

School board to meet Oct. 16 at Lone High

The regular monthly meeting of the Morrow County School District Board will be held at Lone High School on Oct. 16 at 7:30 p.m.

The board is expected to have a progress report from district architect, Bob Smith, regarding possible bid dates for district building projects.

In other business, the board will consider asking for bids for school buses, consider hiring of classified employees, contract adjustments for certified staff and hear a discussion of the effects of ballot measures 6 and 11 would have on the school district.

The district has rejected previous bids for a new shop at Riverside High School. A new bid date must be set.

Round-the-clock sheriff's patrols should begin in near future

At least one full-time deputy will be on duty and able to handle calls on a 24-hour a day basis sometime within the next several weeks, according to Morrow County Sheriff Larry Fetsch.

The expanded police protection was made possible through the hiring this week of the county's fifth sheriff's deputy, Jim Macomber of Portland. After Macomber completes an orientation period and is placed on patrol duty, the around-the-clock staffing of deputies will begin for the first time in Morrow County history.

Macomber has served for about three years in city police departments in Washington and Marion counties. Most recently, he was employed by the Tri-Met transit operation in Portland.

The new deputy and his wife, Marcia, are currently renting a home in Lone, which they are renovating with an eye towards buying. Mrs. Macomber, a high school home economics teacher, hopes to be involved with substitute work in Morrow County schools this year, and move into full-time teaching during the next school year.

Living in Morrow County "is a nice change from Portland,"

Dep. Jim Macomber

said Deputy Macomber. "We got tired of the big city hassles..." But, he confessed, "my wife has had some trouble getting to sleep, since it's so quiet."
