

Theft, drug charges keep Circuit court busy

Five persons arraigned on drug charges and four charged with various theft counts appeared before Circuit Judge Jack Olsen in Heppner Tuesday.

Pleading not guilty to eight counts of alleged theft and hunting violations was Terry Michael Barker of Heppner. Barker was arrested Oct. 14 and accused in the theft of a rifle from a vehicle in Heppner, a CB radio from a farm vehicle near Lexington, and charged with illegally possessing deer and pheasant meat. Barker's case was continued pending trial.

Brant C. Engbert of Heppner pleaded guilty to a charge of maintaining a premises for keeping a controlled substance (marijuana).

Engbert was arrested by state police in August, when marijuana was found growing at a Burton Valley site he was maintaining. Judge Olsen ordered that a pre-sentence report be made for Engbert.

Roni Boyer of Heppner, who was arrested in the same incident as Engbert, pleaded guilty Tuesday to a similar charge—in her instance, a misdemeanor—and was sentenced to one year's probation and a $155 fine.

Richard Ellis Pettyjohn of Heppner was found guilty of violating the terms of his probation and handed down an additional year of probation, plus a 30-day jail sentence and restrictions on possessing or consuming alcohol.

Pettyjohn received his initial probation term for furnishing liquor to a minor. Judge Olsen ruled that he violated that probation term by again furnishing liquor to a minor during an Oct. 8 incident. Pettyjohn's initial probation term was to have expired on Nov. 4.

Todd Edward Markillie of Boardman pleaded not guilty to two counts of unlawful delivery of a controlled substance for sale and two counts of drug possession. Marijuana was involved in the charges. His case was continued pending trial.

Tamara McKenzie of Boardman was indicted for manufacture of a controlled substance (marijuana), and her case was continued until Dec. 8.

Benjamin Rauch of Heppner pleaded not guilty to charges of possessing and delivering a controlled substance, and to charges dealing with the theft of chainsaws and equipment from a Umatilla County park. Rauch was arrested in October. His case was continued pending trial.

Bruce Rogers, 33, of Pasco, Wash., was sentenced by Olsen to three years probation and 90 days in jail for theft of services from the Dodge City Inn in Boardman last year.

Danny Huffman, formerly of Morrow County, now of Wallowa County, pleaded guilty to, and was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary for, first degree theft. The theft involved riding tack taken from the property of Betty Christman of Hardman last spring.

Steve Partlow of Boardman was charged with being a habitual traffic offender and had his driver's license

OBITUARY

Vivian Hayes

Vivian Hayes, 63, Heppner, died at St. Mary's Hospital, Walla Walla, on Thursday, Nov. 23.

She was born June 28, 1915, in Springfield, Missouri, the daughter of Henderson and Mary Ellen Medlock Stout, and moved with her parents to Eastern Oregon in 1918. She had been a resident of the area ever since.

On Jan. 31, 1931, she was married to James J. Hayes at Heppner.

Mrs. Hayes was a past matron of the Order of Eastern Star.

Funeral services were conducted Monday, Nov. 27, at 2 p.m. at the First Christian Church, Heppner with the Rev. Edwin Sikes officiating. Carl Marquardt and Carlita Bloodworth sang "In The Garden" and "How Great Thou Art" accompanied at the organ by Kathryn Hoskins.

Active casket bearers were Howard Bryant, Terry Hughes, Faye Prock, Harold Peck, Matt Hughes and Ed Gonty. Honorary bearers were Wilbur VanBlokland, Claude Graham, Terrel Bengé, LeRoy Gardner, Gene Ferguson and Bill Collins.

Concluding services and vault interment were at Heppner Masonic Cemetery, with Sweeney Mortuary in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Hayes is survived by her husband, James J. Hayes and a son, James H. Hayes, both of Heppner; a brother, Everett Stout, Olympia, Wash., and two grandsons.

Contributions may be made to the Arthritis Foundation or to the Heart Fund.
