

MC CowBelles plan beef promotion for Father's Day

A $10 certificate will be given away to the father of the baby born closest to Sunday's Father's Day by the County CowBelles—one of two activities the group is planning for the occasion. The group will also be giving away samples of Hawaiian meatballs at the Central and Court Street Markets starting Friday at 3 p.m. until closing time as part of their "Eat Beef on Father's Day" theme. The year old Morrow County CowBelle Cookbook will also be given away. There are so many good reasons to serve beef on Father's Day, says Lorraine Brosnan of the Morrow County CowBelles. "Because beef is versatile and nutritious, yet as low calorie meat which Dads favor."

Dads have been enjoying beef on this occasion for more than 25 years but it wasn't until 1953 that the American National CowBelles first began to promote the Beef for Father's Day idea.

The Morrow County CowBelles, along with the Beef Industry Council of the National Livestock and Meat Board, are cooperating in the annual Beef for Father's Day campaign.

"This Father's Day, why not serve Dad beef?" asks Ruth Nutting, vice president of the county association.

Cut a little
...save a lot

Ruth Nutting, vice president of the Morrow County CowBelles and John McCabe, butcher at the Central Market, dicker over a cut of beef for Father's Day. The CowBelles will be giving away Hawaiian meatballs Friday at both Central and Court Street Markets.

Consultant hired to update county plan

A planning consultant has been hired by the Morrow County Court to update the county's 1971 Comprehensive Plan.

County officials have hired Dick Brown, Prineville, a private planning consultant, to assist the county planning commission in conforming the plan to existing state land-use guidelines. Under the contract signed with Brown, state funds from the Land Conservation and Development Commission, will fund the $21,970 project to be completed by Jan. 1, 1980.

Brown's job will be to draft the comprehensive plan revision, provide technical and background data to the planning boards and assist in explaining the steps of the planning process to the public. He will be working closely with members of the county planning commission, the director of the county planning department and Jeri Cohen, planning coordinator for Morrow and Umatilla counties.

He told the Gazette-Times the advantages of a comprehensive plan are that it gives citizens the opportunity to control land use patterns within their own areas.

"The private individual is regulated but protected somewhat," he said.

Brown was raised on a livestock ranch at Dayville, Oregon in Grant County, was a 1957 graduate of Dayville High School, received a Bachelor of Science degree in agricultural economics from OSU in 1966, undertook graduate study in natural resource development and attended the Planning Institute of the University of Oregon in 1974 and in 1975, the college's Local Government Planning Institute.

From 1970-1978, he was a planning staff member of the Central Oregon Intergovernmental Council, Crook County Planning Director from 1970-74, City-County Planning Director of the City of Prineville and Crook County from 1974-79 and became a private consultant in 1979.

Other professional experience has included employment with the OSU Extension Service, Community and Youth Development, 1966-70, in Coos County, 1966-68, and in the Central Oregon area, 1968-70; a research assistant for the OSU Resource Development Section from 1965-66, reforestation and engineering for the U.S. Forest Service, 1964 and a stock control supervisor for the U.S. Army, 1961-64.

He is affiliated with the American Institute of Planners, Oregon Planning Directors Association, Council of Oregon Planners, Oregon Cattlemen's Association, National Association of Planning Directors and a number of local planning agencies.
