

Boy Scouts plan annual fund raiser

The annual fund drive to raise operating expenses for Heppner area Boy Scouts will begin Saturday, Dec. 2, according to Glenn Ward, scouting coordinator for the Heppner unit.

The Blue Mountain Council of Boy Scouts of America will spend an estimated $25 per boy to maintain the current scouting program and include new participants. The precise amount the Blue Mountain Council will contribute depends on funds received during the annual United Way campaign and from parents and community support.

"The $25 per boy cost is reasonable and should be compared with the more than $10,000 cost to keep a youth in the State Correctional Institution for a year," commented the Boy Scouts' district executive, Howard Russell.

Those working on the drive and others who wish to help are asked to meet at the Wagon Wheel at 8 a.m. Saturday, when materials and instructions will be given out.

A Boy Scout troop and an Explorer post currently operate in Heppner, and a Cub Scout pack is being organized.

Souper Seamers

The Souper Seamers 4-H club held its second meeting Oct. 28 at our leader's house.

We elected officers. They are president, Noella Rill; vice president, Leah Cooper; secretary, Merry DeSpain; newsreporter, Kimberle Wright; and activity chairperson Kim George.

Our leader demonstrated how to thread a sewing machine and then we all did felt potholders.

On Nov. 11 we toured a fabric shop and selected material for an apron.

Camp Five card party held, another Dec. 9

The Camp Five Womens Club held a card party at the Camp Five Hall on Nov. 18. The Hall was decorated for Thanksgiving, and the prizes also carried out the holiday theme as did the refreshments served to the players.

Virginia Sitton and Henry Spivey each won the fixings for a Thanksgiving dinner for one—a rock cornish game hen and a bag of stuffing mix—as the high winners. Low winners were Don Paulus and Bonnie Campbell. Earl Norris and Virginia Sitton were the winners of the Thanksgiving hams—that's spelled s-p-a-m—for holding the pinochles at the end of play. Mike Crismon took home an apple pie and a tole painted recipe holder with the recipe for the pie clipped to it for winning the door prize. Jack Williamson received a radio given away as part of the club's scholarship fund-raising drive.

The Club will be sponsoring another card party Dec. 9 at 7:30 p.m. This will be their Christmas party.

Cub Scout troop to start here

A special organizational meeting for a new Heppner Cub Scout pack has been scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 5, at 7 p.m. in Heppner Elementary School.

The group will also elect officers for the coming year.

All members and their families are urged to attend.

All parents who have sons between 8-10 years of age are urged to attend, so that their boys may become charter members of the new pack.

Howard Russell, district executive of the Blue Mountain Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be at the meeting to explain the program, answer questions and complete the organization of the pack.

Both boys and leaders will be registered during the meeting. While it is not necessary for the boys to attend, it is vital for the parents to be on hand for the meeting. Prospective Cub Scouts cannot join unless their parents are in attendance.

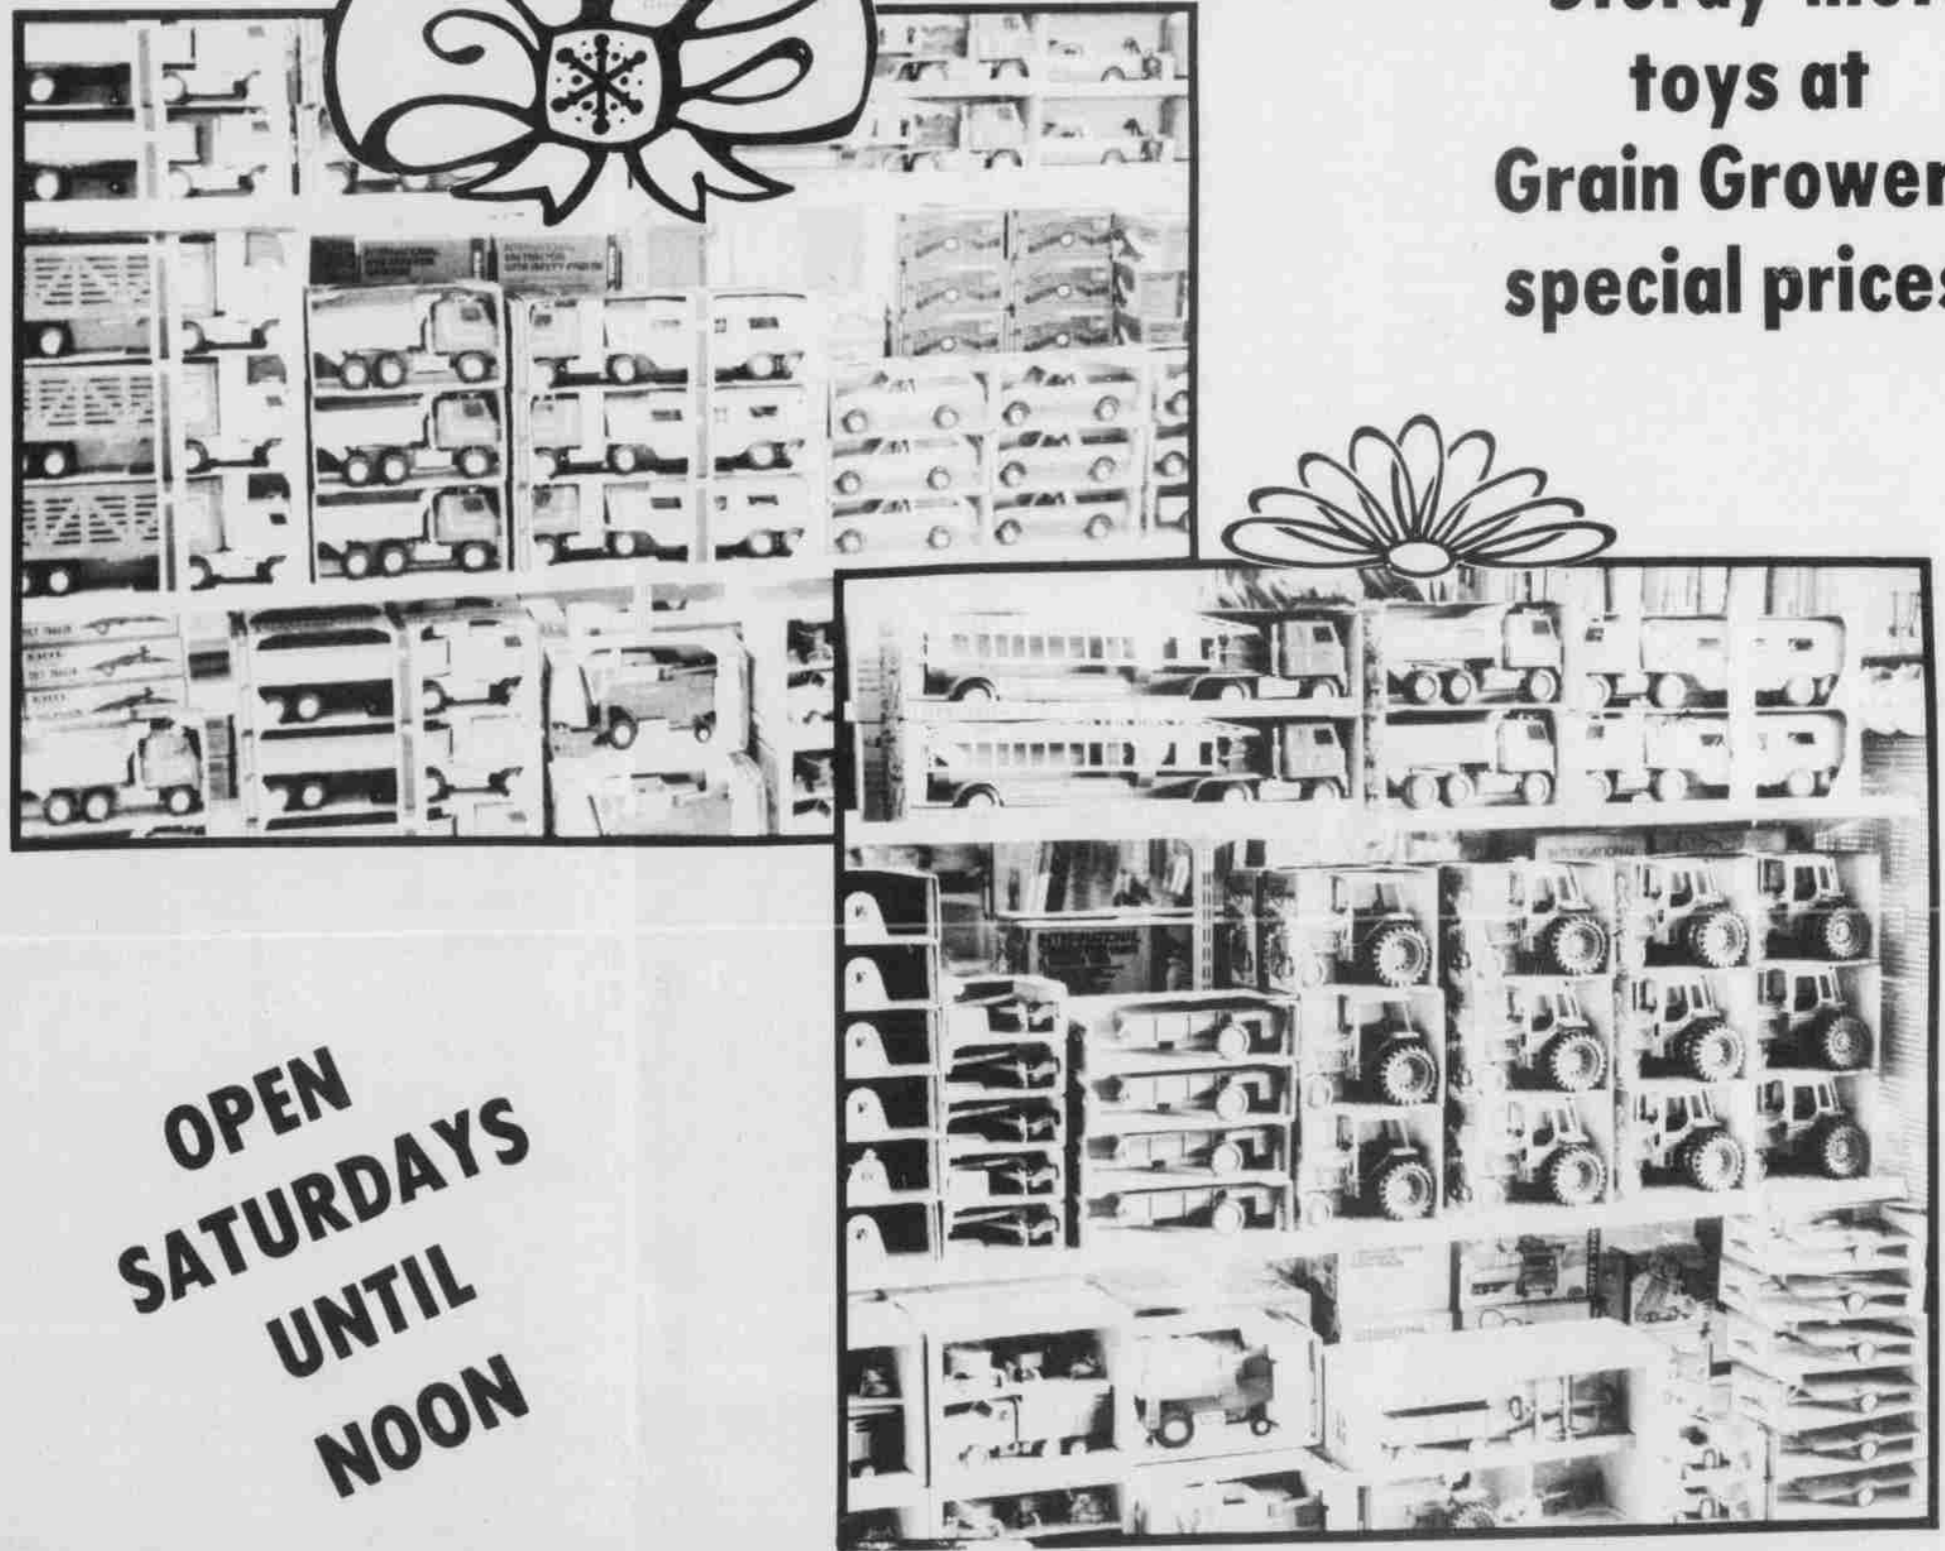

A preliminary meeting held two weeks ago revealed that interest in the program was sufficient to organize a local Cub Scout pack.
