

Hear and Their with Eva Hamlett TV show features Ione

There didn't seem to be much on television last Sunday evening, so I turned to KOIN, Channel 6, and was listening to Northwest Illustrated program. Along toward the middle of the program they had a feature titled "Remembering". The announcer was stating that the wars had been over for many years and each year more is forgotten about them. However, there is Ione, a small town in Eastern Oregon that still remembers.

The television camera picked up the main street of Ione, as the narrator said it is a windy city of new homes and well kept up older homes, and showed the big home on the corner of 2nd and B Streets (former owners were Elmer Ladd's). From there they traveled to the Ione Football Field and Memorial, concentrating on the flag pole and inscription on the base.

Photographs were shown of the young men who lost their lives, as their names were read: Trench Aldrich, Herbert Davidson, Alfred Emert, Clarence Harris, Bobby Morgan and Paul V. Rietmann. They then proceeded to the American Legion Hall, and as the narrator walked down the steps in front of the building, he said, "Every Memorial and Veteran's Day, a contingent of American Legion Veterans come down these steps and march to the Memorial Field for their ceremonies."

Only two of these men's bodies were brought back for burial. They then showed a picture of the Morgan Cemetery where Herbert Davidson is buried, and then to High View Cemetery in Ione, where the Paul V. Rietmann grave and marker stand. Back in town again at Rietmann's Hardware, a short interview with Gene Rietmann ended the program.

Other communities do the same things, but we are happy they picked Ione, as we are proud of our City and our American Legion Post No. 95.

This Saturday, Nov. 11 at 10:45 a.m. there will be a ceremony at the Memorial Field. Following the program, coffee and doughnuts will be served at the American Legion Hall.

Adon and I returned from a trip to California Saturday. We accompanied Eleanor and Elma McMillan to Palm Springs, and returned home by way of Hoover Dam and Las Vegas. The temperature in Palm Springs was in the 80's and 90's, but the farther north we came the weather cooled down. At Goldfield, Nev., there was still snow along the highway and we were surrounded by snow capped mountains.

Isn't our high school football team doing great? We wish them luck and hope they end their season being the state champions.

Gene's Cheveron station is in operation again after being closed for the month.

Diana Hams was hostess for a party at her home Monday afternoon in honor of Debbie Morgan and Helen Pettyjohn birthdays.

Roy and Katherine Lindstrom returned home Monday afternoon from a trip to the Panama Canal and Virgin Islands. It will be interesting to find out about the other countries.

Lexington hosts Morrow County Pomona Grange meeting

Morrow County Pomona Grange met Oct. 28 at the Lexington Grange Hall with Pomona Master Bryce Keene officiating.

Reports were heard from all the subordinate granges. Margaret Akers, Dist. 6 CWA Chairman gave a report on the state needlework contest held recently at the Tillicum Grange Hall near Mission in Umatilla County. Ribbons were presented to Marilyn Bergstrom and Marie White, winners from this county.

There were more than 100 guests on Wednesday at the open house, and the state officers expressed their appreciation for this attendance from the Dist. 6.

Agriculture Chairman Harold Kerr spoke on the green bugs (aphids) now in the wheat, and also a black aphid that is making an appearance in greater numbers. It is hoped that the cold weather will help control these, as spraying is expensive and also could be harmful to people and animals if not handled correctly. He also stated that it has been a good year in Morrow County financially, with Morrow ranked in the top four in agricultural income for the state.

Art White explained the workings of the MAD committee (Many against Drugs) that has been recently organized in the county, and urged those interested in this committee to get in contact and work with them. Dorris and Ed Cutting were issued a transfer from Morrow County Pomona to Coos County.

Greenfield Grange issued an invitation to their hall for the installation of officers which will be held Dec. 10, with the Wolverton installing team from Umatilla County officiating.

The Lecturer presented a program which included the slides and talk presented at the Morrow County booth at State Fair, and also a film on farm accidents and how these can be avoided. These were shown and narrated by Harold Kerr.

Dinner was served at noon by the CWA committee of the Lexington Grange, and the cake walk was held following the dinner.

The next Pomona will be at Willows in January, when Rhea Creek Grange will exemplify the fifth degree. It is hoped that all grangers who do not have this degree will be present. Members are urged to let the secretary of their grange know of plans to take this degree.

The Nov. 7 election was discussed and members expressed their feelings about the different measures.

Bert Akers a member of the state executive committee and Morrow County Deputy was escorted to the Masters chair and welcomed. He later spoke on the activities of the granges, changes being planned and how the granges stand on the various measures.
