

Grand Squares slate dance

The Grand Squares held their regular dance Saturday, Oct. 7 with Darrel Wilson calling. Plans are being made for an "easy level" Homecoming Dance for all former Grand Squares on Saturday, Dec. 2. Grand Squares Secretary Shirley McNary urged, "all you former dancers to dust off your boots and shake out your petticoats for an evening of fun."

Ping pong balls come bouncing back

Like the swallows returned to San Juan Capistrano, Heppner's celebrated stolen ping-pong balls have returned to Jackie Jensen.

The ping-pong balls gained national attention last week, after the Associated Press and United Press International wire services carried stories on their theft from Jensen's Cadillac, parked outside the Heppner Elks Club where he is manager. The balls had been specially marked to commemorate Heppner's hosting of the 1978 World's Professional Table Tennis title match between Haiti and Thailand on Nov. 18. Jensen is director of the international ping-pong showdown.

"I never felt really all that bad when I found out the balls were stolen," said Jensen. "I figured something good always comes of everything. Anyway, they got returned, and we got thousands of dollars worth of good publicity for the match for nothing."

Boxes containing the thousand ping-pong balls were found near the steps to the back entrance to the downtown club by Jensen on Sunday. "Maybe it was someone who was pulling a prank, or somebody who got a guilty conscience," shrugged Jensen. "Who knows? Anyway, I'm glad to get them back."

Jensen said the balls, valued at $100-150, will be dropped from an airplane over Pendleton and possibly other area cities, as part of a promotional effort for the table tennis title match.

Irrigon police officer fired

Discussion was somewhat heated during an Irrigon City Council meeting, in which the town's police officer, Tom Kelly, was dismissed.

Kelly, who had served as Irrigon's law officer for the past two months, was dismissed by the council for not meeting the requirements of the federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act program, which funded his salary.

Since the city is unable to financially support a full-time officer on its own, Irrigon is currently without city police protection.

In other council meeting developments, Diane Hutchinson resigned as city recorder. City Manager Jack Baisden assumed her duties.

A new tax base for the city will be on the ballot during the November election. A tax base of $40,000 is being sought to replace the current tax base of $15,000.

The offices of council members Dorothy Irish, Bill Cooley and Rod Collins expire this year. Those who have applied for the positions to date include Bill Cooley, Benny Reeves, Ted Wilson and Ray Sowell.

Diane Brownlee will be on the ballot for re-election as Irrigon municipal judge.

Vote Bill Bellamy

"Welfare abuses must be eliminated. People who are receiving public assistance must be required to work if capable," states Bill Bellamy.

Programs from the state and federal government should start rewarding the person who works. Laws need to be written to benefit the person who maintains active employment, says Bill Bellamy.

"I believe in the principle, if you don't work, you don't eat," says Bill Bellamy. As long as a person is capable of working but unemployed, he should receive minimum public assistance. Unemployment abuses have to be eliminated and the funds have to be used for the purpose they were intended, Bill Bellamy says.

"However, society does have a moral obligation to take care of those who cannot work," Bill Bellamy says.
