let it Fall" and "54 Chevrolet Panel Truck Blues."

"My work includes songs of my own composition and personal stylings of classic tunes from other authors," explains the one-man band. "The spirit of the music is ragtime and blues with glints and glimmers of swing, Charleston, delta and Chicago-Memphis blues, rock and roll, and early country tunes I learned from my Uncle Johnny in Rhinelander, Wisconsin."
